

ZOOM!

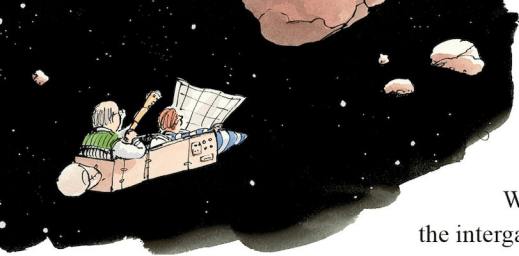

Sam Usher

When I went to bed last night, I couldn't sleep. It was the hottest day of the year.

ZOOM!

We plotted
the intergalactic star charts,

went through asteroid clouds,

round a quasar . . .

and finally reached the planet.

The astronauts were very pleased to see us.

“Just look at our module!” they cried.

But it was so exciting
I couldn't sleep.
