LOYALTY

A GUIDED JOURNAL FOR EMBRACING YOUR INNER

HUFFLEPUFF

Introduction

LOYALTY. PATIENCE. DEDICATION. These are the traits of Hufflepuff house, the kindest house at Hogwarts, dressed in its warm colours of yellow and black and represented by a badger. There are many notable and beloved Hufflepuff characters in the Harry Potter films. From Cedric Diggory and Professor Sprout to Nymphadora Tonks, Hufflepuffs are represented by a wide range of witches and wizards. But what does it mean to truly be a Hufflepuff? How can you bring out your natural qualities of loyalty, patience and dedication and apply them to your everyday life?

This journal, composed of 52 weeks of prompts, will help you reflect on, connect with and develop the Hufflepuff inside you. Each week includes two kinds of prompts. The first is a simple form where you can record daily acts of loyalty, patience or dedication. Taking the structure of a simple "one-line-a-day" journal, this form allows you to record small "Hufflepuff moments" that you encounter throughout your week. There is no pressure to fill one out every day. After all, you may not have the opportunity to demonstrate loyalty or dedication every day. But it gives you an opportunity to notice and note small ways that you embody your Hufflepuff persona. The second prompt goes deeper, referencing specific quotes, moments, places or characters from the films and inviting you to think about how being a Hufflepuff shapes and affects your life. These prompts include freewriting, letter writing, list making, colouring and more.

The Harry Potter films have inspired us, now it's time to explore further and embrace your inner Hufflepuff.

PROFESSOR SPROUT is the head of Hufflepuff house during Harry's time at Hogwarts. There is no question that teachers, particularly those we work closely with, have a huge effect on the kind of person we grow up to be. Write a letter to your "head of house" — a teacher or mentor who helped you develop your Hufflepuff qualities — reflecting on what they taught you and thanking them for being part of your journey.

Aside from being the head of Hufflepuff house, Professor Sprout is also the Herbology teacher at Hogwarts. In one memorable Harry Potter and the Chamber of Secrets scene, she teaches the second-years how to repot Mandrakes, which are later used to cure people who have been Petrified by the Basilisk. How do you think Professor Sprout's qualities as a Hufflepuff are represented in her personality as a teacher? What do you think you could learn from her, both as a Hufflepuff and as a person?

"We've all got both light and dark inside us. What matters is the part we choose to act on.
That's who we really are."

-Sirius Black, Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix

Sirius Black speaks this powerful quote to Harry in Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix at a moment when Harry is feeling scared, anxious and insecure in his identity. This quote could be interpreted to mean that we all have our strong points and our weak points, our positive attributes and our flaws. Hufflepuffs are usually described as loyal, patient and dedicated. But even these qualities can be taken too far if you allow people to take advantage of you. Think about two moments in your life, one when your behaviour reflected the "light" side of Hufflepuff and one when it reflected the "dark" side. Describe these events below. What can you learn from them?

Harry encounters a group of Hufflepuff students wearing "Potter Stinks" badges who taunt and bully him for being the fourth Triwizard champion – hardly an appropriate series of actions for a group of Hufflepuffs. Have you ever acted in a way that went against your house's traits? Why? Describe the circumstances below.

While all of the Weasleys are in Gryffindor and all of the Malfoys are in Slytherin, characters like Sirius Black and Parvati and Padma Patil are placed in different houses than other members of their family. What houses would your parents and siblings belong to and why? How do you think this might have contributed to your being a Hufflepuff?

90 I WEEK 21

"Welcome to Hogwarts. Now in a few moments, you will pass through the doors and join your classmates, but before you can take your seats, you must be sorted into your houses. They are Gryffindor, Hufflepuff, Rovenclaw and Slytherin. Now while you're here, your house will be like your family."

Think about your closest friends. What houses do they belong to? Are they the same as you? How does this affect your relationships?

98 | WEEK 23

The above quote, spoken by Ron Weasley during the Sorting Ceremony in Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone, illustrates the fact that stereotypes exist even in the wizarding world. Whether it's the belief that all Slytherins are "bad" or that all Hufflepuffs are less talented, these stereotypes can be hurtful and unfair. What are some general stereotypes about your house that you feel are unfair? What do you say when confronted by them?
