The Seed

When the world was safe indoors, we each planted a seed.
We found new ways of sending all the things that people need.
We learnt the names of neighbours
and we smiled and said, 'Hello'.

We shared the skies...

...and lullabies.

The seed began to grow.

When the world was safe indoors, we started sending letters, and every day, the world began to get a little better.

We filled the streets with rainbows, we filled our hearts with hope, and the colours caught the sunshine like a jewelled kaleidoscope.

The streets were always quiet,
the cars were always parked,
the sky was full of birdsong
from the blackbird and the lark.

The world seemed somehow softer
every morning on our walk
We shared the sun with everyone..

... the seed became a stalk

We learnt to take our time because we didn't count the hours,
and from the good, there came a bud.

The bud became a flower.

And as we watched it blossom, its spiralled leaves unfolding,
we all let out the breath we didn't know that we were holding.
And when we looked around us, we realised there were more...

...the world was full of flowers that we didn't see before.

When the world was safe indoors and people were apart,
although the doors were closed, the world had opened up its heart.

And when the doors were opened and we stepped into the sun,
so many things were different, but the kindness carried on.

It floated through the windows...

...under doors...

...and over gates

Welcome to our Community Garden

If hid inside the presents...

...shopping bags...

- FOOD BANK

...and dinner plates.

It carried through computers...
...and commuters...
...even letters.

When everyone was safe indoors,
the world was getting better.

It spread across the planet...

...like a high-speed hurricane.

And we knew that nothing ever would be quite the same again.

Thanks for visiting our Community Garden

We found so much we didn't know that we were looking for...

...from the seed that slowly grew
when the world was safe indoors.
