Learn, Press-Out & Play The Body

How Do I Hear?

Sound is vibrating air. When it reaches your ears it makes your eardrums vibrate. These vibrations send messages to your brain, which then makes sense of what kind of sound you are hearing.

Splash!
Woof!
Toot toot!
Bang!

Most of your ear is inside your head. The part of the ear you can see is like a funnel for sounds.

Why Do I Have Two Ears?
Having an ear on either side of your head helps you to work out the direction of sound better. It means you can hear better too.
