GIGANTOSAURUS™

DON'T CAVE IN

In a clearing deep in the jungle, Tiny and Bill stood trembling with fear. Trey, Tiny's big brother, was telling them the scariest story they had ever heard.

"So this is where it happened," Trey began, "deep in the CAVE OF SHRIEKS."

The little dinos gasped and peered into the dark cave.

Trey continued. "It was here where I came face to face with ... SHRIEKASAUROS!"

Shriekasaurus is soooo scary...

... and FIERCE and HUGE and MEAN!

Trey and Ignatius had only just walked away when Rocky and Mazu came charging up the jungle path. The ground rumbled and trees shook. That could only mean one thing...

"Quick!" shouted Mazu, dragging Tiny, Rocky and Bill into the cave. "Hide in here!"

Gigantosaurus stomped right up to the cave entrance, but was too big to fit inside. He made a deafening roar.

The cave was gloomy and dark – how would they ever find their way back? Luckily, Mazu knew just what to do. She reached for a long purple leaf.

“This cave has its very own glowsticks!” she said excitedly.

Mazu shook the strange plant. PING! It lit up.

What was that?

It must be Shriekasaurus!

We've got to get out of here!

Tiny looked around at her terrified friends – she had to do something to help!
She took a deep breath, then started to sing a song. It wasn't long before Bill, Mazu and Rocky joined in, too.

"Thanks, Tiny," said Mazu gratefully. "I feel better now."

Tiny made shadow puppets on the cave wall and soon after they were all laughing once again. Feeling calmer, they walked on.

“WHOA!” the friends yelled, as they suddenly went tumbling down a steep slope.

They landed in the middle of an underground lake. They were trapped! It seemed the only way out was across the lake’s wobbly stepping stones.

“Tiny, you go first,” Rocky insisted.

Bill agreed. “You’re our fearless leader!”

But Tiny shook her head. “I’m not fearless! I’m as scared as you are. I’ve just been trying to forget about that and think of silly stuff.”

Her friends couldn’t believe what they were hearing. Tiny had been so brave!

But what about the shadow puppets? And the song?

I’m still scared on the inside.

"We couldn't have made it this far without you, Tiny," said Mazu proudly. Tiny gasped. Her friends really believed in her and she suddenly felt much braver. "Let's get through this together!" she said.

Tiny leapt onto the first wobbly stepping stone. She jumped across the lake from stone to stone, but just as she got to the other side she slipped and fell out of sight.

You're Shriekasaurus?!

You caught me ...
SURPRISE!

It was Ignatius! As soon as he spotted Tiny, the little yellow dinosaur stopped roaring.

He laughed nervously. "I guess I can't lie anymore ... I'm Shriekasaurus."

"But why?" asked Tiny.

"I'm just protecting my hangout from baby dinos," he replied. "But I can't believe you made it this far!"

Ignatius was impressed with Tiny's bravery. "Check this out ..." he said, as he led her through a crack between the rocks.

Ignatius's secret hangout was the most beautiful sight Tiny had ever seen.

Mazu, Bill and Rocky scrambled into the hangout too, ready to save their friend from the fearsome Shriekasaurus. But they had nothing to worry about.

"Look," said Tiny, pointing to the curly slides and bubbling hot springs. "It was totally worth not caving in."

"Awesome!" cheered the little dinos. They couldn't wait to explore.

They whizzed down slides, climbed on rocks and floated in bubbling pools. Bill sniffed the air curiously – what was that glorious smell?

Ignatius chuckled and pointed to a bunch of golden cave moss hanging above them. “It’s pretty tasty, too,” he grinned.

Just then, Tiny had a brilliant idea. “I bet that’s what Gigantosaurus was looking for,” she began. “Let’s bring him some cave moss!”

When the friends finally left the cave, the big dinos wanted to hear all about their adventure.

Trey listened, looking very sheepish. "I never actually went in," he finally admitted. Tiny looked up at him in shock, wondering why Trey would have lied.

All of a sudden, the dinosaurs heard the familiar TERRIFYING roar rip through the trees and Tiny knew she had just one last job to do...

... leave some tasty cave moss out for Gigantosaurus!
