Discover the rich history, vibrant culture and unique identity of each nation through its flag!

- A vibrant exploration of our world's marvellous flags! Take a fact-filled and fun journey across the contents to discover all that lies in our national flags.
- Content is split into 5 chapters based on the continents: Europe, Asia, the Americas, Africa and Oceania. Each section features a chapter opener, 4-5 spreads looking at specific flags in detail, and a theme spread which looks at the world more broadly.
- Feature spreads look at an individual flag's history, symbolism and meaning, and also include 2 or more other flags which share a similarity in some way, whether that be a symbol, geographical location or a shared history.

THE HISTORY OF FLAGS

Before the 19th century, flags were used in a variety of ways. They were used to signal, to identify, and to decorate. They were also used to represent a country or a group of people. The first flags were made of animal skin or cloth. They were often decorated with symbols or patterns. Over time, flags became more complex and more colorful. They were used to represent a variety of things, including a country, a group of people, a religion, or a political party. Today, flags are still used in many of the same ways. They are used to signal, to identify, and to decorate. They are also used to represent a country or a group of people. The history of flags is a long and interesting one. It is a story of how we have used flags to communicate and to represent ourselves.

Winter Tales

• THE WHITE BEAR KING •

But the first time, the bear roared! With a bellowing roar, the powerful creature got his claws on her back. And then, but despite of his best efforts, he was unable to hold her. He roared again and again. But she was not afraid. She only looked at him with a calm, steady gaze.

The prince held on to her back. But the bear's powerful muscles were too strong for the weak boy. He slipped off her back. The bear looked at him with a calm, steady gaze.

TANUKI'S GOLD

A folk tale from Japan

The 'tanuki' is a member of the dog family that lives wild in the forests of Japan. Like its cousin the fox, the tanuki is small and agile, with a pointed snout and short legs, but its silky fur is striped, like a badger or a raccoon. The tanuki is famed in legends of old Japan as a magical creature – one favourite tale tells of a shape-shifting tanuki who could change into a kettle, and perform amazing acrobatics, bringing great good luck. This tale celebrates the way that when winter weather keeps us indoors, we feel especially grateful for the company of dear friends.

'Mukashi, mukashi' – very, very long ago, an old priest lived alone. He spent his days in prayer and meditation. He never needed to bother with earthly things for the local people brought him clothes and food, and patched his roof in the winter.

One winter's evening, the priest was deep in prayer. He knelt before the statue of the Buddha. He struck his bell and listened to the sound resound until it stilled to silence.

'Nyawell!' What was that? From outside came a pitiful sound. The priest opened the door, and there, shivering in the cold, was a tanuki.

• TANUKI'S GOLD •

'Your holiness!' implored the creature. 'Please, may I come in and warm myself by your fire? It's bitterly cold.'

The priest's eyes opened wide in surprise. He knew that tanuki hibernate in winter. 'Why aren't you in your burrow?' he asked.

'In winters past, the freezing frost and mountain snow were nothing to me. But now I grow old; I feel the cold in my bones. Please, let me in.'

'Of course, of course!' said the kind-hearted priest, full of compassion.

The tanuki lay thawing by the fire, eyes closed in exhaustion, wet fur steaming gently. The priest continued his prayers.

The tanuki slept by the sunken hearth all night, and in the morning, he puddled away. The next night, the tanuki returned. And the next, and the next. He brought with him fallen sticks and dead leaves for the fire, and the old priest grew fond of the sight of him, sleeping by the hearth. The white fluff of his tummy rose and fell with the gentle rhythm of his snores.

The priest noticed that when he gazed upon the tanuki, asleep in such deep peace, he felt peace in his own body, too. His breathing slowed. His gaze softened. He stroked the creature's silky fur. Sometimes, the priest sat and sipped a bowl of green tea, and the tanuki curled beside him. Its warm weight was comfortable – it made him feel content.

When winter was over, and white snow gave way to pink blossom, the tanuki came to the hut no more.

But when winter came around again, the tanuki always returned, and the old priest greeted his old friend with a glad heart.
