A trace-the-shape
NURSERY story

With tips for adults!

Sophie is on her way to nursery.
She can't wait to see her friends.

Sophie loves going to nursery.

TIP: If your little one is anxious about nursery, try to make the journey together full of fun. Play a game, look for objects or do a silly walk!

Sophie hangs her bag on a special hook with her name on it.

Look, her friends are all here, too. Hello, everyone!

★ TIP: It's perfectly normal for children to feel upset at drop-off, but they will soon settle. Reassure them you will be back and send them off with a big hug and a smile.

Look, Sophie. Today you will be doing painting. It's fun – and messy!

There are lots of toys to play with, too. Everybody plays nicely and takes turns.

TIP: When you're playing at home, you can practise taking turns with toys to help your little one develop this skill at nursery.

Sophie and her friends like playing outdoors. It's so much fun.

After that, they're feeling hungry. It must be time for a snack. Yum!

TIP: You can support your child as they make new friendships by organising playdates outside of nursery time.

It's home time.
The day went
by so quickly.

Don't forget your painting, Sophie!

Goodbye everyone. See you next time we come to nursery.

TIP: Children may need extra cuddles at pick-up, but that doesn't mean they had a bad day. You can enjoy some quality time now, cuddling, playing or reading.
