Emma Dodd's Baby's First Stories: 0-3 months

Very first stories for baby

- Written in consultation with Early Years Expert, Lizzie Noble, each book perfectly suits your baby's needs at every stage of their first year
- Fills a gap in the market: parents are told to read to their baby every day, but black and white books usually have little text. Reading aloud soothes babies from birth, promotes baby-carer bonding, builds children's language skills, and increases the chances that parents will continue to read to babies as they grow older
- Perfect for parents who use the Wonder Weeks App, read Your Baby Week by Week, or use milestone cards to mark big moments
- 4 books in the series, all featuring the same animal characters: 0-3 months; 3-6 months; 6-9 months; 9-12 months
- Emma Dodd's books have sold over 3 MILLION copies worldwide
- Cover finishes: matt lam + spot UV

Emma Dodd's Baby's First Stories: 0-3 months

Do you see Little Bear
She giggles
"Grrrrrr! Grrrrrr!
Grrrrr!"
Because Big Bear tickles
Her soft, brown, fluffy fur.

Oh, look at Little Owl
He's waiting patiently
Under the twinkly stars
High in his leafy tree.

Magpie and the Sparkling Words

A vocabulary-rich rhyming picture book about the beauty of the spoken word.

- Bestselling, award-winning picture book staple, Lucy Rowland (Wanda's Words Got Stuck, Little Red Reading Hood), returns to the Templar picture book list. Her writing is influenced by her work as a children's speech and language therapist, which is apparent in the read-aloud qualities of her work.
- After a long hiatus, Craig Shuttlewood returns to the Templar list with his emotive, accessible characters and detailed natural scenes.
- A focus on the joy of sharing language, making this the ideal classroom companion for topics like adjectives, creative writing and storytelling. The book includes two spreads of definitions of the sparkling words included in the text for children to refer back to.

Tiger's Last Roar

A beautifully lyrical story about grief, the loss of a pet and the unbreakable bond between child and furry friend.

- Bringing Harriet Howe, a debut, talented picture book voice to the Templar list with this breathtaking and lyrical text - and following with A Skyful of Stars, a story about divorce and separation, in 2027.
- The book is beautifully and sensitively brought to life by Waterstones Children's Book Prize shortlistee and Carnegie nominee, Katie Cottle - with luscious foliage, bright palettes and exquisite attention to detail on every page.
- A perfect encapsulation of the relationship between child and pet with thoughtful, yet humorous, depictions of cats that will be familiar to any cat-lover!

Bessie's Bees

An uplifting story about starting nursery with a bubbly neurodiverse child at its centre.

- Bringing debut, neurodiverse author George Kirk to the Templar picture book list with a story featuring a main character with ADHD - and Bessie will be back in 2026 in Bessie's Bathtime!
- While there has been an increase in positive representations and neurodiverse voices elsewhere in children's books, this is yet to be seen in the picture book space. Templar can be one of the first to champion neurodiverse voices and stories.
- Brilliantly brought to life by Ana Gómez, illustrator of How to Make a Story and How to Catch a Rainbow published by OUP, with her approachable, accessible child characters and clever visual representations.

A laugh-out-loud rhyming romp about how being HANGRY really makes you feel!

- Bringing debut author Kathryn Wanless as well as established, commercial talent Fred Blunt to the Templar list with his wit and humour.
- Exploring a theme that isn't currently seen in the picture book market - there are plenty of books about being hungry OR angry, but not both!
- This story uses humour as a conversation starter for children to talk about the very real, intense emotions that come with hunger.
- The book acts as a reminder that we all get hangry, even grown-ups, but it's how we deal with those feelings that matters.
- Cover treatment: matt lam, SPUV and emobss.

Oh No, Flo!

A fantastically funny farmyard fiasco to read aloud!

- Taking recognisable and familiar farm animal characters to create a funny and fresh picture book for the very young.
- Featuring bold and bright illustrations from Mike Byrne, well-known for This Book is Full of Unicorns.
- Catherine Cawthorne is fresh to the picture book world but is already making her mark with: We Went to Find a Woolly Mammoth (Hachette, 2023), We Went to Find a T.Rex (Hachette, 2024) and The Big Bad Wolf Investigates: Fairy Tales (Bloomsbury, 2024).
- The light-hearted text and repeated 'OH NO, FLO!' refrain to join in with, makes it the perfect book to share with a group or individual child.
- Cover treatments: matt lam and SPUV.

Yetis Don't Exist!

A FUR-tastically funny rhyming adventure!

- Bringing rising talent, Kate Thompson, to the Templar list. She has two picture books with Welbeck and two new picture books coming with PRH in September 2024, and 2025.
- Bringing established quirky, commercial illustrator Loretta Schauer to the list with her bright palette and fantastic furry creatures. Loretta has previously worked with publishers like Ladybird, Farshore and Bloomsbury.
- Like The Best Bear Tracker, this book has a hilarious visual narrative alongside the text with the yetis and human explorer just missing each other more than once!
- The book's wintry, snowy setting offers the ideal seasonal gift without the story being explicitly Christmassy!
- Cover treatments: matt lam and foil.

The Baker by the Sea

A seaside storybook about community and family

- Atmospheric pen-and-ink artwork from debut author and illustrator Paula White. Paula was winner of the 2019 Templar Design and Illustration Awards.
- Reminiscent of the Greenaway winning Town is by the Sea (Walker, 2018).
- The story offers a window onto the past, guiding us around the Beach Village that once stood where Paula grew up, in Lowestoft, Suffolk. This busy, bustling place once made its living from the sea - but was eventually swept away by those very same waves.
- A moving exploration of the importance of community, with a strong father-son relationship at its heart.
- An artistic fishing village story which should be popular with retailers in seaside locations.

The Christmas Chronicles

JOHN TOWNSEND

Mrs Claus sips from a teacup and says, 'How about something more Christmassy? Something that gives a day-by-day record of what you do. What's another word for diary?'

Santa continues watching the dancing snowflakes through the window. 'Chronicle,' he smiles. 'Why not call my book "The Christmas Chronicles"?'

'Ooh, that sounds posh,' Mrs Claus giggles. 'It's got a ring to it. Go for it, love!'

Santa looks back at his desk where Tinsel is playing with Akua's letter by tapping it with her paw. 'And I shall mention Akua in it, too,' he says. 'In fact, I shall dedicate my book to all children in hospital this Christmas.'

At bedtime, Santa sits up in bed with his notebook and scratchy pen. Sparkle and Tinsel watch more words appear on the paper, as if by magic. Santa giggles, 'Shall I read you the first page? I told you both you would be in my book so here goes... "Not many people know this, but if you go to the North Pole and face one way, you will see a house with many windows, green shutters and a snowy roof. That's where Santa Claus lives with his wife Carol, their cat Tinsel and their dog Sparkle." "Santa turns off the light with a sigh.

'Christmas spells, Christmas spells, Christmas all the way... Oh what fun it is to sleep and wake up the next day! Nightie night, my sweetie-pies. Only one week to my big night. Just you wait till you see what tomorrow brings...'

And yes, tomorrow you will find out, too.

The Wild Verses

Safely In Numbers

Why meet trouble halfway when you can run to greet it, offer it
the best part of the day?
Watch them surge towards their problems:
this band of rebels tackling life head-on moving, always moving as one.

The Bull

Today, you want to stomp outside and face
the day bull-strong.
Stand firm and uncertainties
cannot make you stop.
Stay proud. Zip up your audaciousness
right to the top.

The Painter

If I could paint the world
I'd choose endearment, which is yellow:
blossoms for the tenuous sun,
bee-colours for getting things done, lemons for sharpness, pure gold for every star that shines in darkness.

Unfurl

Sometimes you want to hide your crimson, teal and green.
Sometimes you fold.

It's time to catch the light. Be bold.
You open the fan of yourself and you brim with gold.

Funk came from New Orleans in America around the late 1930s and early 1950s centuries. It is still heard today because it is GOOD! You'll know it's just because the beats in the music are so great! Funk is irregular (funk-a-poo-funk) - it makes you swing and dance.

Funk was created by African Americans living in New Orleans, ELVA WITTINGHAM sang like a blues, sharing her talents and joy with words. LUGUS AMSTERDAM learned that making music is all about being young. THOMAS COLTRANE blew the saxophone, bringing life and movement in music. PULEY BRAYNE worked the trumpet.

Ruby, blue, red and funk have all been influenced by jazz.

Groovy!

Smooth!

Irregular!

Discover 12 upheavals which changed the world forever.

- A thought-provoking exploration of the idea of revolution: how upheavals, ideas and technology have irreversibly changed the world.
- Content split into three distinct chapters: power struggles, social revolutions and new technology. Chapter openers discuss what the word “revolution” means in each of these contexts, while showing how the idea is linked across all areas.
- Written by long-time author and history enthusiast Joan Lennon, who is a Royal Literary Fund Fellow at Dundee University and regular contributor on The History Girls blog. Her previous non-fiction book Talking History was shortlisted for the SLA Information Book Award 2023 and longlisted for the UKLA Book Awards 2023 in the Information Books category.

Sophie's Incredible Voyage

Adventure through the mysterious door and embark on a quest in a magical land in this beautifully whimsical puzzle book.

- A beautifully whimsical puzzle book, mixing the fun and interactivity of puzzles with an epic adventure story. Perfect for unlocking the joy of reading.
- Written and illustrated by Aleksandra Artymowska, illustrator of bestselling Around the World in 80 Puzzles and 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea: A Puzzle Adventure. Ola's puzzle books have sold over 100,000 copies worldwide.
- Featuring a strong female protagonist who shows that bravery and a sense of adventure isn't only for boys.

What if a natural world didn't depend on trees for food and shelter, but on the giant red ladders and scaffolding that we do? In this whimsical world, the forest is made of giant ladders. These ladders are built into the foliage and extend across the entire scene. A small, pink, bird-like creature is perched on one of the lower rungs on the left side.

What if the world is made of giant red ladders and scaffolding? What if the world is made of giant red ladders and scaffolding?

Help Sophie find her way to the sign by going up and down the ladders and across the platform.

- Featuring a strong cast of characters with authentic stories from diverse backgrounds, including South and South East Asia, plus a non-binary character with partial hearing loss.

The Incident at Camp UFO

The Early Birds looked at each other in utter astonishment, then sprinted towards the lake. Poppy followed, barking madly. She didn't have a clue what was going on, but she loved running.

"Y-you realise what's happening now right?!" puffed Pawan, struggling to keep up with the others. "A SUPERHERO ORIGIN STORY! Space rock falls from the sky, local kids find space rock, space rock makes them FLY or TURN STRETCHY or give them the power to make people EXPLODE or something!"

"Was it definitely a space rock?" asked Val. "Whatsit called? An asteroid. Maybe it was a satellite. Or a part of a PLANE! I heard once that an aeroplane's toilet chute opened and the stuff inside fell out of the sky, and because it's SO cold up there, it FROZE and hit a man and everyone knew that he'd been squashed by a massive frozen ball of POOI!"

"Definitely not poo," said Frankie, who had made it to the shore first. The others arrived and stared out at the emanating water. "Poo doesn't glow."

"Wow!" said Val, astutely. "I guess we should report this to, uh, whoever you report asteroids to?" Frankie posited.

"Um, sorry, I think you mean meteorite," said Xinyi, apologetically. "Asteroids are when they're in space. When they fall they're a meteor, and when it lands it's a meteorite..." Xinyi frowned. WHY did I have to say that for? Now they'll think I'm a COMPLETE dweeb...

Frankie turned to her and smiled. "Thanks, Xinyi. It's probably best we know exactly what it is when we tell..."

"Or," interrupted Val, "we DON'T tell anyone and fish it out ourselves!" The gang looked down at the glow once more. Pawan nodded slowly. "Yeah. I mean, do you KNOW how much meteorites go for online?" He said, biting his lip. "Like, mucho gold coins. Plus, still hoping for superpowers here..?"

"Yeah! Come on Frank-le-plank!" beamed Val. "I wanna make people explode!"

Frankie sighed. She saw what this was. Just because she was older – just because she wasn't suggesting stupid things like FISHING FOR (potentially) MAGIC SPACE ROCKS – they were making her be the mum. The sensible one. The leader. Frankie took a deep breath. Not today. Not this entire summer, actually. She had decided in the car that this summer, she wasn't going to be in charge of ANYTHING. Especially not Val.

"Yeah, okay. Let's get the meteorite out of the lake," the new, relaxed go-with-the-flow Frankie replied. "So... how are we going to do that?"

How COULD the gang fish the meteorite out the lake? When you think you've got it, turn to the next page - or check the answer at the back!

Hint: Try skipping back a few pages and see if there's any helpful lake-related gear!

THE INGREDIENTS OF SOUND

What is music made of? As a composer, I have lots of different ingredients. I can include to make my musical dish. Music can be broken down, just like a recipe, into parts that work together to make a piece whole – so let's tuck in and see what music is made of...

NOTES

Every individual sound you hear with a specific pitch is a 'note'. On a page of sheet music, these are represented by dots of different shapes. Western classical music is a tradition that is written down – notated – in contrast to something like jazz, which is based on improvisation (making up your own notes as you play).

C D E F G A B C

RHYTHM

The sequence of long and short notes, and the patterns these make together, is called rhythm. When we clap or we tap our feet, this is a rhythm.

TEMPO

The speed of a piece. Often indicated by a single Italian word like allegro (fast), andante (at a walking pace) or adagio (slow).

PITCH

How high or low a note is. Music can be broken down into scales (notes next to each other that climb up or down). Nearly every note is associated with a letter from the alphabet: A, B, C, D, E, F and G represent specific pitches, and they occur in cycles, from lower to higher. Perfect pitch is the ability to hear a note and name the letter, without needing to play an instrument to check.

TEXTURE

The layers of a piece of music. Some pieces might spotlight a single instrument for a few moments: an exposed feature. Others might include a whole orchestra playing at the same time in an explosion of sound: a dense texture.

TIMBRE

The character and quality of sound created by an instrument. A single instrument can have a wide variety of sounds. For example, a horn played at the bottom of its range sounds like an angry growl, but high up it can sound angelic.

MELODY

The melody is the tune. As a piece unfolds, the original melody might be stretched or shortened, heard backwards or in a different rhythm, or played by another instrument.

LINE

Sheet music is like a map of a piece, telling us who plays what and when; on the page, each instrument has its own line.

RANGE

Instruments are categorised by how high or low they can play: a flute plays much higher notes than a bassoon (a bass instrument that plays much lower notes). Some instruments like the piano or violin have a very broad range with both high and low notes.

HARMONY

The sound when multiple notes are played at the same time. These combinations of notes are called chords. These can be consonant (pleasant sounding, with the notes fitting together nicely) or dissonant (harsh sounding, where the notes clash).

PHRASE

A sentence in music – it's made up of just a few musical notes.

DYNAMICS

Composers can specify changes in volume: this is called dynamics. Pieces often contrast a loud burst of notes with a quiet one. This creates a sense of contrast and dialogue.

MOVEMENT

A piece of music might be broken down into different movements, like the chapters of a novel. There are often three or four movements.

REGISTER

How high or low the music 'sits' for an instrument. If lots of the notes are very high, we'd call it a high 'register'.

Listen Out!

Consider all of these areas of music to listen out for in a piece and ways of describing what you hear; every work can be broken down into these key areas. Ask yourself: is this moment showing a fight or a waltz? Is this harmony dissonant [clashing]? All these ingredients work together to make a piece distinct and emotive.

Around the World in 80 Inventions

Ice Cream

"Dripping from heaven"

14

On the hot day of August 18th, 1851, a young man named John Henderson was walking through the streets of Glasgow when he noticed a group of children gathered around a small cart. The children were looking at something that looked like a cone of soft, white material. Henderson was curious and went over to see what it was. He found that it was a new invention called 'ice cream'. The children were eating it and it was very popular. Henderson decided to make some himself and sell it. He made a small cart and started selling it. The children loved it and soon other people started buying it too. Ice cream became a popular treat and it is still loved today.

Easy Ice Cream

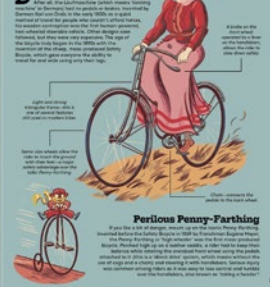

Bicycle

"Freedom on two wheels"

15

Did you know that the first bicycle was called a 'boneshaker'? It was made of wood and had a very rough ride. The first bicycle was invented in 1817 by a German man called Baron von Drais. He was bored of walking and wanted a faster way to get from one place to another. He made a wooden frame with two wheels of different sizes. He sat on a seat and pushed the pedals with his feet. It was called a 'velocipede' and it was very popular. The first bicycle was made of wood and had a very rough ride. The first bicycle was invented in 1817 by a German man called Baron von Drais. Camera

"Tag along"

Although it may seem to be a simple thing to use, a camera is a very complicated machine. The first camera was invented in 1816 by a French man called Nicéphore Niépce. He was a pioneer in photography and he made the first photograph. The first camera was made of wood and had a very rough ride. High-Speed Train

"10-speed"

By the 19th century, people were traveling faster and faster. The first high-speed train was invented in 1825 by a British man called George Stephenson. He was a pioneer in the railway industry and he made the first railway. The first high-speed train was made of wood and had a very rough ride. Marvelous Maglevs

Wind Turbine

"Harnessing the power of wind"

34

You might have seen a wind turbine up on a hill. It is a machine that converts the energy of the wind into electricity. The first wind turbine was invented in 1890 by a Danish man called Poul la Cour. He was a pioneer in the wind energy industry and he made the first wind turbine. Versatile VTOLs

Wheel

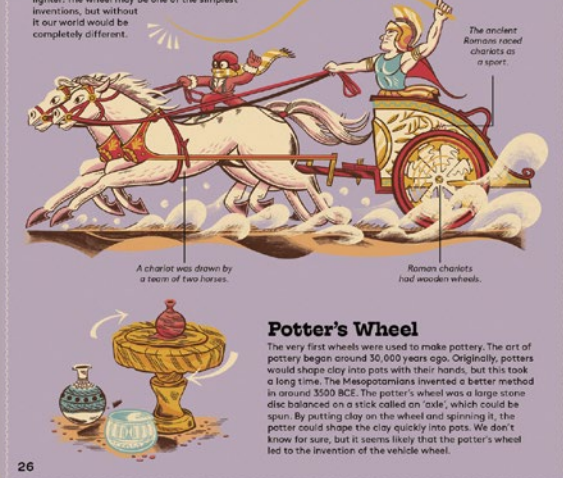

"The revolutionary design that makes the world go round"

17

Can you imagine a world without wheels? Apart from sledges and ships, there would be no vehicles - no carts, cabs, bikes, buses, trucks, trains, cars or aeroplanes. The first wheeled vehicles were animal-drawn carts with solid wooden wheels. They were invented in Mesopotamia (modern-day Iraq) around 3500 BCE. 3500 years after the horizontal potter's wheel. These carts carried cargo to market and heavy loads, such as stone and timber for building projects. The horse-drawn chariot came next. In about 2500 BCE, chariot wheels were spoked rather than solid like a cartwheel, so they were faster and lighter. The wheel may be one of the simplest inventions, but without it our world would be completely different.

Potter's Wheel

The very first wheels were used to make pottery. The art of pottery began around 30,000 years ago. Originally, potters would shape clay into pots with their hands, but this took a long time. The Mesopotamians invented a better method in around 3500 BCE. The potter's wheel was a large stone disc balanced on a stick called an 'axle', which could be spun. By putting clay on the wheel and spinning it, the potter could shape the clay quickly into pots. We don't know for sure, but it seems likely that the potter's wheel led to the invention of the vehicle wheel.

Internet

18

The invention of the Internet - a network of computers that 'speak' to each other - was a concentrated effort in the United States. The first computers were connected to each other in 1969, but scientists first began developing the Internet in the early 1970s during the Cold War (1947-1991), a time of heightened hostility between the USSR and the United States and when computers were the size of an entire room. The United States government wanted a communication system that couldn't be destroyed in a single attack, so they created ARPANET (Advanced Research Projects Agency Network): a series of linked computers across different locations, which allowed information to be relayed along telephone lines. The first message was sent in 1969. It was a single word: LOGIN, but only the 'L' and the 'O' got through before the network crashed. By the end of the same year four computers were connected on the ARPANET. It took years to create the 'network protocol' that allows computers to transfer data and 'speak' to each other. From the 1970s this network grew into the global Internet, which now links billions of devices. Today, whatever you want - books, food, holidays, cars - with the Internet you simply click a button and wait for it to arrive. Social media sites allow people all over the world to communicate instantly. We can consume films, television shows, music and video games, and even do our banking online.

World Wide Web

The World Wide Web (WWW) is a gateway to the Internet. It's made up of search engines like Google and Safari, the Internet addresses (also called URLs) we type in, and the websites that appear on our screens. It was invented by a British computer scientist called Tim Berners-Lee in 1989 while working at CERN, a science research laboratory in Switzerland. The WWW made the Internet accessible to everyone, not just scientists and academics.

INTRODUCTION

Imagine a world where all around us are people with bionic limbs, machines attached to their heads and cameras for eyes. This same world has cyborgs who can hear colours and communicate via their teeth, and even people who use robotic skeletons to walk elsewhere. In this world, children have no fear with external ears, and people have without legs can walk using ones made of metal and carbon fibre. Some people use chips inside their bodies to get into their offices, or to pay for their coffees on their way into work. This world is full of incredible people who are using technology to do amazing things. But the most amazing part of all is that this world is the one we already live in. Technology has changed all of our lives, and not just with the smartphones or tablets that we use. For many people, particularly those with disabilities, recent technological advances have created the means of the greatly imaginable, and reached a place of possibility. We don't realise it all the time, but bionic technology exists, and it's right in front of our noses. Far from a scene from a science fiction film, the future is far away from here. This book explores the world we live in today that science, biology, brain science, bionics (see pages 32-33) and neural implants (pages 40-41), and includes some of the most remarkable that get us there. We will also look forward at the exciting frontiers that lie ahead: the current, as well as what they mean for us as a species. Our journey to the future has already begun, and it is time to get to know Human 2.0.

THE FIRST PROSTHESES

For as long as humans have been around, we have been losing limbs, or are born without them. Whether due to an injury or congenital impairment (a condition that is present from birth), people have been trying to replace missing arms, legs, fingers and toes for thousands of years. Early prostheses were rudimentary for their time, yet their inventors did not have the technology needed to provide better functionality and comfort. Even so, some of these early prostheses closely resemble those that exist today.

The earliest known example of a prosthesis (an artificial body part) belonged to an Egyptian mummyman over 2,000 years ago. This wooden prosthesis replaced the leg on his right foot, and even had a ridge in the shape of a heel carved into it to make it appear more realistic. It would have been strapped onto his leg with strong, and sometimes leather, that it would have greatly altered his balance.

Count Götz von Berlichingen Perhaps the most famous example of an early prosthesis is that belonging to the German knight, Count Götz von Berlichingen, who lost his hand during battle in the early 1500s. Count Götz asked his local craftsmen to make an iron hand with digits, fingers and thumb that could lock into place, so he could hold a horse's reins or a weapon. This basic but effective arm was so famous that some people believe it inspired the phrase, 'to ride with an iron fist'.

WHAT IS BIONIC?

Bionics refers to the transfer of technology between artificial objects and living organisms. The word 'bionics' comes from a combination of the Greek words for 'bio' (life) and 'nautics' (navigation). It was coined by American engineer and MIT professor Jack E. Steele in the 1960s. While the term 'bionics' was popularised by Steele, it was actually American science fiction writer Isaac Asimov who first used the word 'bionics' in his 1949 book, 'The Bionic Man'. Asimov's definition of bionics was 'the transfer of ideas from biology to technology'. In 1960, Steele presented an ambitious lecture and reported a gathering of experts on the topic of how new technologies could be discovered by looking at animals' features. This kind of research is known as biomimicry. A lot of the bionics research is done from the field through observation and inspiration by the structure of what's in nature. Bionics is a field of research that has been around for a long time, and it's still growing. It's a field of research that has been around for a long time, and it's still growing. It's a field of research that has been around for a long time, and it's still growing.

BIONIC LIMBS AND IMPLANTABLE DEVICES

A prosthesis can be internal or external to the body. The ways in which people can replace parts of their body can largely be broken down into two groups: bionic limbs and implantable devices.

'Implantable devices' is a broad term describing anything that is surgically implanted inside the body. Because surgery is required to gain access, these devices cannot easily be removed, and are typically designed to stay inside the body forever. Examples of these include pacemakers and cochlear implants.

Bionic limbs are artificial body parts, which are intended to replace the function of a human body part, such as an arm or a leg. These are attached to the body, usually via a belt, strap or socket, and can be easily taken on and off by their wearer.

If either a bionic limb or an implant has batteries that need to be charged, they are called 'active'. Those that do not are called 'passive'. Some implants, such as cochlear implants, need batteries. These sit outside the body and attach to the implant via a wire, so the user does not need surgery every time the battery runs out (see pages 28-29).

Locomotion

THE FIRST RAILWAYS

It is strange to think that they have only been around as we know them for about two hundred years.

Pushing Jolly went on to influence many other engineers. The first public railway to use steam locomotives, the Stockton and Darlington Railway in England, opened in 1825. It was designed by George Stephenson, who went on to be known as the Father of Railways for his influential role in so many early schemes.

THE GAUGE

One of Stephenson's most significant decisions was to set the gauge for British railways. The gauge is the distance between the rails and is measured from the inside edge of one rail to the other. By using the same gauge in different railways, Stephenson could ensure that the trains were compatible when they crossed the boundary in a gauge of 4'6" (1.37m), which became known as the "standard gauge". Today, more than half of the world's railways use this gauge.

The standard gauge was not without its rivals. In western Europe, the French, engineer of the British Great Western Railway, decided to build wider gauge when he designed the line between London and Bristol, which opened in 1826. The wider tracks, set at a width of 5'6" (1.68m), allowed for more stability at speed, and bigger carriages which could carry greater loads. Unfortunately for Bristol, his lines never lived up to compare, and by 1867 all the tracks had been converted to the narrower gauge of his rival, Stephenson.

STEAM LOCOMOTIVES

Once the possibility of steam-powered engines had been realized, a whole host of locomotives were tried and tested around the world. Some proved too heavy, others too unreliable and some were too dangerous, but the arrival of one revolutionary design changed the course of history. Rocket, designed by engineer Robert Stephenson (George Stephenson's son - see page 8) was to provide the principal design for the vast majority of steam locomotives that follow.

of steam locomotives that followed.

Heat from the fire passes through the boiler via smaller tubes. The heat the water to boiling point, raising the steam pressure.

As the pressure builds, the steam is directed to the expansion. These are controlled by valves, which act like a gate in a dam. The steam-pressure then acts at a piston inside the expansion, turning the wheels on a rod which connects to the effect enlarged the surface area and flattened the water more easily. 3 tubes were used to get rid of the water from the sides of the stream, helping to get the water going along the tubes. This results in the water going faster and increasing efficiency. Repeating tubes and their pipes flow faster because the water flows in the pipes smoothly.

ELECTRIC LOCOMOTIVES

The first electric train was tested as far back as 1837. Unlike steam trains, electric locomotives do not carry fuel on-board. Instead, they are powered by electricity which can be supplied from overhead lines, a third rail or in storage such as batteries. Because electric trains can be powered by renewable energy sources, they are considered less polluting than steam or diesel trains.

The first electric passenger train was presented by Werner von Siemens at an exhibition in Berlin in 1879. Consisting of a small locomotive and three cars, it reached a speed of just 13km/h.

The ETR 200 is a record-breaking electric passenger train. It is widely considered one of the first ever high-speed trains and was put into service in 1936. In 1939, it broke the speed record for trains by reaching just over 201km/h.

The ICE (InterCity Express) is one of Germany's most successful electric trains. The third generation ICE 3, can reach speeds of 300km/h. Since 2018, it has run on entirely renewable energy sources.

DIESEL LOCOMOTIVES

In a diesel locomotive, the power comes from an engine that burns diesel oil. While a steam locomotive needed two people to crew it and hours to attain the right steam pressure, a diesel locomotive could simply be switched on and driven away, making them much easier and much cheaper to run. Rudolf Diesel patented his first diesel engine in 1898, but it wasn't until around 1912 that they were first used in a locomotive.

The famous DRG Class SVT 877 Hamburg Flyer, often referred to as the 'Flying Hamburger', was first put into service in 1933. Its smooth, rounded shape was influenced by Zeppelin airships allowing for minimal air resistance.

The Delic, built in 1956, was considered the most powerful diesel locomotive in the world at that time.

The Intercity 125 is one of the most successful diesel trains of all time. So named because it was designed to cruise at 125 mph (about 201 km/h) when in service, it also holds the all-time speed record for diesel trains of 238 km/h, which it reached in 1987.

- RAILWAYS OF THE WORLD - THE FFESTINIOG RAILWAY

The Fleethaving railway in North Wales is a marvel of 19th century engineering. It was built to transport slate by rail from the quarries around the town of Blaenau Ffestiog, right up to the mountains of Snowdonia, down to the harbour at Porthmadog. It opened in 1876 when a narrow gauge of 500mm was used. The narrow gauge is now the standard.

By the 1880s, the railway was preparing to reach work rating class that the horses couldn't keep up. There was also something inherent in a passenger service, which meant the railway had to be successful. The solution was for several small steam engines to be built, which were among the first narrow gauge locomotives in the world. By 1880, there were six working, the first had more than 100 horsepower.

Laurey's revolutionary idea was presented to the factory that same year. Engineer Robert Francis Farnie had patented the "Double Earler," an ingenious machine under license to this firm. This was in effect two inventors working hand in hand and sharing an equal part of la gloire, which was the equivalent of sharing too much for the United Fruit company. The first of these was called the Double Earler and the next 17 years another three Double Earlers were built for the factory. They were so successful that Robert Farnie allowed the factory to use his patent for free. However, something is certain to do this day.

Paso Doble Flare

Though Scott and Fran perform several ballroom dances throughout Strictly Ballroom, their rule-breaking paso doble is the most memorable. The Latin ballroom dance imitates a bullfight; the male dancer is the matador, while the female dancer is the red cape of a torero. After another heated argument with his mother, Scott arrives at Fran's house and confesses his desire to dance with her at the competition. However, Fran's Spanish family does not warmly receive his declaration. Fran's father, Ravi (Antonio Vargas, one of the world's leading flamenco dancers), is especially suspicious of the young man and demands to see his paso doble in action.

They gather on the wooden terrace, lit by lanterns with Fran's family playing live instruments, as Scott and Fran's dance is met by rousing laughter. Ravi can't just stand by and watch his son assume the murder position, head held high with smug confidence and effervescent flame. The family forms a ring in which Ravi challenges Scott with a "this is how it's done" glare. They look like two bullfighters facing off. Luhrmann holds an extreme close-up on the intensity of Ravi's forehead, while the sound design focuses on the increasingly loud clicking of his heels. Rapid fire editing cuts jump between close-ups of Ravi's dancing and Scott's wonderment. The fiery moment multiplies into a scene of schooling between the two men, who are very different from one another.

Ravi becomes Scott and Fran's unofficial dance coach to help them perfect their paso doble. Fran's grandfather Yi Yi (Antonio Bandini) also assists, the film Scott's chore to engage the rhythm of the music into his soul to help him "dance from the heart". Their nightly rehearsals are brought forward into the daylight, no longer hiding in the dark – it's a subtle callback to Fran's sentiment that "a life lived in fear is a life half lived". Luhrmann characterises such scenes with a narrative soundtrack composed of the noisy railway station, flamenco singing, the family's chugging, and the humming of maps.

OPPOSITE TOP: Fran (Gardner) and Ravi (Vargas) dance together. OPPOSITE BOTTOM: Scott (Emwiler) winning at the final. ABOVE: Scott (Emwiler) and Ravi (Vargas) perform the paso doble.

A 21-year-old DMCapt rolled the character's complicated bundle of emotions, cycling through all of these reactions in a few seconds. His anger is tangible in his arched eyebrows and towering expression as he faces the gun, but then comes shame. Luhrmann cuts to an extreme close-up of Ravi's expression. DMCapt's face is the only thing visible in the frame. Ravi's anger turns to regret as he is left from his mother's eyes and blood trickles down his cheeks. There is no soundtrack for Ravi's breakdown, just the patter of falling rain as he screams: "I am Ravi's fool!"

Luhrmann jumps so quickly between the tranquil love and agonised violence that there is no character left untouched by the threat of death. The murder of both Mercutio and Tybalt demonstrates that this burning desire to defeat the enemy household is all in vain. Through Tybalt killing Mercutio and Romeo killing Tybalt, Romeo has not only lost his best friend but left a devastating mark on the household's identity. The self-destruction of youth infatuation with Romeo's Juliet's heartbreaking conclusion as the two lovers tragically take their lives in each other's arms.

Luhrmann's Outback

On home soil, Luhrmann's epic drama captures the landscape of Australia with wonder. This vast summer romance over the landscapes as much as Lady Sarah and Dorothy's infatuation. As the pair roam across endless miles of land, driving cattle, cinema-ographer Mandy Walker highlights the non-blended Outback's outgrowing nature.

Luhrmann's signature style of visual splendour infuses with Walker's long domes of dusty scrubbed plains, incalculable sunsets and formidable mountains. As Walker sweeps over various terrains, the aerial shots are breathtakingly powerful. The cinematography focuses from the classic American western – capturing cattle drives like Hombre and Red River – with grand scale infused in the expansive Outback. Further bolstering Australia, unlike Jill Black's hyperactive editing, Dody Dorn and Michael McCook take a more restrained approach. The Outback lingers on the screen as viewers can properly absorb its grandeur.

Light is a central component of Luhrmann's storytelling. Walker's wide frames find each character under the blinding Australian sun, but the exposure quality of light and the noticeable absence of it imbues Australia's frames with a fantastical quality. Filming in Kunzea, a remote region of northern Western Australia, temperatures soared to a grueling 43°C and the intensity of sunlight hardened the cattle driving scenes. The sun is a guiding light but a punishing force in the outback, and sun never shines which the horses traverse.

Luhrmann's lens appreciates Australia's landscapes, whether observing King George atop a mountain or Lady Sarah trudging through the sands. The film explores through several characters and their differentiating methods as Luhrmann examines the beauty of the desert and plains while contemplating the harsh reality of the country's history.

THE CURTAIN RISES...

The Showman

Over three decades, Mark Anthony Luhrmann, who goes by the moniker Baz Luhrmann, has cemented himself as one of cinema's most recognisable filmmakers. The Australian film director, producer, writer and actor has worked across television, opera, theatre and music, but it is in the cinematic realm where he has really flourished. He is regarded as a contemporary auteur renowned for his theatrical aptitude, opulent aesthetic and sweeping romances.

Luhrmann is a showman as much as a director, known for conducting dramatic narratives that play out on a flamboyantly grand scale. Culturally, his significance spans the arts as he takes classic narrative structures and morphs them through new perspectives, not limiting himself to the boundaries of realism. This signature style marks the Australian filmmaker as a pioneering storyteller where the fusion of high and low pop culture creates an entirely singular body of films.

Icons of Cinema: Greta Gerwig

A New American Auteur

Once she stepped behind the camera to write and direct Lady Bird (2017), she announced herself as an extraordinary new filmmaking talent and a character of the late years of girlhood. Audiences fell head over heels in love with Saoirse Ronan's sharp-tongued, painfully real heroine. From then on, Gerwig's films would become touchstones for young women searching for themselves and for their experiences to be taken seriously. "I know what it is to waste things," says young heroine Tracy (Lola Kirke) in Misconduct (2015), one of the films she co-wrote with Baumbach – a sentiment that's a through line in all her work.

From Lady Bird to Little Women (2019) to Barbie (2023) and now The Chronicles of Narnia, Gerwig has embraced her exuberant and crafted women's stories of longing and self-realisation on even bigger canvases. From a childhood spellbound by Technicolor Hollywood musicals like Singin' in the Rain (1952) to enchanting I'm Just Ken in Barbie, Gerwig has brought her creative dreams to life – dreams that are still grounded in reality and emotion. In doing so, she has won admiration from directors as renowned as Steven Spielberg, Barry Jenkins, James Cameron and Jon Campkin. She is the only director whose first three films have all been nominated for the Academy Award for Best Picture, and in 2024 she became the first American female director to be Best President at the Cannes Film Festival.

Sacramento

Greta Celene Gerwig was born on Thursday, 4 August, 1983, just among the jostling of New York City, not in the dream factory of Los Angeles, but in the decidedly more banal Sacramento, California's state capital. Gerwig was one of three children and her mother Christine worked as a nurse while her father Gordon worked for a credit union, offering small business loans.

But both parents maintained an artistic sensibility: Gordon would keep a record of his dreams, played jazz music and introduced his daughter to Monty Python, while Christine had an eye for repurposing secondhand clothing. They didn't appear of television or, finally enough, of Barbie dolls. Gerwig has described herself as an energetic, enthusiastic child, a self-confessed busy bee who in kindergarten tried to direct her own playmates in a production of Andrew Lloyd Webber's Sunset Boulevard. She adored reading, and would've gone to hell to know all day every day if her mother had let her. Christine became worried about the cult-like intensity of her daughter's ballet teacher, so enrolled her in hip-hop dance classes instead.

Gerwig's biography will sound familiar to you if you've ever seen Lady Bird – she wore many of her early experiences into the script, from spending her teenage years in a post-9/11

Sacramento, the idiosyncrasy of her Catholic high school, to her desire to escape the West Coast for college. She even revealed that she had her first kiss with a boy who eventually came out as gay – an experience Lady Bird has with Danny (Lucas Hedges).

But Gerwig is adamant that Lady Bird is not as all like herself at that age. Though she did have something even with her mother, Gerwig was much more of a rule-follower at school, and she's admitted that Lady Bird is a heavier story, a girl who was more wildly herself than Gerwig ever was.

which Gerwig first saw at the age of five. Growing up, her biggest celebrity crush was not Greta Kelly, which was what she was apart from her friends, though like every 9th girl she also loved Leonardo DiCaprio.

Her imagination was sparked, and she discovered other classic Hollywood musicals like Star 80 or St. Louis (1944), The American in Paris (1951), Goldwyn (1955) and the films of tap-dancing screen legend Fred Astaire.

Rather than developing a passion for film, she initially opted to be a ballet dancer or musical theatre performer. This was probably also thanks to occasionally accompanying her father on business trips to New York and London and being taken to Andrew Lloyd Webber's stage musicals. And yet the Hollywood musical would also come to be an enormous influence on her later film work, most especially the dreamworld of Barbie.

OPPOSITE: Gerwig as the young heroine Tracy in Misconduct (2015)

"I wanna go where culture is!"

Like Lady Bird, Gerwig dreamed of attending college on the East Coast and wanted to study musical theatre. But she quickly stalled: she was rejected from every acting college course she applied for, and her parents weren't wild about her pursuing something so impractical for such high tuition fees.

14

She eventually graduated from Barnard College at Columbia University in New York City with a degree in English and philosophy, but didn't abandon her love of the stage. She performed in an improv comedy group with future comedian, actress and Saturday Night Live cast member Kate McKinnon. Twenty years later, Gerwig would offer McKinnon the role of Weird Barbie, remembering the madcap musicals the pair devised together in college. It was also during her college years that she first discovered film as an art form.

Having graduated, Gerwig's plan was to gain a master's degree in playwriting, but again she was rejected from all the programs she applied for. Though she was dismissed by the academic side of the arts, she didn't give up. Like many of her heroines, she would follow her path in her own way, with tenacity and sheer force of talent.

Icons of Cinema: Wes Anderson

The Eccentric Filmmaker

Anderson was born on May 1st, 1969, to a mother who was a realist and archaeologist and a father who worked in advertising. Raised in Houston, Texas, he is the second of three boys, sandwiched between older brother physician Mel and younger brother Eric, an artist whose paintings have featured in Anderson's films.

His love of cinema began with a childhood obsession with Star Wars and developed into making short films with his father's Super 8 film camera. Then, when Anderson was eight, his family life was shaken up by his parents' divorce. Anderson regards this as a crucial childhood event that profoundly impacted him. At school, a teacher spotted his potential and allowed Anderson to channel his energy into putting on plays for the class. This creative outlet set the stage for the close but subtle relationship between Anderson's life and artistic endeavours.

Anderson may not have gone to film school – he studied philosophy at the University of Texas at Austin, which explains his fascination with the human psyche – but he is a student of cinema. He is a self-educated cinephile who spent his youth watching films created by arthouse directors and Hollywood greats. Discovering the likes of François Truffaut, Sergio Leone, Jean Renoir and Orson Welles would inform his filmmaking style. Anderson carried forward these cinematic lessons and has remarked that each of his films includes a cornucopia of cinematic references.

Anderson's Cinematic Universe

The Anderson cinematic universe is an expansive array of tales from underground to out to sea, close to home to outer space, told via live-action and stop-motion. To date, Anderson has made 11 feature films and 10 shorts.

Anderson's feature debut was the crime comedy Rushmore (1999), an adaptation of his short film of the same name. Anderson's sophomore feature followed, the more cult classic 10 Things I Hate About You (1999), which earned him his first major award nomination: a Golden Globe.

Entering the 2000s, Anderson's faithful comedy drama The Royal Tenenbaums (2001) led to his first Academy Award nomination. The Life Aquatic with Steve Zissou (2004) took the director deep underwater, while The Darjeeling Limited (2007) took him to India on a sleeper train.

Then, the director swapped humans for progress in his stop-motion animation Fantastic Mr. Fox (2009), based on the Roald Dahl novel of the same name.

Anderson's seventh film was Moonrise Kingdom (2012), a story about a boy's first experience of love. Then came The Grand Budapest Hotel (2014). Anderson's greatest commercial and critical success, rewarded for its pared aesthetic and symmetrical cinematography.

He revisited stop-motion with Isle of Dogs (2018), once again exploring the inner lives of anthropomorphic animals. The French Dispatch (2021) followed as a love letter to journalism. With Don't Look Up (2021), Anderson introduces extraterrestrials to a Junior Stanger and Space Cadet convention.

Most recently, Anderson's The Wonderful Story of Henry Sugar and Tvotv (2024), an adaptation of two of Dahl's short stories, was released on Netflix.

What makes an Anderson film?

Anderson's filmic canon transcends easy categorisation, but the director's cinematic identity of surreal whimsy, off-the-wall humour and idiosyncratic thematics is distinctly Andersonian. Anderson is renowned for his directorial hallmarks, including symmetrical frames, sherbet colour composition, stylish camera movement and unrelenting attention to mise-en-scène detail. These quintessentially Andersonian nuances have been present from the outset of the homegrown auteur's career and continue to be essential to his storytelling.

14

As well as his distinct visuals, Anderson's films are united thematically. He has carved out a distinct tone of quirky comedy and poignant drama. His original filmmaking voice repeatedly tackles themes of brotherhood rivalry, dysfunctional families and troubled adolescents. All his films operate in a realm of heightened realism where storybook motifs (vignettes and stories within stories) are layered. These tales often play out with characters experiencing intense breakdowns and breakthroughs as they transform, yet remain unresolved. Very rarely are these stories tied up with a neat bow.

Street Style: Dr. Martens

Visual history of the iconic street style brand.

Street Style: Dr. Martens

The original pair of Dr. Martens' AirWair shoes were still a far cry from the instantly recognisable models the brand is known for today. The uppers were much more minimal in decoration and the soles were much wider with a very visible contrast thanks to a lighter coloured sole.

The first mass produced designs have more in common with a modern-day hybrid dress shoe than the sleek, utilitarian shapes of popular Dr. Martens styles, now set atop a semi-translucent lug sole. Perhaps the unintentionally fashion-forward aesthetic is one of the reasons why women gravitated towards them long before most conservatively-dressed men did. It's hard to imagine one trying to pull these off within the strict dress codes of the 1950s, when leather-soled, dark hard bottom footwear was still the norm for doing business. But looking back now, it set the perfect stage for what Dr. Martens would become: the ultimate anti-dress shoe.

The Birth of Bouncing Soles

Now that you've briefly had a glimpse at Dr. Martens' future, it's time to rediscover the past. How did a German town-based business so distinctively British? That story begins in 1901. A man named Benjamin Griggs and his business partner, Ephraim Jones joined a company to manufacture boots in Wollaston, north Northamptonshire. By 1901, they had incorporated as R. Griggs & Co. Ltd., eventually becoming the R. Griggs Group.

In just a couple of decades, Wollaston had become one of England's shoemaking capitals. As early as 1881, one of its shoe factories was established as a workers' co-operative of local cobbler (incidentally 'The Cuffers'), and it was later as the Northamptonshire Productive Society, still making shoes as 1920s, when it manufactured many well-known high-end footwear brands.

But the R. Griggs Group continued to flourish well into the 1950s under the leadership of Bill Griggs, who inherited the family business around that time. His fortune would grow even more when he decided to take a risk in 1959. Backing on the success of their fledgling footwear business, Dr. Klaus Martens and Dr. Robert Fark began soliciting advertisements for Dr. Martens' AirWair shoes in international magazines. Griggs saw the fit in this innovative air-cushioned sole by two German doctors and instantly recognised its potential. After all, having grown up in factories his whole life, he understood the need for sturdy, robust work boots, but also knew how uncomfortable they could be.

Ironically, the rest of his family disagreed with his foresight, seeing the air-cushioned sole as a gimmick, the kind of fluff in the past that would fade out over time while leather-soled boots would be around forever. But he treated his intuition and went ahead to meet with Dr. Martens and Dr. Fark, later developing a rapport with them and taking the exclusive licence for their AirWair-soled shoes in the United Kingdom.

ABOVE: Bill Griggs, longtime owner of the R. Griggs Group that went on to own all of Dr. Martens.

Mod Squad

One of the most prominent British music subcultures to arise in the 1960s and early 1960s was the Mod subculture - or 'Mod' for short. Musical taste was just one part of the complete lifestyle. Mods were dressed with clean-cut fashion pieces like polo shirts, suit jackets and military issue M-51 field jackets, especially ones embellished with the signature roundel of the Royal Air Force. It was a subculture focused on executing everything with intention - the hair you had, the clothes you wore, the music you listened to and the scooter you drove.

As avid fans of The Who, it's no surprise that Dr. Martens became an inimitable part of Mod's uniform. The sleek lines of the boots looked good with suits and usually complemented the minimalist style of the subculture and could also be worn on the Mod vehicle of choice: the Vespa scooter.

RIGHT: Two scooter-riding mods take a breather outside Haringey's Alexandra Road in 1965.

The Spring Behind Every Step

It's hard to believe that an orthopaedic shoe could be synonymous with rebellious style around the world. Yet that is what the Dr. Martens brand continues to represent to millions of its ardent fans.

It can be challenging to maintain one's cool factor over the decades, but by intentionally aligning itself with subcultural style, the nearly octogenarian footwear manufacturer hasn't lost a single step when it comes to cultivating an alternative type of timeless footwear. Considering the United Kingdom also has a rich history of fine Savile Row tailoring, Scottish wools and ruggedly elegant Harris Tweeds, fashion houses like Burberry and tastefully tough outerwear from brands like Barbour, Dr. Martens is singular in that canon of classic British style. Indeed, Dr. Martens is a staunch iconoclast, a bastion of anti-establishment ideals for people who prefer to dress against the grain.

But despite the modern connotation of what Dr. Martens has become, its roots are built on a comfortable foundation. Dr. Klaus Martens first conceived of the footwear's signature 'AirWair' sole while recuperating from a World War II foot injury.

Finding his standard-issue German Army boot severely uncomfortable for his ailing foot, he utilised soft leather for the upper and repurposed tyre rubbers to create an air-padded sole. The resulting shoe is equal parts built to last and equal parts built to live in. It's no wonder that punk rockers and hip-hop artists alike have graced thousands of stages in a pair of Dr. Martens over the years - it's a shoe made for those who live out loud. The story of how a purpose-driven product came to define one of today's most exciting lifestyle brands is one that spans a growing connection between clothing and culture. When you combine a timeless product with a chameleon-like ability to mean different things to different people, you get a shoe that is undeniably trend-proof.

Street Style: Nike

Visual history of the iconic street style brand.

- Illustrated with full colour photographs showcasing the brand's history.

Street Style: Nike

Nike's terms included $500,000 in cash for five years, an endorsement figure that was unprecedented in that era. The highest sneaker endorsement before 1984 was New Balance's deal with the Los Angeles Lakers' Larry Bird for $150,000 a year for eight years. Other perks offered to Jordan included stock options and a custom-built shoe for the basketball player to play in.

There were some stipulations, however. Nike wrote a clause in the initial contract that required Jordan to accomplish one of three things - win NBA Rookie of the Year, to become an All-Star, or to average 20 points per game within his first three years. If Jordan didn't, Nike reserved the right to end the deal two years early.

By the time Jordan's first year in the NBA ended, he averaged 28 points per game after playing every game of the season. Not only did he win Rookie of the Year honors during the 1984-85 season, but the rising star became the darling of the League with his acrobatic style of play that made the name of his signature Nike shoe synonymous with Jordan.

Nike made over $500 million in revenue thanks to the sale of Air Jordans by the end of that first year - a new industry standard for how trends would market, design and storytelling through signature products was set.

Max Blackman's marketing campaign still made way for new icons to step in to advertise the Air Jordan 7. Bugs Bunny and the Looney Tunes. Among the number three Jordan, Bugs joined Jordan for a series of memorable commercials and print ads promoting the Air Jordan 7. One notable iteration of the shoe was a white-based colorway nicknamed 'Hare,' paying homage to Bugs' involvement.

The Air Jordan 7 gained even more mainstream exposure when Jordan showcased the 'Bugs Bunny' colorway in Michael Jackson's music video for 'Just.' This collaboration between the two biggest cultural icons of their time further solidified the Air Jordan 7's place in sneaker and pop culture history.

Nike Air Max 180

The Nike Air Max 180 was a collaborative effort between two giants in the footwear design industry: Timberland and Bruce Kilgore. At the time of its creation in 1991, Timberland was renowned for his groundbreaking work on previous Air Max models, pushing the boundaries of sneaker design and technology. Meanwhile, Kilgore had achieved legendary status for his iconic creation, the Air Force 1. Together, they set out to make Air Max bigger and better than it had ever been.

The duo's goal for the shoe was to once again make Nike's patented Air technology larger and more visible than it had ever been. To achieve this, they based it on a horseshoe concept for the Air unit, which allowed for increased visibility along the sides and underfoot of the shoe. They utilized a time-molding process to create a version of the bag that provided maximum visibility and impact absorption. Moreover, the Air 180 was the first shoe to feature a swoosh on the outside midsole.

directly to the Air unit, further enhancing its visibility and performance capabilities. The heightened visibility of the Air technology directly inspired the name Air 180.

During a period when Michael Jordan's endorsement could significantly impact any product, he was photographed wearing a pair of Nike Air 180s in the 'Concord' colorway for a photo shoot preceding the 1992 Olympics. This high-profile shoot provided the Air 180 model with exposure to a wider audience and bolstered its mainstream appeal.

While the Nike Air 180 didn't initially receive the same level of fanfare as its contemporaries, its significance and appreciation have grown considerably over the years. As time has passed, the Air 180 has emerged as a standout and essential release within the Nike Air Max series.

'Well, I don't love it,' Knight was heard saying upon the first review. 'But it will grow on me.'

The Swoosh definitely grew on Knight as the shape also bore a resemblance to the wings on the Greek goddess that Nike was named after. It would go on to become one of the most well-known logos in the world.

While Davidson was initially paid just $35 for her design, Knight saw her as one of the original minds behind the brand and wanted to acknowledge this. In 1983, the founder rewarded Davidson with 500 shares of Nike, as well as a golden ring.

with a Swoosh-shaped diamond, which is possibly the biggest remuneration for any logo design in history.

The marking is such a part of Nike culture that every new athlete that signs with the brand is tasked to draw their own version of the Swoosh. There have been different evolutions of the Swoosh and you can see the various iterations if you look through Nike's back-catalogue of products. Designer and Nike collaborator Virgil Abloh nodded to Davidson's original Swoosh design on the cover of his book Something's Off and the marking has been reversed on signature product for eccentric players, like Dennis Rodman's Air Darwin sneaker. But the essence of the Swoosh remains in its simplicity, its elegance and the way it represents movement.

Tiffany & Co.: The Story Behind the Style

The King of Diamonds: Charles Lewis Tiffany

Charles Lewis Tiffany, the man who would go on to win the moniker of New York's 'King of Diamonds', did not lead from a long line of jewellers. His start in life was more modest, making his name in high society all the more glittering.

Tiffany was born in 1812 in Canton and Ohio. Tiffany, and grew up in the small town of Killbuck, Connecticut. The major business of the town was the production of cotton goods, and the family owned a manufacturing company. Tiffany was educated at local schools in the area before joining his father in the family cotton business.

By 1837, Tiffany felt restless. No longer satisfied by working at home with his family, he began to envision how he could make his own mark in business. He turned up with a school friend, J. R. Young, and the duo set in motion a plan to open a stationary store in New York City. With a $1,000 loan from Charles' father, the ambitious 25-year-old made the 150-mile journey north. The store, named Tiffany & Young, opened its doors at 259 Broadway that same year, and on its first day, $4.98 rang through the till.

Tiffany & Young soon began to expand its remit, stocking glassware, cutlery, porcelain, clocks and jewellery, and began to develop a reputation as a purveyor of fine goods of taste. In 1841, the business expanded with the addition of a third partner, J. L. Ellis, and was renamed Tiffany, Young & Ellis. The trio expanded the store, doubling its size by moving the adjacent unit, and continued to increase the quality of the goods they sold, with Young making buying trips to Europe to pick out English and Italian jewellery.

It was, in fact, political events in Europe that would be the making of this American luxury success story. In 1848, the states quo resulted in significant revolutions enough to topple European monarchies and strip aristocracies of their power and wealth. It was a societal upheaval known as the Springtime of Nations. More than 50 countries were inspired by this, but none more so than France, where the monarchy was overthrown and replaced with a republic. Such widespread panic and disruption had to impact on the price of diamonds, and Tiffany, Young & Ellis prospered. By now, the firm was manufacturing its own jewellery, and the opportunity to pick up diamonds at low prices put them at an advantage. The stocking of the storehouse also housed some important gems – the likes of which had never been seen in America before – and Tiffany secured a number of important business, including the collection of Hungary's Prince Esterházy.

In 1853, Young and Ellis decided to retire from the business, but Charles Lewis Tiffany was far from finished. He found new partners to work with, and the business was, at this point, renamed Tiffany & Company. Tiffany would go on to build his empire, grabbing headlines along the way. By the 1860s, the business was well established as an expert in choice for the rich and the famous, both for its jewellery and its top-quality silver. In 1862, President Abraham Lincoln purchased a set of pearl necklaces and earrings from Tiffany & Co. for his wife Mary Todd Lincoln, who wore them to her husband's inauguration ball.

In 1870, Tiffany & Co. moved into a large new store in New York's Union Square, marking the beginning of a major decade for the jeweller one in which Charles Lewis Tiffany would earn the title the King of Diamonds. It was a single purchase that would truly justify Tiffany into the high-jewellery atmosphere – a 237.42ct rough fancy yellow diamond. When cut and polished, what emerged was a diamond of staggering enormous proportions for a rare yellow diamond of that quality. It weighed 128.54ct and was named the Tiffany Diamond.

If the purchase of this new world famous stone, which is on permanent display at Tiffany & Co.'s Fifth Avenue store in New York, signalled Tiffany's intention to dominate the diamond market, his groundbreaking creation eight years later sealed the deal. Seeking to celebrate the beauty of diamonds, Tiffany designed an engagement ring in 1886 that remains a sought-after classic to this day. The Tiffany Setting engagement ring kicked back against the over-fussy designs of the time with a clean, minimalist band and a six-prong setting that lifted the diamond above the ring. The purpose for this innovative setting was to allow light to flow through the stone, and therefore maximise the sparkle. It was a huge hit, and the iconic design has become synonymous with engagement rings.

Just 15 years before his death, Tiffany pulled off a final coup. The aftermath of the French Revolution that had gifted Tiffany an abundance of important gems in 1848 and its early credibility in high-jewellery circles rumbled on. In 1887, the French government was masterminding a plan to sell the crown jewels of its fallen monarchy. Outwardly, it claimed that a democracy such as France had no need for "objects of luxury, devoid of usefulness and moral worth". The rumour mill suggested that it was in fact afraid of a power grab by Bourbons, Orleanists or Bonapartists, who might use ownership of the jewels to claim a right to rule. Tiffany cared little for this political posturing, but he did see an opportunity in it. He travelled to Paris to attend the auction of the French crown jewels at the Louvre. He sat in the audience, ready to make his bids, along with fellow jewellers, including a young Frédéric Boucheron, and Orleanists, members of the French royal family, whose pockets proved too shallow on the day to win back their family heirlooms.

When the final strike of the gavel fell, Charles Lewis Tiffany had in his possession close to a third of the historic crown jewels. He placed them in specially crafted red-leather boxes, embossed in gold with the words Diamants de la Couronne, translating from French as Crown Diamonds. Inside, impressed on the silk lining in the lid, was Tiffany & Co. New York and Paris, thus securing Tiffany & Co.'s place in the history books as a purveyor of royal jewels and his own coronation as the King of Diamonds.

Rolex: The Story Behind the Style

The World's Most Famous Watch Brand

Rolex has become shorthand for luxury. There is no watch you can strap on to your wrist that will be recognised for the status symbol it is quicker than a Rolex. And for many, this is the appeal.

Yet there was a time when the name Rolex – a word completely made up by the brand's founder Hans Wilsdorf – was not famous. It would take hard work, boundary pushing and a lot of self-belief on the part of Wilsdorf, a German orphan, to jettison the name into the upper echelons of horology; starting with convincing the pocket watch-wearing gentleman of the early 20th century that they wanted to wear the time on their wrist at all.

As you will discover, Rolex won its place in history by constantly questioning what was possible and innovating at all costs. It pioneered so many elements of watchmaking and design that are standard today, such as waterproof watches, placing a date window on the dial, and even removing the need to wind our watches.

It also found its way into some of the most exciting moments in history by placing Rolex watches on the wrists of adventurers and explorers. Its watches have travelled to the world's highest peaks and to the depths of the ocean; they have survived extremes of temperature, speed and pressure.

The story of Rolex is so much more than that of its watches. It is one of epic ambition and vision. What started out as a one-man band in London's Hatton Garden would become the epicentre of the Swiss watchmaking industry, and one of the most recognisable and coveted brands in the world.

Cartier: The Story Behind the Style

The Beginnings of Cartier

The house of Cartier started with one man, Louis-François Cartier, but it would take a family to make it one of the most recognized and respected jewellers in history.

It was, in fact, Louis-François' father, Pierre Cartier, who set the dynasty in motion, although he could never have imagined the consequences of his actions at the time. Pierre had fought in the Napoleonic wars and spent time locked in the prison ships docked off the harbour at Portsmouth in Britain. When the war ended in 1815, Pierre returned to Paris, destitute and aimless. He would go on to find employment as a watchmaker and have five children with his wife Elisabeth, a washerwoman.

The eldest of the children born into this working-class Parisian family was Louis-François, and when he was barely out of school, his father sent him to work as an apprentice in a jewellery workshop owned by Adolphe Picard on Rue Montorgueil in Paris. It was a tough education – days were long and grueling and order was maintained with a whip – but he stayed and in 1847, at the age of 27, Louis-François bought the business from Picard, renaming it Cartier.

OPPOSITE: Cartier founder, Louis-François Cartier.

His makers mark – a symbol hallmarked into every piece of Cartier jewellery to authenticate it – was his initials, L. C., separated with an arc of letters playing cool, perhaps to a nod to the financial gamble he was taking. Luckily, the risk paid off and the Cartier business thrived and expanded. In 1866, Princess Mathilde, a cousin of Emperor Napoleon III, purchased one of its jewels, and the Cartier name was suddenly whispered among Parisian high society, even reaching the international elite. Three years later, Louis-François bought Gillon, a Parisian jeweller better known than his own, and renamed his business Cartier Gillon.

OPPOSITE RIGHT: Pierre Cartier playing golf in 1860.

Louis-François' son Alfred Cartier took over the family business in 1874, but it was the arrival of his own three sons – the highly ambitious Louis, Pierre and Jacques – that would really shake up the jeweller and initiate its ascendancy to the global brand we know today. The brotherly revolution started with Louis, who joined the maison in 1898. A year later he spearheaded the remaining of the business, stripping away Gillon to once again be known simply as Cartier. At the same time, the business opened a boutique at 13 rue de la Paix, just a stone's throw from Place Vendôme, the heartland of luxury jewellery in Paris. This venture was funded by an enormous dowry levied through a strategic arranged marriage to Antoinette Caroline Warth, granddaughter of world-famous composer Charles Frederick Worth.

Cartier garnered a reputation for innovation, and the title of jeweller would later live by a motto, 'Never copy, only create'. One of Louis' most successful experiments at the close of the 19th century was to use platinum in place of gold. This precious metal is now widely used by jewellers across the world, but at the time it was purely an industrial metal and thus revolutionary in the jewellery market. The white metal, which, unlike silver, does not tarnish, is highly malleable and allowed Cartier to create delicate, diamond-set jewels inspired by those owned by 18th-century French aristocrats, a stark contrast to the heavier, colorful, Romantic Art Nouveau jewels popular at the time. A signature Cartier Garsfield style emerged, swirling across platinum tiaras, necklaces and earrings, that won over well-heeled women, including royals, in Europe and the United States.

Cartier's son Alfred Cartier took over the family business in 1874, but it was the arrival of his own three sons – the highly ambitious Louis, Pierre and Jacques – that would really shake up the jeweller and initiate its ascendancy to the global brand we know today. The brotherly revolution started with Louis, who joined the maison in 1898. A year later he spearheaded the remaining Pierre Cartier, the second eldest of the brothers, would be an agitator in his own right, championing the global expansion of the brand's retail empire. He started by opening a Cartier boutique on New Burlington Street in London in 1902, where the brand showcased a new style of geometric, abstract jewels with unusual colour combinations that would lay the foundations for the Art Deco jewellery movement.

The first decade of the 20th century was an important time for Cartier. In 1904, the jeweller received its first royal certificate from King Edward VII of Britain, and soon started to supply many other royal courts including those of Russia, Spain and Siam (now Thailand). In the same year, Louis Cartier created what he believed to be the first ever men's wristwatch for aviator Alberto Santos-Dumont.

Pierre, meanwhile, embarked on a journey to Russia; one that would prove profitable in commissions from its high society, but also as a source of inspiration that would shape Cartier's jewellery designs for years to come.

In 1909, Pierre would focus his wanderlust on America, opening a Cartier boutique on New York's Fifth Avenue; the precursor to its famous flagship store further up the street, the purchase of which he would famously broker a decade later in exchange for a string of pearls. Back in London, his younger brother Jacques stepped in to take over its British branch. That same year, Cartier moved uptown to a prestigious Bond Street address, where it remains to this day.

As Cartier's man in Britain, and, as such, jeweller to King George V, Jacques joined members of the aristocracy on a trip to India for the Delhi Durbar in 1911. It was an event to commemorate the coronation of the King, with two weeks of festivities, during which King George V and Queen Mary would be proclaimed Emperor and Empress of India. This adventure to a new land would also prove to be a seminal trip for the house of Cartier. Jacques' sociable nature and love of travel would win ground-breaking commissions from India's rich, jewel-loving maharajas and inspire a whole new category of jewellery, pioneered by Cartier and much copied by other companies.

Vivienne Westwood: The Story Behind the Style

Derbyshire Days

Vivienne Isabel Swire was born on April 8 1941 to Gordon and Dora Swire at the Partington Maternity Home, Glossop. The future fashion revolutionary had one sister, Olga Swire, born 1945, and one brother, Gordon Swire, born 1946. She grew up in the parish of Tintwistle, Derbyshire (which was formerly part of Cheshire until 1974), both during and after World War II, enjoying what has been recounted as a fairly idyllic childhood, living at the semi-constructed Millbrook Cottage and playing outside until late.

The young Swire clan were encouraged to be creative and make things more than they were encouraged to read. Vivienne knew from a young age that she was good at making things, notably models at school, and she especially enjoyed sewing classes. Her mother would often make them clothes, and worked as a weaver in a local cotton factory.

The young Vivienne – who remembers having a passionate spirit from an early age – attended Hollingworth and Tintwistle Primary Schools from 1946 to 1952, at which point she passed the scholarship exam for Glossop Grammar School. She continued to be good at art during her time at Glossop Grammar, and considered attending art school.

Among Westwood's most formative fashion memories are the make-do-and-mend philosophy that came to define Britain in austerity, as well as the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in 1953, when Vivienne was 12 years old. The influence of these two events can be seen throughout every era of her designs, and the make-do-and-mend philosophy is evident in the motto "Buy Less. Choose Well. Make it Last", which the brand still promotes to this day. She expertly blended the elements of customisation, tradition and austerity together to create her own unique brand, which is now contrasted by her husband Andreas Konevskis.

Malcolm McLaren

Westwood met Malcolm McLaren in 1965. An art student and a friend of her younger brother, Gordon, he would go on to become her creative collaborator for almost the next 20 years. Malcolm is an enigma with the punk movement as Vivienne, and their partnership is legendary. He was something of a maverick of marketing stunts and disruption, before such things became commonplace in contemporary fashion. The pair were in a relationship for a time but never seem to have married.

Malcolm was interested in politics and was fascinated by the French Situationists, a creative culture of writers and artists who wished to eradicate capitalism through acts of everyday life. He was a driving force in bringing politics, provocations, society and culture into Westwood's world. She found him to be charismatic and knowledgeable, but also full of contradictions.

In 1967, they had a son, Joseph Ferdinand Gert, who would go on to follow in his parents' footsteps and enter the world of fashion. He founded the very successful lingerie company, Agent Provocateur.

It was in the early 1970s that McLaren and Westwood began to build their empire. Malcolm, by this point, had left art school and Vivienne was about to quit teaching. The plan had been to sell vintage records together, and there was talk of setting up a stall. But a retail opportunity – via a new friend – on King's Road was about to arise.

Tommy Roberts, of the legendary Mr Freedom fashion business, took over the lease of 438 King's Road in 1969. He and his business partner, the fashion entrepreneur Trevor Miller, were well-known for their eclectic and daring fashion eye which appealed to the glitzy elite of the 1960s. It was under Miller's control the shop was renamed Paradise Garage, the spot was already well-known for fashion.

Vivienne and Malcolm, who were regulars on King's Road, ended up leasing the back of 438 King's Road, before taking the whole thing over and rebranding it. It would be known over the coming years as Let It Be Rock, Too Fast To Live, Too Young To Die and Sex and Sublimation, all of which would encompass the raucous, confrontational and non-conformist nature of McLaren and Westwood. Eventually the shop would come to define the varied-but-defined style we know as punk today.

A Revolutionary is Born

There are few British designers, or brands, that have made quite as much of an impact on the fashion landscape as Vivienne Westwood. A fashion designer of both cult and commercial success (which is a rare combination), she was a punk and a pioneer, a rebel and a provocateur, an activist and a change-maker.

Over the course of a career that spanned half a century, Dame Vivienne Westwood would become synonymous with the British punk scene. Punk is what immediately springs to mind for most when her name is mentioned, along with the King's Road, corsets, platforms, tartan, crinolines, pirate boots, sustainability and climate change awareness. The list goes on. Her shows and interviews have become legendary – she is famous for using fashion as a platform to speak out on the issues she cared most about.

There is no doubt that Westwood's affinity for fashion history has helped her designs stand out. They are often historically informed, yet never to the point that they look odd. Where something shouldn't work, it always did, thanks to Vivienne's ability to balance the old with the modern – she was a genius when it came to style mashups. And the original Vivienne Westwood aesthetic rooted in a DIY approach never fully went away. Her designs feel intrinsically British and perfectly eccentric.

Westwood was the original multi-hyphenate and, in many ways, light years ahead of her time. She has inspired generations of designers that came after her, whether established and successful or aspiring and eager. Fashion critics even noted whiffs of her spirit at the London Fashion Week collections of autumn/winter 2023, which took place in February 2023, after her death. It's no wonder that her name is up there with the likes of Yves Saint Laurent, Christian Lacroix and the late great Karl Lagerfeld.

Bulgari: The Story Behind the Style

Elizabeth Taylor

One of Bulgari's most famous clients in its La Dolce Vita era – and long afterwards – was Elizabeth Taylor. The American actress first discovered Bulgari when she was filming Cleopatra in 1962. Some of the film was shot on location in Italy, and it is said that when she had time between takes, or wished to escape the paparazzi, she would head to Via Condotti to try on Bulgari's masterpieces. When she did, she was allowed to enter through a secret side door that provided her with a private courtyard in which to park.

Taylor was a famous jewellery collector, and often negotiated pieces of jewellery as part of her film contracts. She even published a book about her obsession in 2002 titled Elizabeth Taylor: My Love Affair with Jewellery. Therefore, it was little wonder that downtime in Rome led her to Bulgari.

Taylor's portrayal of Cleopatra also helped to make a Bulgari icon truly iconic: the Serpenti watch. Although she didn't wear her watch during filming, she was photographed wearing it on set for a publicity still, and the snake-like design chimed perfectly with the Egyptian theme of the film. Her endorsement of the Serpenti watch transformed a quirky accessory created by a local Roman jeweller into a global icon.

Bulgari wasn't the only burgeoning love affair in Taylor's life at that time. She was also starting a romance with her Cleopatra co-star Richard Burton, who would become her movement made it another record breaker. The ultra-thin minute repeater movement – housed in a titanium case to amplify the sound of the chiming mechanism that is the hallmark of this complication – was 3.12mm thick.

The following year, Bulgari presented another ultra-thin watch. The Octo Finissimo Automatic was not complex in terms of watchmaking, but it set a new record for size as the thinnest automatic watch on the market at 5.15mm, with a movement just 2.23mm tall.

Bulgari's next attempt would break two records. In 2018, it presented the Octo Finissimo Tourbillon Automatic. It was the thinnest automatic watch at 3.95mm, and also the thinnest tourbillon in the world.

The obsession with record-breaking ultra-thin watchmaking rolled on. In 2019, the Octo Finissimo Chronograph GMT became the thinnest mechanical chronograph movement at 3.3mm, set in a 6.7mm titanium case. In 2020, the Octo Finissimo Tourbillon Chronograph Skeleton Automatic was named the thinnest tourbillon chronograph with a case depth of 3.5mm. And in 2021, the Octo Finissimo Perpetual Calendar became the thinnest perpetual calendar watch at 5mm thick.

In 2022, to mark the 10-year anniversary of the relaunch of the Octo line, Bulgari presented another impressive watch that smashed the others out of the park. The Octo Finissimo Ultra became the thinnest mechanical watch on the planet, with a case size of just 1.8mm.

New York

New York was the location of the brand's first international store since Serbelloni's early expansion ended. The brand's products were already being sold in the US through an agent, but in 1972 it opened a boutique within the Pierre Hotel on the edge of Central Park.

In America, Bulgari positioned itself as luxury jewellery for women who wanted to have fun. It was tapping into the easy-going, carefree zeitgeist. In a campaign starring the American singer Cher, Bulgari described its jewels as "real, but not too serious". In that campaign, Cher was wearing a collection called Stars and Stripes that Bulgari had created to celebrate the Pierre boutique opening. The collection used coral, lapis lazuli, enamel and diamonds to create stars and stripes motifs in reference to the American flag.

Bulgari added pieces to the Stars and Stripes collection throughout the 1970s and into the early 1980s, but today it is a rare find on the secondary market, making it the holy grail for Bulgari collectors.

A special Stars and Stripes ring was made for former First Lady Nancy Reagan to wear at the anniversary celebration of the Statue of Liberty. The ring on the gold ring was encrusted with rubies, blue sapphires and diamonds. The ring came up for sale at Sotheby's in 2016 and fetched $119,000.

By the late 1980s, Bulgari had outgrown its Pierre Hotel boutique and moved to a larger location at 730 Fifth

Bulgari's First Signature Design

Every great jewellery house needs a signature design, and for Bulgari its first was the Trombino ring, which was created in 1932. The design was a labour of love for Giorgio

Bulgari, quite literally: it started out as a sketch for a ring with which he hoped to propose to Leonilde Gulienetti. For someone as passionate about jewels as Giorgio, the ring had to be perfect.

His design was for a ring that would elevate the central stone above the band, creating a sense of volume. This prominent setting is what inspired the name Trombino, which translates from Italian as "little trumpet", as the profile does indeed look trumpet-like.

He worked purely in white diamonds, as was the fashion at the time. As well as a central stone, diamonds crowded the band, but rather than simply creating a blanket of stones in a pavé setting, Giorgio sought to add a little flair.

In addition to pavé diamonds, he added graduated baguette-cut diamonds that led away from the central stone, almost like a ladder. This placement of baguettes created an even more prominent stage for that elevated central diamond, drawing the eye to it.

Giorgio was delighted with his final design, and steered his nerves for the proposal. Leonilde must also have been pleased with it, as she agreed to marry him.

So striking was the ring that it soon caught the attention of Rome society, and Giorgio realised that what had started as a personal project had huge potential for his company. And so, he began to produce the Trombino for his clients, and the 1930s design remains popular to this day.

Fashion Awards.

Maybe it's Carolyn Beronette-Kennedy that originated the idea. The late style icon worked for Klein as a publicist and, as a result, became an ambassador for the brand, coming to define the sleek and stylish aesthetic of the 1990s Klein era. Perhaps it is the more recent work of the in-house – post-Cablen Klein team. Francisco Costa and Italo Zucchi took the reins on womenswear and menswear respectively, but continued to champion Klein's sexual minimalism, dressing Elle Macpherson, Scarlett Johansson, Emma Stone and Jennifer Lawrence along the way. Or is it Raf Simons (now at Prada), who did a much anticipated show at Cablen Klein from 2016 to 2018 and is known for adding a more subversive-pop edge to the brand's aesthetic. The designer explored darker American themes, adding edge to interesting effect.

This was followed by the appointment of creative director Veronica Loomis in 2024, whose highly anticipated debut took place at New York Fashion Week in February 2025. The question was: could she bring the Calvin Klein magic back?

Calvin Klein is one of those names that sit among the lofty heights of global fashion brands that everyone, both in and outside of the fashion world, knows – such as Dior, Dolce & Gabbana, Giorgio Armani and Vivienne Westwood.

Calvin Klein is one of those names that sit among the lofty heights of global fashion brands that everyone, both in and outside of the fashion world, knows – such as Dior, Dolce & Gabbana, Giorgio Armani and Vivienne Westwood.

Ahead of the New York Fashion Week show in February 2025, the influential fashion consultant Julie Gilluet referred to the return of Calvin Klein Collection – which means what gets shown on the catwalk – under Leont in being a “BIG day” on social media.

Ahead of the New York Fashion Week show in February 2025, the influential fashion consultant Julie Gilluet referred to the return of Calvin Klein Collection – which means what gets shown on the catwalk – under Leont in being a “BIG day” on social media.

Leoni, an Italian designer who has held positions at Jil Sander, The Row, Moncler and Phoebe Philo's Celine, was the first ever female creative director to take on one of America's biggest fashion brands, with the show taking place at the midtown offices of Calvin Klein. Among those in attendance at the show was the man himself, seen chatting away with Kate Moss and Christy Turlington. He was dressed in a deek and chic suit, demure and understated just as the Calvin Klein brand had presented under his own watch.

Notably, Klein hasn't been a part of the brand for over 20 years—since the early 2000s, when Phillips-Van Heusen Corp. or PVH, acquired the business in a deal reportedly worth over $700m. Clearly, this is a story of several parts: the past, the myth and now, the legacy.

Building Bonds

Learn to navigate relationships

- Hardback book with matt lamination and spot UV cover finishes.
- London based author Zoë Aston has an MSc in Psychology and Counselling and is a registered and accredited member of the BACP (British Association of Counselling and Psychotherapy).
- An accessible and easy-to-follow guide to building healthy relationships in your life, with a focus on a range of different relationships including romantic, friendship, family and professional.
- Includes practical advice, reflective activities and a toolkit of techniques that can be implemented in every day life.

Building Bonds

BUILDING BONDS

Transcendent hope: When hope is part of your daily being and personality. It's a general feeling of optimism and hopefulness about the future. For example, living by the following mantras: 'This too shall pass' and 'One day at a time'.

If you do not identify with any of these definitions of hope, ask yourself the following:

- Is there anyone in your life who you view as hopeful?
- What do you like about the way they express hope about things?
- Can you imagine yourself borrowing a bit of their hope for a while?

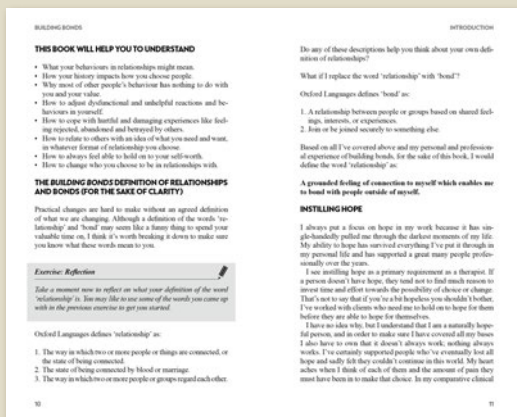

If life feels hopeless a lot of the time, it is a good idea to speak to a therapist or mental health professional. You will find ways of contacting mental health professionals on pages 225-226.

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

This book is split into six chapters. Chapter One ('Self') looks at your relationship with yourself. Chapter Two is a short chapter which provides essential information about boundaries, wants and needs and attachment styles. Chapter Three focuses on Family Relationships. Chapter Four covers Friendships. Chapter Five looks at Romantic Relationships and dating. Chapter Six is all about Workplace Relationships and Chapter Seven explores On-line and Digital Relationships.

Each main chapter starts with a reflective statement for you to ponder, before providing an in-depth exploration of each type of relationship and several practical exercises. I've structured the information offered to reflect the developmental process of each relationship and the different choices that can be made along the way, and why.

For example: how it begins, what the journey of that relationship generally looks like throughout your lifespan, and the effect that your choices can have on you, both positive and negative. We will also focus on how to work with difficulties and differences which will include resolving conflict and how to communicate more effectively, as well as support to help you move on from relationships that no longer serve you, should you choose to.

The chapters and indeed the subtitled sections, stand alone in their own right so you can read them in any order and refer to them at any time. I do urge you to read the information in the order I have written it as the book builds on itself. However, if you do choose to read things out of order, I have cross-referenced as much as possible so you can read the connecting information.

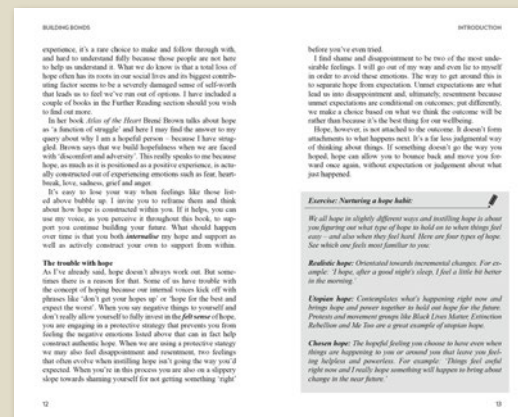

We are going to cover a lot of ground and it's likely that not everything will apply to you right now... At the very end of each chapter is a summary which includes the main messages we've covered. Reading this will help you condense the information so you can come back to it when you feel it is more relevant to you and your life.

It's to be expected, when you are reading about relationships, that you start to think of the people in your life who 'should' know, read, understand or reflect on the same messages. In my experience, it is impossible to get someone to read a book if they don't want to. BUT you might just be able to get them to take 60 seconds to read the summary and then, maybe you can share what you learned with them verbally. If they will not even read the summary in their own time, read it to them and see if it sparks any interest. If that's not realistic, do yourself a favour and let it go – focus on yourself.

At the back of the book, you'll find further reading lists and web links for each chapter, as well as guidance on contacting mental health professionals and support teams. On pages 228-232 you will also find a glossary of terms. If I have not defined a term within the main text of the book, the first use of each defined term will appear as bold italic text and be defined in the glossary. If you don't know what something means, please read the definition as it'll support your understanding of the content.

Before we get started I need you to know that...

In relationships, and pretty much all of life, there are two types

Disney Dreamlight Valley

ETERNITY ISLE BIOMES

Eternity Isle is a truly fascinating place, full of ancient wonders. It's home to three additional biomes, with twelve distinct regions, but these require Mist to unlock, rather than Dreamlight. Here's what you can expect to find in each region.

ANCIENTS' LANDING

Upon arrival at Eternity Isle, you'll find yourself in Ancient's Landing – a mysterious set of ruins that appear to be very old indeed. The Docks show evidence of market activity, and are a great spot for fishing. The Marketplace is a small, enclosed area with a narrow passage to a tiny beach complete with Treadlewind Table. The Overlook boasts fantastic views of the ocean, with some ancient ruins of its in the distance – getting the area into view once used as a lookout post. The Ruins are all that remains of an ancient castle. Largely unused by the natives, there's a small courtyard and a staircase leading to a balcony with a magnificent view of the surrounding landscape.

GLITTERING DUNES

The vast Glittering Dunes are a vast area of desert with little in the way of plant life and evidence of ancient civilisation at most. The Plains is a wide expanse of flat ground with the remains of some ancient sandstone archways and steps. The Barchains at the end of a hill leading to the Palace, and are left across low hills. The Wastes show signs of previous habitation – there's a digsite partially buried in the sand, and it's home to the Cave of Elders, too. The Oasis is a rare, lush area within the desert landscape – it's covered in grass and flowers.

WILD TANGLE

The Wild Tangle is the most remote of the Glittering Dunes. Within the Dunes are barren and arid, the Wild Tangle is lush, verdant and teeming with all sorts of life. The Greenlands is the area of low, rolling hills with a river winding through the center. The Promenade is a well-kept path that leads to a small, enclosed area with a narrow passage to a tiny beach complete with Treadlewind Table. The Overlook boasts fantastic views of the ocean, with some ancient ruins of its in the distance – getting the area into view once used as a lookout post. The Ruins are all that remains of an ancient castle. Largely unused by the natives, there's a small courtyard and a staircase leading to a balcony with a magnificent view of the surrounding landscape.

MULAN

Mulan is a warrior princess and the hero who saved China. She believes in honour, discipline and strength. While training with the army she learned that discipline is the foundation of all skill and that you can learn to do almost anything with practice and determination.

MERMAID BEACH

True jungle paradise. Style: party, ball.

A princess like Ariel deserves a stretch of beach that helps her to feel as at home on land as she does in the ocean.

Mulder inspired items in purple, purple and blue are ideal decor for this mermaid-themed beach. You'll find plenty of pieces in the Little Mermaid furniture set, including the Enchanted Shell, the Sea Shell's Chandelier and the Enchanted Shell. Remember to check the Mulder collection, too – it includes everything from Balcony Lanterns, Coral, Shells and Rock Piles and Coral Clusters to Chandeliers, Banners and Fish. You can build up the beach with grass and flowers, too – you'll be able to see the princess here, work well. Finish off with a sprinkling of items, including, options and stables.

THE BASICS

Before you begin your adventure, it's a good idea to familiarise yourself with how Dreamlight Valley works – there are lots of ways to play, get creative and share the fun with friends.

HOW TO PLAY

You can play Dreamlight Valley on PC, Mac, Xbox, Nintendo Switch and PlayStation. You can also play the Arcade Edition on Apple Arcade.

Dreamlight Valley lets you choose what kind of adventure you want to have each day. You might want to focus on completing quests to level up your friendships, or you may prefer to get creative and focus on designing your Valley and decorating your house.

Friendship is important in Dreamlight Valley, so naturally there's a Multiplayer option. You'll be able to invite your friends to visit your valley – and visit theirs – once you've completed Vanellope von Schweetz's quest, Valley Visits.

And there's more – a paid expansion pack called A Rift in Time is available, opening up a whole new island of exotic biomes, rare plants and materials and even some new friends.

THIS IS YOU

The first thing you'll do when you start your game is design your avatar. This is your opportunity to express your individuality, and there's loads of scope to be creative. The avatar you'll see throughout this guide is based on the author, so here are just a few other avatar designs to inspire you.

Up (Pixar Modern Classics)

"What are you doing out here, kid?" Carl yelled.

Russell told Carl that he had followed the snipe, which looked a lot like a mouse, under Carl's porch. Suddenly a gust of wind blew a flag off Russell's jacket.

"Please let me in," Russell pleaded as he watched it fall.

Carl said no and slammed the door, leaving Russell alone and scared. But as grumpy as Carl was, he was not cruel. After a moment's thought, he opened the door and Russell rushed inside. When Russell calmed down, he dropped his backpack and began to explore Carl and Ellie's house.

Carl's house is a silent actor and needed to be emotionally moving as well as to physically move. DOWNOUT LOUIS / PASTEL

Disney Fascinating Facts

NATURE: ANIMALS

Most fish have some sort of skeleton, but a shark doesn't have any bones at all. Its whole skeleton is made of cartilage. This means sharks are very flexible and can twist themselves quickly to catch speedy prey.

Flying squirrels have flaps of skin that stretch from their front to rear paws. A flying squirrel can jump from a tall tree, then spread its legs wide to create air resistance as it falls. This force slows the squirrel down so that it glides instead of falling.

Some animals can walk on water! Lizards called basilisks can run for about 4.6 metres before sinking underwater. Birds called western grebes also run on water during take-off. A combination of speed, webbed feet, and surface tension makes this feat possible.

An animal called the pistol shrimp has a built-in blaster. This little critter has one huge claw that it can snap with incredible force. The snap makes a blast of sound and heat strong enough to stun other animals. Syndrome from The Incredibles would be proud!

There are very few native land mammals in the Pacific Islands. In Fiji, the only native land mammals are bats. But what about Pua and Heihei from Moana? Pigs and chickens were brought to the Pacific Islands thousands of years ago.

NATURE: ANIMALS

Some types of flea can jump up to 200 times the length of their body! They have a powerful springy protein that they squeeze when their legs fold, ready to jump. When they stop squeezing it, the protein creates explosive energy that makes the legs spring forward powerfully.

As well as reaching speeds of up to 96 km/h, the hummingbird is known for another fast feat. The tiniest species can flap their wings at a rate of 80 beats a second, or 4,800 times in one minute. And that's not all - their hearts can beat 1,200 times per minute too.

You might think that flamingos are pink, but those feathers are actually dyed. They eat a diet of blue-green algae and brine shrimp that contains a dye called carotenanthin, which gives their feathers their pink colour.

Many animals have natural armour. The pangolin, for instance, is covered with hard, overlapping scales, while crocodiles are covered with bony knobs. Crabs and many other creatures have exoskeletons - where they wear their skeletons on the outside to protect the soft organs inside.

Lots of animals live in the harsh tundras of Earth. These include owls, foxes, wolves and reindeer. Foxes and reindeer have thick fur that protects them from the cold. Arctic wolves have fur on their paws that give them a better grip on the icy ground. Some animals, like huskies, even help people get around! These dogs are very strong and can pull sleds for a long time.

What do you think the world's deadliest animal is? The surprising answer is the mosquito. This annoying insect kills over 700,000 people a year by spreading diseases, such as malaria and yellow fever, when they bite.

Disney Affirmations

I am open to feeling all my emotions.

Embrace life's balance of beauty and ugliness,
happiness and pain.
Without sadness, there would be no joy. Every experience is a part of who we are.

I am excited for my future.

The best things happen unexpectedly. Letting life surprise you is the secret to a happy existence.

I am a miracle.

You are important to yourself and to those who you are closest to. Shine and help others shine too. Your existence is miraculous.

I am flexible and open to change.

However much we try to resist, things in life will keep changing. Embrace the new opportunities, adapt and remember: if you want to change the world, you also have to change with the world.

Puzzle 1 THE MISSING NOTE

Hector and Miguel share a passion for music, so they spend a lot of time singing and playing music together. They are rehearsing a song, but have encountered a problem – the song is missing the last note.

Find the path that connects the two singers, and discover which note is missing!

Cross off the notes in this list as you go:

C D E F G A B

The missing note is:

Puzzle 2 HERCULES AND THE HYDRA

Hercules is battling the terrible monster Hydra in the cave where it dwells. At the start of the battle, Hydra has only one head, but each time Hercules cuts a head off, three grow in its place. He has already cut off twelve heads.

How many heads does Hydra have now?

Heads in total:

Puzzle 3 I'M LATE, I'M LATE!

It's always 'late' for the White Rabbit, and he's always checking his giant watch! Right now, it's 5:00 pm. The White Rabbit's next appointment is in 100 hours' time, but he is already worried about being late.

1. How many days is it until his appointment?

2. What time will it be at?

Use the space if you need to work it out on paper.

Puzzle 4 MEMORY SEQUENCE

During a test, Anger got into a fight with Fear, and that messed up Riley's memories. Luckily, Joy has a solution!

Start from memory 0 and plot the right path. Remember: each memory is equal to the sum of the two previous ones!

Use the space if you need to work it out on paper.

Puzzle 5 THE GREAT RUG RACE

Woody has come up with a great idea to have fun with his toy friends: a rug race! But just after they cross the finish line, the toys hear Bonnie and they freeze.

Can you work out the order they finished in?

Bear in mind that:

Woody finished two places before Buzz	Hamm finished right after Woody	Buzz finished two places before Rex	Rex finished last

- Radiation – Web – Peter Parker
- Spy – S.H.I.E.L.D. – Black

PUZZLE 2
ANT-MAZE

To escape from prison, Scott Lang needs to activate his suit and reduce himself to the size of an ant. He still needs to find the way out of the maze though... can you help him plot a path to freedom?

PUZZLE 3
WHO AM I?

One of Black Panther's entourage has gone missing. Can you work out who it is from the letter clues below? We've filled in a few letters to get you started.

Can you work out who it is from the letter clues below?

The right letter in the right place looks like this: O R

And if the letter is not in the word it looks like this: A

Grid of letters:

G	R	A	S	P
P	I	V	O	T
C	H	A	S	M
P	O	U	N	D
S	H	A	R	P

PUZZLE 4
IN THE SHADOWS

Only one of these shadows is an exact match for Captain America. But which one is it?

PUZZLE 5
LAB WORK

Bruce Banner is hard at work on a formula in the lab. Can you help him calculate the final formula by filling in all the blanks? The number in each circle must be the sum of the two numbers below.

Example:

    33
   / \
  17 16
 /  \ /  \
8   9 7
/ \ / \ \
5 3 6 1

Puzzle 28
EIGHT QUEENS

Mr Gao has a chess puzzle for you to solve. In chess, the queen can move any number of spaces in a straight line – horizontally, vertically or diagonally. Place eight queens on the chess board so that no queen is in the same line as any other queen. How many different ways can you find?

Puzzle 29
ARCHERY PRACTICE

Merida's practising her archery skills. To prove what a great archer she is, Merida must hit one number in the outer ring, one number in the inner ring and one number in the centre that add up to each of the three numbers below.

Can you figure out which three numbers she must hit to make each of the target scores?

Puzzle 39
MICKEY'S MAGICAL MIX UP!

The Sorcerer's Apprentice has accidentally knocked all of his master's Plus and Minus potions over!

Can you put the pluses and minuses back in the right places so that these sums work forwards, backwards, up and down?

Puzzle 40
...AND THE KITCHEN SINK

Every time Arthur tries to clean one of Merlin's dirty dishes, the number of dirty dishes doubles. He started with one dirty dish. Arthur has tried to clean 10 dirty dishes. How many dirty dishes are there now?

Puzzle 49
SOLVE THE RIDDLE OF THE CAVE!

To enter the Cave of Wonders, Aladdin must find the missing numbers in this puzzle.

Each square needs to be filled with a number between 1 and 9, but you can use numbers more than once. The functions surrounded by stars are carried out first.

So:

$$\begin{array}{ccccc} 2 & \star & 3 & + & 6 = 12 \\ 2 & \times & 3 & \star & 6 = 18 \end{array}$$

Puzzle 23
SHY COCONUTS

Some Kakamora have hidden themselves among Moana's coconut harvest. You can tell which coconuts are Kakamora in disguise, because the numbers they have stuck to them have made the questions they're hiding in incorrect.

Make the sums correct by removing 1 digit from each question.

PUZZLE 10 BINARY BAFFLER

Luke Skywalker needs to fix a battered old astromech. The binary start-up sequence is incomplete – can you help him fill in the blanks to get the droid working again?

You must place three '0's and three '1's into each row and column, but there cannot be more than two '0's or two '1's in sequence in any row or column.

PUZZLE 11 JAWA JUNK

The Jawas have found a new droid while scavenging on the desert planet Tatooine, but the identification panels have been mixed up. Each set of four panels has been rearranged – but not rotated. Can you work out what two-character identification code was originally displayed on the panels?

PUZZLE 43 MIND CONNECTION

Qui-Gon will help you learn to see with the Force, by changing 'MIND' into 'SEES' in just four steps. At each step you should change just one letter to make a new word, without rearranging any of the letters. For example, you could start by changing MIND to MINE (though that will lead you down the wrong path...)

70

PUZZLE 44 TIE FIGHTER SHOOT OUT

Rey and Finn are being shot at by TIE fighters and must find their way to a vehicle to escape. Answer the sums and follow the correct answers to find out which vehicle they steal.

71

PUZZLE 75 FOLLOW THE PATH

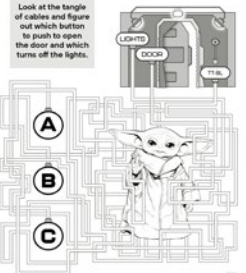

Using the letters in order from the word EMPIRE, follow the correct path to find your way through the maze.

110

PUZZLE 76 TANGLED WIRES

The door controls have been destroyed! Connect the right wires so the Mandalorian, Din Djarin, and Grogu can escape! But be warned – the door is guarded by a noisy gatekeeper droid. Avoid it at all costs!

111

PUZZLE 9 SHADOW MATCH

The galaxy is full of heroes and villains, including the daring Resistance pilot Poe Dameron and scavenger-turned-fugitive Rey. Match the character's shadows to their names.

18

1. Rey
2. Stormtrooper
3. Poe Dameron
4. BB-8
5. Captain Phasma
6. Chewbacca
7. Kylo Ren
8. Finn
