Welcome to Fairyland, where the skies sparkle and the flowers shine, and discover what fairies get up to when humans aren't looking!

In Fairyland, the most important rules are to be kind, to use your imagination and to always keep a touch of fairy dust in your pocket for emergencies. So warm up your wings and have your wand at the ready, it's time to fly right in!

There are fairies all around us but they are so small that only children can see them.

Among the Flowers

Peek between the flowers and you'll see the fairies playing among the petals and bugs! Flowers make sweet nectar that fairies use to brew magical potions. Flying insects, such as ladybirds and bees, will often give fairies free rides whenever their sparkling wings are tired – flying uses a lot of energy!

Can you find...?

Can you see this caterpillar?

Which fairy is wearing glasses?

Where is this ladybird?

How many fairies have green hair?

Can you see this bumblebee?

Which fairy is asleep?

Can you see the scientist fairy?

Which fairy is holding this jug?

Point to this watering can.

Which fairy is wearing a blue dress?

A fairy always carries a pinch of magic dust to help with her spells.

Fairy Town

Fairy Town is the busy centre of Fairyland, where fairies come to work, shop for fairy dust, wing polish, silk dresses and books, and meet with other fairies. Fairy queens and princesses will host musical performances loud enough to travel all across Fairyland. But because fairies are so small, their songs might sound very quiet to us, and very high pitched too!

Can you find...?

How many fairies are wearing hats?

Can you find the cymbals?

Can you find this dog?

Can you spot these berries?

Which fairy is riding this bike?

Who is wearing this dress?

Can you spot these wands?

Point to the fairies reading a book.

Point to this dragon.

Which fairy is wearing goggles?

The Tooth Fairy collects children's baby teeth and leaves a gift in return.

Tooth Fairies

Have you ever wondered why the Tooth Fairy takes baby teeth? They are used to help build and decorate parts of Fairyland, of course! Clean and shiny teeth are best for creating pretty, fairy-sized ornaments, while the strongest teeth can build fairy houses and castles! Without teeth, Fairyland would be a very different place.

Can you find...?

How many presents can you see?

Can you see the sun?

Which fairies are carrying a tooth?

How many of the fairies have wands?

Which fairy is wearing this hat?

Can you spot this pattern?

Can you find a bird sticker?

Can you spot the staircase?

Can you find this star?

In the Woods

You're unlikely to spot a woodland fairy, as they only come out of their tree trunk homes at nighttime (but look closely and you might see a front door or two). Once it's dark, they will light up the woods with their magic and work to help toadstools and other fungi spread across the woods. If you see a circle of growing fungi, this is called a fairy ring.

Can you find...?

Count the fairies wearing green hats.

How many houses can you see?

How many red berries are there?

Can you spot the squirrel?

Can you see the fairy in the tree?

Can you see a fairy who is skipping?

How many windows can you see?

Can you find this bag?

Can you find the blue bird?

Not all fairies have wings.

Some fairies don't fly at all.

Winter Palace

Flying isn't the only talent fairies have! Some can skate, ski and build magical snowmen! The Winter Palace is a dreamy castle made of ice that stands all year round and even shimmers under the summer sunlight. Fairies will gather to dance on the frozen land that surrounds it, practising their twirls and spins as they glide across the ice.

Can you find...?

How many yellow hats can you see?

How many flags can you see on the palace?

Can you point to the fairy skiing?

Can you see the snowman's hat?

Can you find the bear?

Can you point to the penguin?

How many fairies are ice-skating?

Can you count all the snowballs?

How many fairies have a wand?

Mermaids often come to the rescue of shipwrecked sailors.

Under the Sea

Mermaids are the protectors of the sea! They spend their days swimming alongside the sea creatures and use their mermaid magic to keep the corals and seaweeds colourful and healthy. If there are storms across the ocean, mermaids will do their best to help anyone who might be in danger, whether they are sailors, swimmers or even fish!

Can you find...?

Can you spot the seahorse?

Which fish has a long nose?

How many blue fish are there?

How many points are there on the starfish?

Can you spot the mermaid in a rocking chair?

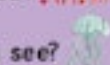

Can you find this shell?

Can you see the red seaweed?

How many jellyfish can you see?

Can you find the scissors?

Treasure Hunt

Try to find everything on this page by searching through each Fairyland scene. Stick the tick sticker in the box next to each object once you have found it.
