One day, you will chase
the sun across the world,

always holding the warmth of
home in your heart.

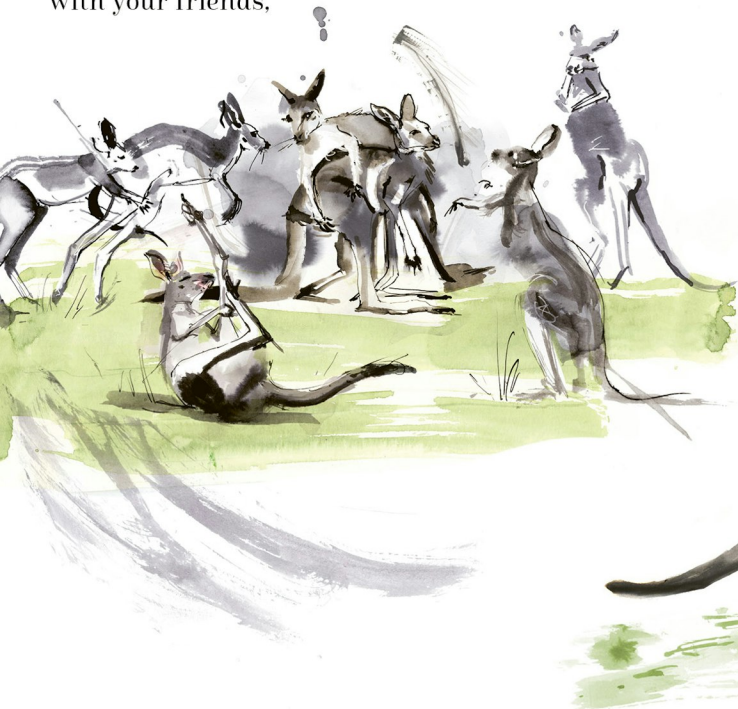

Together we are
holding each other

close

like a kangaroo
carrying their baby
inside their cosy pouch.

When you are bigger,
you will bounce around
with your friends,

but we will always jump back into one another's arms.

Together we are
helping you

find your feet

like a giraffe encouraging their newborn calf's first steps.
