

On Christmas morning, as the sun rose over the savannah, everything in Cretacia was quiet.

While everyone else was fast asleep, one excited little dino was already out of bed . . .

Tiny bounced quietly around the den. "I'm going to make this the best Christmas EVER," she whispered to herself.

WAKE UP,
IT'S CHRISTMAS!

Zzzzzzz

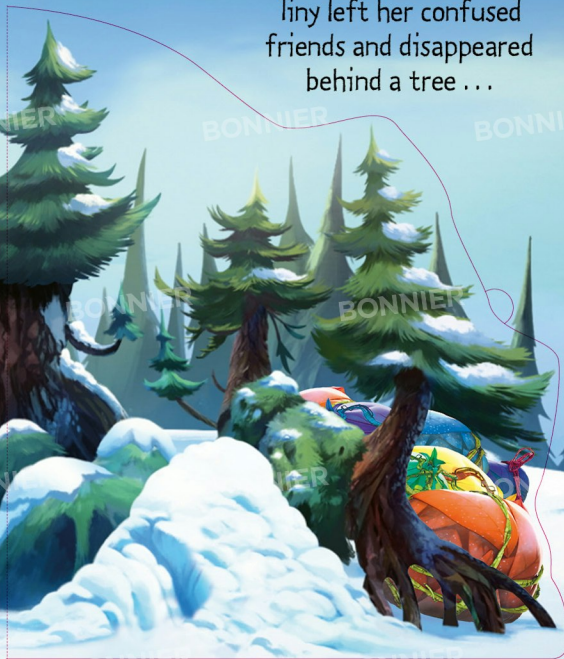

As quickly as she could, Tiny led her friends to the Frozen Lands. The other three dinos huddled together against the cold.

Tiny left her confused friends and disappeared behind a tree ...

Why are we in the Frozen Lands?

It's freeeezing, and I can't see any snacks!

Just wait and see!

Tiny passed presents to each of her friends. The little dinos could barely wait to open them.

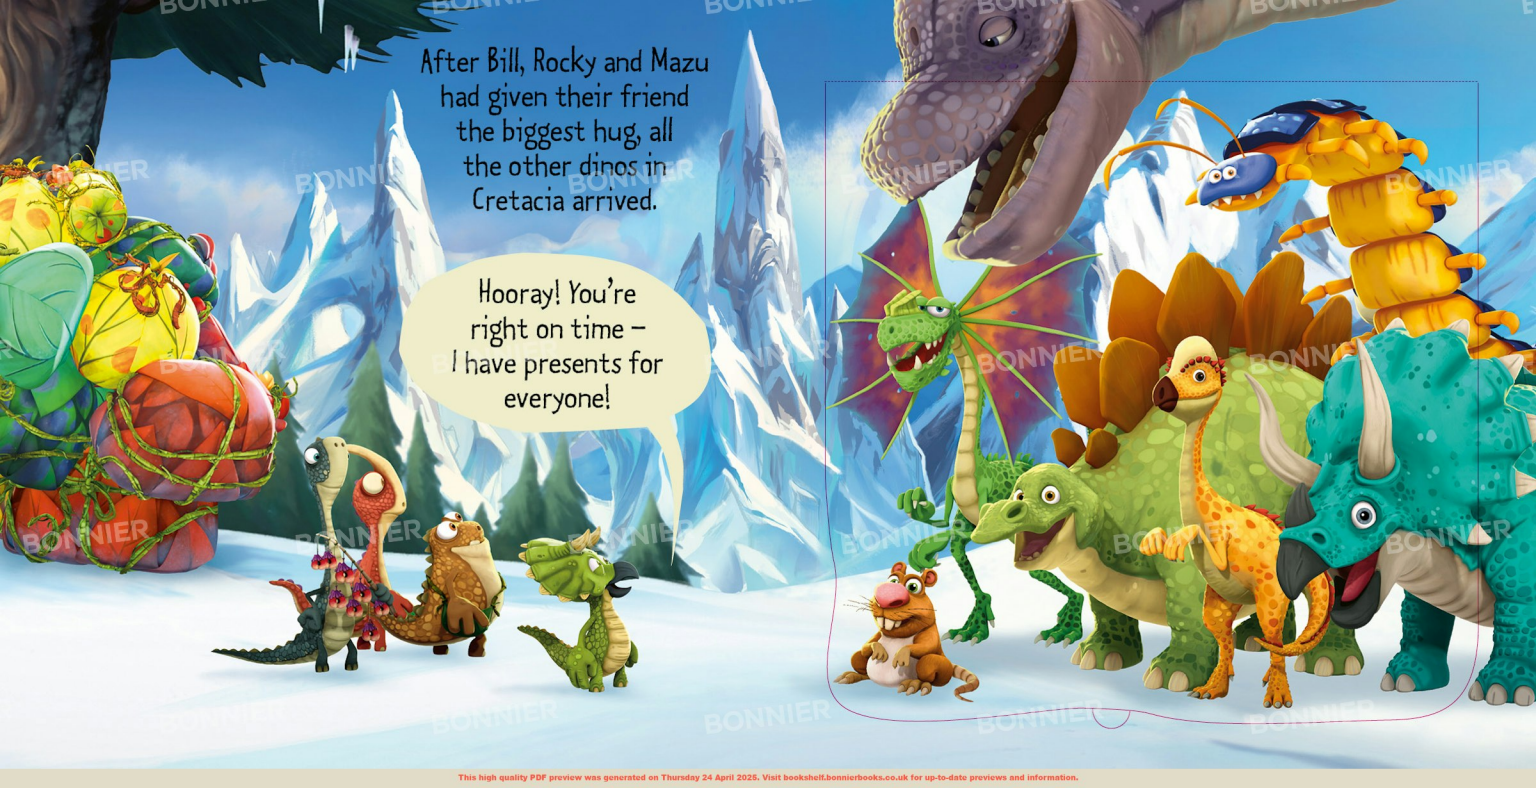

Everyone open them together in 3, 2, 1...

After Bill, Rocky and Mazu had given their friend the biggest hug, all the other dinos in Cretacia arrived.

Hooray! You're right on time – I have presents for everyone!

Suddenly, the ground beneath them started to shake . . . The four friends ran onto the rock, where they came face to face with Giganto!

“Giganto,” called Tiny, “I’ve got you a present too.”

Giganto opened his present . . .

MERRY CHRISTMAS,
GIGANTO!

. . . sniffed at it rudely, and stomped off into the snow.

“OH NO! Giganto didn’t like his present,” cried Tiny, chasing after him.

He must’ve gone this way.
Let’s go!

It’s very strange - Giganto LOVES cave moss!

Giganto led the little dinos into a clearing ...
It was very quiet ...
too quiet ...
