The Flickering Fires

A journey through life's elemental forces by Greenaway award-winner Grahame Baker-Smith.

- Narrative non-fiction that explores the extraordinary impact of fire in our world.
- The final book in The Elements series, which has sold over 180,000 copies worldwide (as of November 2023).
- Award-winning books include the Greenaway shortlisted Leon and the Place Between, FArTHER which won the Kate Greenaway medal in 2011, and the first title in this series; The Rhythm of the Rain which won the English 4-11 Picture Book Award.

The Flickering Fires

The Copper Age. The Bronze Age. The Iron Age.
Humanity was rarely from chemical elements. Heat formed.
Fire at the heart of all of it.
The flames give off when and burn are an echo
of energy from the sun which is long extinct forever.
Fire gives humankind access to the deepest nature of the earth.
The iron, tin, and metals of its formation.

...looks to the sun.
Fire at the heart of all of it.

When mixed with clouds of interstellar gas and dust they form the building blocks of new stars.
Like our Sun. And new planets. Like Earth.

A world with a fiery heart.
Assembled in a vast cosmic forge of rock and heat.
Alive with star dust.

It's time to bring Old Bear back to the playroom!

- Jane Hissey's best-selling teddy bear book is packed with heartfelt humour, nostalgia and vintage illustrations, making it the perfect bedtime story for children up to 5 years old.
- Jane Hissey's best-selling series became the basis for the BAFTA award-winning TV series, Old Bear and Friends.
- The Old Bear and Friends series has become a timeless classic for teddy bear lovers, selling over 7 million copies internationally and 126,000 through TCM alone.
- First published in 1986, Old Bear is packed with nostalgia and brings this iconic teddy to a new generation of children whose parents grew up reading these books.

Old Bear

LET'S try making ourselves into a tower,' said Duck. 'Good idea!' said Bramwell. Little Bear climbed on top of Rabbit's head and Rabbit hopped onto Duck's back. They stretched up as far as they could, but then Duck opened his book to say something. Rabbit wobbled, and they all collapsed on top of Bramwell.

'Sorry,' said Duck, 'perhaps that wasn't a very good idea.' 'Not one of your best,' replied Bramwell from somewhere underneath the heap.

IKNOW!' said Rabbit. 'Let's try bouncing on the bed.' 'Trust you to think of that,' said Bramwell. 'This never can mean a bit of bouncing, especially when it's not allowed!' Rabbit climbed onto the bed and began to bounce.

*Up and down,
Up and down.*

The others joined him. They bounced higher and higher but still they couldn't reach the trap door in the ceiling.

DUCK began to cry. 'Oh dear,' he sobbed. 'What are we going to do now? We'll never be able to rescue Old Bear and he'll be stuck up there getting lonelier and lonelier for ever and ever.'

'We haven't given up,' said Bramwell firmly. 'Come on Little Bear, quite good at ideas.'

But Little Bear had already noticed the plant in the corner of the room.

IVE got it!' he cried. 'I could climb up this plant, swing from the leaves, kick the trap door open and jump in!' In case it wobbled, Bramwell Brown, Duck and Rabbit steadied the pot. Little Bear bravely climbed up the plant until he reached the very top leaf. He took hold of it and started to swing to and fro, but he swung so hard that the leaf broke . . . SNAP!

He came crashing down. Luckily, Bramwell Brown was right underneath to catch him in his paws.

'That was a rotten idea,' said Little Bear.

'What I was thinking,' said Duck, 'was that it is a pity I can't fly very well, as I could have been quite a help.'

'Ah ha!' said Bramwell. 'That, my dear Duck, has given me a very good idea. I really think this one might work.'

Enchanted Tales

The Magic Fish

A tale from China

The Brothers Grimm version of "Cinderella" is the one many of us are familiar with, but there are hundreds – maybe even thousands – of different versions of this tale from around the globe. This version from China was the first to be written down, over 1,000 years ago.

Once upon a time, in a little shed outside a little house in the cave mountains of Southern China, there lived an orphan called Ye-Tsien. She was bright-eyed, clever, kind and good at making things. Ye-Tsien's stepmother loved her own daughter best, so Ye-Tsien had to do all the heaviest, most dangerous work, like collecting firewood from the deep forest or water from the high mountain pools. One day, Ye-Tsien was collecting water when up from the bottom of a deep mountain pool there was a shimmering and a glittering. It travelled up and up until something broke the surface – a tiny, shining golden fish! The fish looked up at Ye-Tsien, Ye-Tsien looked back – and from that moment, the fish and Ye-Tsien became friends. She took it home, placed it in a basin and fed it every day with scraps from her own plate. The fish grew and grew until, one day, it had grown so big she had to take it back to the pool. Still, Ye-Tsien visited the golden fish every day, and each time the fish would poke its shining golden head out of the water and greet her.

A few weeks later, the Stepmother was hungry and had an idea. Secretly, she fished Ye-Tsien to the pool. She saw how the huge, sparkling, delicious-looking fish always came out for Ye-Tsien but stayed deep under the water when anyone else came by. How can I outwit this clever fish? she thought.

The next day, back at home, the Stepmother gave Ye-Tsien new clothes to put on and sent her on a long errand down the mountain. Then she disguised herself in Ye-Tsien's old clothes, went to the pool and called the fish. When it bubbled up from the bottom of the pool, the Stepmother was ready with a knife. She took the golden fish home, chopped it up, cooked it and served it up to eat with her favourite daughter.

'Delicious!' they both said, wiping their mouths. They ate every morsel and threw its bones away on the rubbish heap.

The following day, Ye-Tsien hurried to the mountain pool and called – but no fish came. Big tears fell from her eyes and splashed into the empty pool. But as she cried, the air thickened, shimmering and glittering, and a figure appeared. It spoke in a voice that reminded her of safety:

*Today you cry, today you weep,
But look upon the rubbish heap.
Your fish friend's magic bones are there,
They'll grant you wishes, never fear.*

• THE NETTLE QUEEN •

Nettles grow in great families and give us many gifts: food, medicine, cloth and dye. Nettle leaves are so rich and tender that many creatures have to eat them – the plant uses its sting to make sure that not too many of its leaves get munchled! Nettle tea is tingy green. Nettle soup helps our bodies and bones grow strong and healthy. People have been using nettle stems to make cloth since Bronze age times.

Once there was a king who had six sons and one daughter, Eliza. The king loved his family dearly. So, when the king's wife died, he was sunk in grief. But his advisers told him: "The country needs a queen! Besides, the children need a mother. So, though his heart had not yet healed, the king married again.

His new queen felt at once the lack of love. Hurt hardened her heart. One day, when the boys woke her with their noise, she snapped, "Get out!" she shouted. "Just go! Fly away!"

Words have power. As she pointed, the boys' skin sprouted feathers. Their arms became wings. Their necks stretched. And they flew: six white swans.

Now, the queen made a strong dark dye – in a great pot, walnut shells liddled and brewed. She poured the dye into Eliza's bath. It stained her hair and changed her face – she looked so different, even her own father did not know her.

"Who let a stranger in here?" he cried. "Throw her out!"

Eliza fled, into the forest. She wandered the woods, wishing her brothers were with her. But the trees and the plants, the birds and the animals were all with her. She talked to them, as if they were her brothers.

"Hello, Butterfly!"

"Hello, Nettle, may I pick a leaf? Ow!"

The sting made the tips of her fingers tingle. Just then, along came a woman, gathering nettles for soup. She picked a dock leaf for Eliza, to soothe her skin. She showed her the tiny butterfly eggs, she shored beneath a nettle leaf. She taught her how to pick the very top tips of the plant, that are best to eat. Eliza thanked the woman, and she asked her, "Please... Have you seen six princes?"

The woman shook her head. "No... no princes... But I did see six swans, down on the river."

Eliza followed the river all the way to the sea. But she didn't find her brothers. She did find a white feather, on the shore. She sat on the sand with the feather in her hand. And as the sun began to set, there came a sound – over the ponding of the waves – the singing of wings.

From over the horizon came six wild swans. As they landed, their white feathers fell away. There stood six boys – Eliza's brothers! Then there was hugging and kissing and laughing and crying, and more hugging.

"Every day, when the sun rises, we turn into swans," said her youngest brother. "We only become boys again when the sun sets. We live far off over the ocean, but every day, we fly back, to look for you."

"Now you've found me," said Eliza. "Take me with you!" So Eliza and her brothers gathered supple willow and tough rush, and together they knated a net.

Eliza sat in the net and her own brothers lifted her clean into the
