ETERNITY ISLE BIOMES

Disney Isle is a truly fascinating place, full of ancient wonders. It's home to three additional biomes, with their distinct regions, but these require Mist to unlock, rather than Dreamlight. Here's what you can expect to find in each region.

GLITTERING DUNES
The ancient Glittering Dunes are a vast area of desert with little in the way of plants and little of what you'd expect to find in a desert. The Biome is a wide expanse of flat ground with the remains of some ancient sandstone archways and steps. The Barbarians sit at the foot of a tall rocky outcrop in the Palace, and an evil coven has lair. The Wishes show signs of previous habitation - there's a signpost partially buried in the sand, and it's home to the Coven of Observers. You'll find a cave, but the cave is a hole, and the cave is covered in grass and flowers.

WILD TANGLE
The Wild Tangle is the most remote of the Glittering Dunes. Within the Dunes are barren and wild, the Wild Tangle is lush, vibrant and teeming with all sorts of life. The Queen is in the area of the reef, with a star resting through the center. The Promenade is a well-lit area with many shops, dominated by lanterns. The Crown is usually paired with trees and other plants. The Lantern biomes are impressive and are an important part of the game.

ANCIENTS' LANDING
Upon arrival at Disney Isle, you'll find yourself in Ancient's Landing - a mysterious set of ruins that appear to be very old indeed. The Docks show evidence of market activity, and are a great spot for fishing. The Clockwork is a small, enclosed area with a narrow passage. A tiny beach complete with Treadwell's Table. The Quartz biomes feature views of the ocean, with more ancient ruins all in the distance - getting to this area once you've used a beach post. The Ruins are all that remains of an ancient castle. Largely deserted by nature, there's a small courtyard and a staircase leading to a balcony with a magnificent view of the surrounding landscape.

MULAN

Mulan's House
Mulan has a traditional, ancient Chinese house with a red roof and a courtyard. Inside, there's a desk, a bed, and a table. The house is surrounded by a fence and has a small garden.

Working on Mulan's wardrobe was a labour of love for our wardrobe team. We wanted to make sure she had a wardrobe that was both traditional and modern, and that it reflected her character. We spent a lot of time getting our hands on traditional Chinese clothing to get the look right.

BELOVED CHARACTERS

THE GOLDEN AGE

Literary classics provided strong source material for a number of Disney films. Alice in Wonderland (1951) is Disney's version of classic Lewis Carroll children's novel; Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and Through the Looking Glass, and What Alice Found There. The books had fascinated Walt Disney since childhood. In the 1920s, they had loosely inspired his part animated, part live-action Alice Comedies and since then he had bought the film rights to the novel. Disney concept artist and colour stylist Mary Blair created exuberant, fantastical production artwork that inspired the look of the film. Music and songs hold the film's sequences together and propel the story along - the film features more songs than any other Disney film at the time. One of the film's most extravagant scenes, the Mad Hatter's tea party, was initially filmed in live-action to provide an aid to animators. Vaudevillean actor Ed Wynn played the Mad Hatter and Wynn's extemporized voice track was so inspired it was used for the final film.

In 1913, Walt had seen a touring production of J.M. Barrie's stage play Peter Pan and, inspired by its combination of fantasy and swashbuckling adventure, acquired the film rights in 1939. As with Alice in Wonderland, Mary Blair created the signature production art for the film. Live-action footage was shot for the animators' reference, with the voice actors performing their roles. Meanwhile, the magic of Disney animation made the characters fly - Peter Pan even engages dastardly Captain Hook in mid-air sword fights. Tinker Bell, often represented merely as a spotlight in stage versions, became a fully realized character using actor Margaret Kerry and others, in her live-action model. Released in 1953, after nearly two decades of work and thousands of drawings, Peter Pan was an immediate success and has remained a beloved Disney classic.

Literary works have remained a source of inspiration. The Sword in the Stone (1963), a whimsical adaptation of T.H. White's novel about the Arthurian legends, was the first Disney animated feature film to include songs by the Sherman Brothers, who would later work on Mary Poppins (1964), The Jungle Book (1967) and many others. The Rescuers (1977), a tale of an international rescue organisation run by mice, was based on a book series by English author Margery Sharp. Cruella De Vil nearly became the main villain in the film, but in the end the animation team created the fiery tempered, diamond-obsessed pawn shop owner Madame Medusa. Some classic tales are updated in inventive new ways: Treasure Planet (2002) is a version of Robert Louis Stevenson's 1883 novel Treasure Island set in outer space!

KEY TO PLATE

1. Tea Party production art. As a concept artist and an art director, Mary Blair's delightfully imaginative painting of the Mad Hatter's tea party directly influenced the final look of the film.
2. Peter Pan and friends. Traditionally a female stage or film actor played the character of Peter Pan. Disney's film broke with that tradition with Peter Pan depicted unequivocally as a boy voiced by a male actor - the young Blake Edwards. Production art in gouache and graphite by Mary Blair.
3. Character designs. Early character designs by Ken Anderson for 'The Rescuers' and 'Demand in the Rescuers'. The film was a box office hit and became the first Disney animated feature film to win a sequel, The Rescuers Down Under, released in 1990.

PETER PARKER'S HOME LIFE

Peter Parker's life as a student and a superhero is a complex one. He has to balance his schoolwork with his superhero duties, and he often finds himself in difficult situations. This section explores the challenges he faces in his everyday life.

FRIENDLY NEIGHBOURHOOD SPIDER-MAN

Peter Parker got his powers when he was bitten by a radioactive spider at a science exhibition, which gave him the proportional strength, speed and endurance of a spider. He was also able to devise a formula for his webbing, a thin, glue-like substance that is strong enough to tie up his enemies and allow him to swing through New York, but which also dissolves after an hour. And his Spider-Sense, that warns of danger, allows him to stay one step ahead of his very large roster of villains.

Steve Ditko's design for the Spider-Man costume is brilliant in its simplicity and it's a testament to his work that the design has barely changed in 60 years. Spider-Man is identifiable from almost any part of his costume because of his bold and striking design, and the fact that the costume covers him completely means that readers can identify with him, as it could be anyone wearing the suit.

Spider-Man's early adventures are characterised by exciting battles with dangerous, experienced villains who contrast with Peter's youth and naivety. Spider-Man's priorities are different from other super heroes. In Amazing Spider-Man #1 he is primarily concerned with making money to pay for medicine for Aunt May. After finding it impossible to cash a cheque for his TV appearances made out to 'Spider-Man', he tries to join the Fantastic Four before finding out that the FF do not pay a salary.

One of the reasons that Spider-Man is so relatable is that we spend so much time in the hero's head. Stan Lee said, "one of the things that has, over the years, set Spider apart from other super heroes is the fact that he so often agonises over the hand that fate has dealt him [...] The of wall-crawler is considered by many to be the Hamlet of superheroism. In fact, people always ask what made me decide to give Spider-Man so many thought balloons, as we all call them in comic-book land because it seems nobody ever used thought balloons quite that way until Aunt May's neurotic nephew made the scene. Well, the reason is quite simple, really, in novels, a reader is usually privy to the protagonist's thoughts. That's what helps make characters come alive in our imagination; it makes us feel we know them. Likewise, in stage plays, and in comics as well, we can gain great insights into the characters by their conversation. But Spider-Man, alas, is a loner. When he's out wall-crawling or web-slinging [...] he's all by himself. He has no one to talk to at such times."¹

- 2: The ASM #1 Spider-Man soon got his own comic, which gave started the Fantastic Four in the first issue.
- 3: The Amazing Spider-Man Annual #1 Steve Ditko rewrites his iconic style as all as Jerry showing off Spider's expressive abilities.

Toy Story (Pixar Modern Classics)

When Woody woke the next morning, Buzz was already up and talking to Rex and Slinky by the drawers. Buzz showed them Andy's name written on his feet. She was impressed that Andy had used permanent ink.

Woody looked at his own feet. To check Andy's name was still there. He sheep came to his side. She said Andy would always have a special place for Woody. "Like the etc," Mr Potato Head joked.

Buzz's exact phrase "to infinity and beyond" has become an iconic catchphrase, synonymous with the character. BOB PEACOCK / MUSEUM AND COLLECTORSHIP FUND

But Woody had had enough. When Woody found Buzz, he was repairing his ship. Woody told Buzz to stay away from Andy. But all Buzz cared about was repairing his spaceship. Buzz asked the toys for more tape.

Andy's toy box becomes a museum to celebrate the characters who have made it famous. DAVE HUBBY / PENS

Woody told Buzz to stop pretending to be a spaceman, because it got on his nerves. Buzz asked Woody if he wanted to complete his Star Command. Woody thought Buzz was making fun of him, and challenged him to a fight. As Woody pushed Buzz, he hit a button. Buzz's helmet flipped open and Buzz struggled to breathe. Buzz fell to his knees before he realised the air was fine.

"How dare you open a spaceman's helmet!" Buzz said.

Woody asked if Buzz thought he was a real spaceman. Woody believed Buzz had been putting on an act, but he was not. Woody called everyone over to laugh at Buzz.

"You are mocking me, aren't you?" Buzz asked. Woody lied and said he was not.

From outside, the toys heard a ding barling and a child shouting. The noise was Slinky to hide under the bed. "Oh no, not Sid!" Rex said as the toys rushed to the window.

Down below, Andy's neighbour, Sid, played with his dog. Mr Potato Head asked if Sid had a toy with him.

Moments later, wearing a drink cup and a burger hat, Woody and Buzz followed a family through the doors and hid behind an arcade machine. "Where's the spaceship?" Buzz asked, looking around, when Woody heard a familiar voice. It was Andy!

But Buzz wanted to find a spaceship. Woody lied, saying he knew where to find one. Buzz asked if it had hyperdrive, and Woody confirmed that it did. Woody told Buzz to jump into Molly's stroller as it passed. Instead, Buzz was the other way round a rocket ship-like machine and kept inside.

Buzz ends up in the rocket ship, taking it to his room. What will he do? MUSEUM AND COLLECTORSHIP FUND

"This cannot be happening to me!" Woody complained as he left Andy to chase Buzz.

Inside the machine, Buzz was surrounded by Alien toys.

"I come in peace," Buzz said, as the Aliens crowded around.

Woody followed the sound of Buzz's voice. Buzz asked who was in charge and the Aliens pointed to the claw. The Aliens said the claw chose who would stay and who would leave. Suddenly, Woody heard another familiar voice. It was Sid.

"Get down!" Woody kept on Buzz to hide while Sid fished for a coin.

Buried among the Aliens, Buzz and Woody watched the claw lift an Alien to the prize chute.

"Gatcha," Sid whispered, before spying Buzz.

Woody looked for an escape, and found a door at the back of the machine. The claw whirred, and Woody looked back to see it close around Buzz. Woody tried to pull Buzz towards the door, but the Aliens stopped him. The Aliens helped the claw lift Buzz and Woody and drop them into the prize chute.

"Let's go home and play," Sid laughed cruelly, fishing out the toys.

Woody clinging to the inside of the crate as Sid put it back down. As he searched for Woody, he stepped on Buzz and accused his last.

"I've always wanted to put a spaceman into orbit," Sid said. He picked up Buzz. Sid put the crate on the workbench and raised his toolbox on top. Woody dropped from the roof of the crate, and hid under a magazine.

Sid's room is Sid's room. He has a lot of toys, and he has a dog. BOB PEACOCK / MUSEUM AND COLLECTORSHIP FUND

Woody watched as Sid taped Buzz to the firework. Sid was ready to launch, but a clap of thunder and raindrops pelting his window meant life off would have to wait.

"Oh man!" Sid complained, disappointed, before pretending to be a reporter and turning it into part of the game. "Search of the shuttle has been delayed due to adverse weather conditions at the launch site," Sid announced. "Stormy. Forecast, sunny."

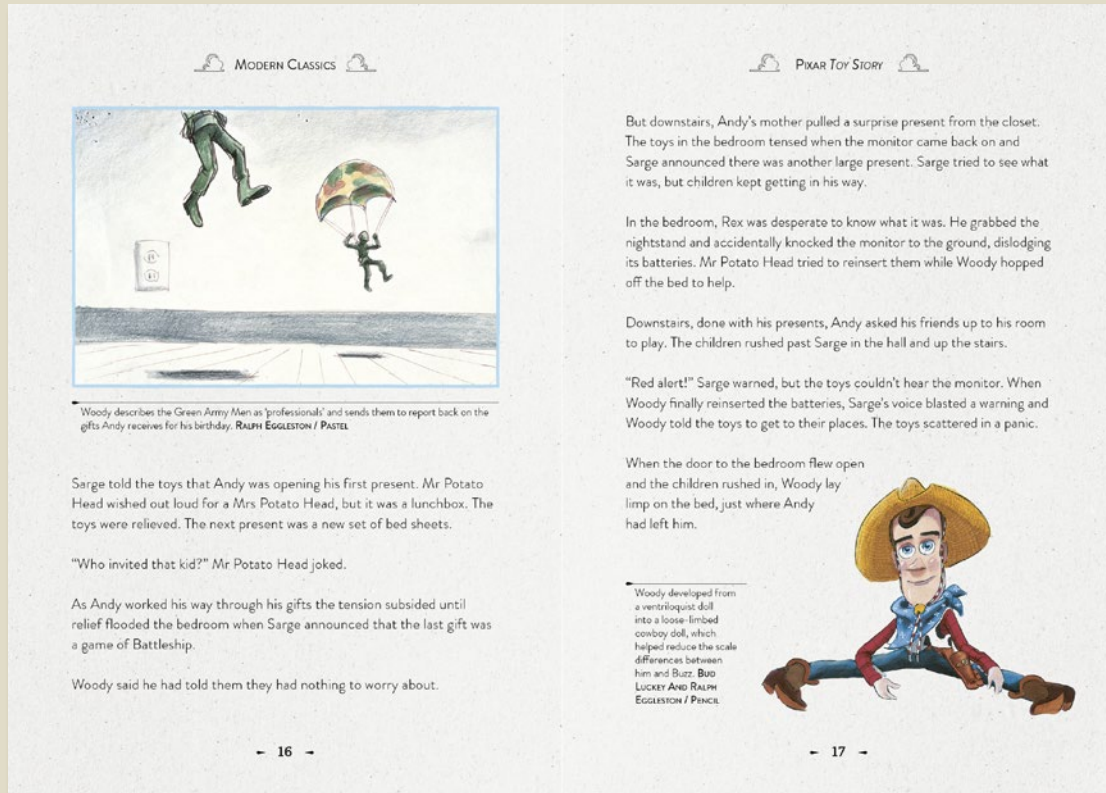

Sid set his alarm clock for the morning and laughed as he said, "Sweet dream!"

In Andy's room, Andy's mother told him that she had looked everywhere for Woody and Buzz but could only find Andy's cowboy hat. Andy was worried that they'd leave them behind.

"The sure we'll find Woody and Buzz before we leave tomorrow," Andy's mother said, kissing him goodnight.

When Andy's mother had left the room, Mr Potato Head looked over at Andy tucked up in his bed, clutching his beloved cowboy hat.

"Oh Woody," he said. "If only you could see how much Andy misses you."

MODERN CLASSICS

Woody describes the Green Army Men as 'professionals' and sends them to report back on the gifts Andy receives for his birthday. RALPH EGGLESTON / PASTEL

Sarge told the toys that Andy was opening his first present. Mr Potato Head wished out loud for a Mrs Potato Head, but it was a lunchbox. The toys were relieved. The next present was a new set of bed sheets.

"Who invited that kid?" Mr Potato Head joked.

As Andy worked his way through his gifts the tension subsided until relief flooded the bedroom when Sarge announced that the last gift was a game of Battleship.

Woody said he had told them they had nothing to worry about.

PIXAR TOY STORY

But downstairs, Andy's mother pulled a surprise present from the closet. The toys in the bedroom tensed when the monitor came back on and Sarge announced there was another large present. Sarge tried to see what it was, but children kept getting in his way.

In the bedroom, Rex was desperate to know what it was. He grabbed the nightstand and accidentally knocked the monitor to the ground, dislodging its batteries. Mr Potato Head tried to reinsert them while Woody hopped off the bed to help.

Downstairs, done with his presents, Andy asked his friends up to his room to play. The children rushed past Sarge in the hall and up the stairs.

"Red alert!" Sarge warned, but the toys couldn't hear the monitor. When Woody finally reinserted the batteries, Sarge's voice blasted a warning and Woody told the toys to get to their places. The toys scattered in a panic.

When the door to the bedroom flew open and the children rushed in, Woody lay limp on the bed, just where Andy had left him.

Woody developed from a ventriloquist doll into a loose-limbed cowboy doll, which helped reduce the scale differences between him and Buzz. BOB PEACOCK / MUSEUM AND COLLECTORSHIP FUND

A New Hope (Star Wars Cinematic Classics)

CINEMATIC CLASSICS

C-3PO wandered away, complaining bitterly. He passed the giant skeleton of a knight dragon that lay bleached on the sand. Then he spotted something on the distance.

"A transport," he said excitedly, waving his metal arms in the air. "I've saved! Over here, they! Please help!"

Meanwhile, R2-D2 had reached the dark hills. The little astromech whirled softly as he trundled through a stormy rain. Luke still believed that he was being watched. Behind the rocks, hooded creatures known as Jawas whispered to one another. Their yellow eyes glowed as the droid passed by.

Then one of the Jawas sprang up in front of Artoo and fired an ion blaster. The blue energy bolt struck the droid, knocking him off his feet.

EPISODE IV: A NEW HOPE

The Jawa gestured eagerly. "Uhhm!" he cried, and the others crowded round, lifting Artoo. They carried him through the rain to their gigantic sandcrawler, where they fitted the little droid with a restraining bolt to prevent him from escaping. Then a large air-pipe stalked down from the sandcrawler and sucked Artoo inside.

Artoo was dumped into a large chamber filled with strange droids. They came in all shapes and sizes, from boxy power droids also known as gaud droids, to machines built for moisture farming, mining and security. There was a pair of glowing eyes spotted Artoo.

"Destroyed," he told the others. "By the Empire."

Luke couldn't believe that such a thing was possible, but there was no time to discuss it. A ship had appeared on their scopes: a small Imperial TIE fighter. It blasted the Falcon, then it strafed away.

"It's heading for that small moon," Luke pointed.

"That's no moon," Obi-Wan told him. "It's a space station! Han Solo tried to turn the Falcon around, but it was too late. They were caught in an invisible tractor beam, pulling them deadily closer to the Death Star."

"Destroyed," he told the others. "By the Empire."

On the battle station, Grand Moff Tarkin received a report that a ship had been captured. "They must be trying to return the stolen plans to the Princess. She may yet get her of some use to us," Darth Vader said, and went to investigate.

But when his men searched the ship, they found no sign of anyone on board. "According to the log, the crew abandoned ship right after take-off," the commander reported. "It must be a decoy. Several of the escape pods have been positioned."

"Send a scanning crew aboard," Vader ordered. "I want every part of this

Obi-Wan Kenobi slipped through the corridors of the Death Star, drawing closer to the Millennium Falcon. But before he could reach it, he came face to face with an old acquaintance. Darth Vader stood blocking his path, a red lightsaber humming in his hand.

"I've been waiting for you, Obi-Wan," the Dark Lord boomed. "We meet again at last. The circle is now complete. When I left you, I was but the learner. Now I am the master."

"Only a master of evil, Darth," Obi-Wan replied.

Vader strode forward, raising his blade. Obi-Wan took a step back and lifted his saber. Vader swung and the two swords clashed together, filling the hallway with light and noise. "Your powers are weak, old man," he said.

Obi-Wan moved nimbly, countering blow after blow. "You can't win, Darth," he said in former apprentice. "If you strike me down, I will become more powerful than you can possibly imagine."

"You should not have come back," Vader replied, lunging at Obi-Wan, but the old Jedi was too quick.

Spotting the duel from across the hangar, the stormtroopers guarding the Millennium Falcon pushed away, turning to the aid of their master.

Luke, Leia, Han and Chewie had made it back to the hangar, where Artoo and Threepio joined them. With the guards distracted, Luke saw his mentor locked in combat with the monstrous Darth Vader.

In the Death Star's control room, an aide approached Grand Moff Tarkin, offering to ready his ship in case the Rebels were successful. "Evacuate?" Tarkin asked disbelievingly. "In our moment of triumph? I think you overestimate their chances." He was sure that this ragtag army posed no threat to his battle station.

Meanwhile, Red Leader had guided another group of fighters into the trench. Vader was right behind them, taking out first one, then two of Red Leader's wingmen. But the Dark Lord was too late. Red Leader was in range. He fired, and his torpedoes streaked towards the target.

The shot was no good. The torpedoes missed, exploding on the surface of the Death Star. And as Red Leader turned to flee, Darth Vader's TIE fighter swooped in. Red Leader's X-wing slammed into the battle station and burst into flame.

Luke saw the ship explode and knew that time was running out. Flanked by Biggs and Wedge, he flew at full speed into the trench. But Darth Vader's fighter was right behind them and closing fast.

The Dark Lord fired, scoring a hit on Wedge's engine. "I'm hit!" Wedge cried, peeling off. Vader ignored him, keeping his focus on Luke and Biggs. They swooped from side to side, trying desperately to evade the Dark Lord's fire.

It was no good. Biggs's ship was hit, and Luke watched as his best friend's ship exploded into shards of flame. There was no time to grieve. He knew that he was the Rebels' last hope for victory.

Luke switched on his targeting computer and prepared to fire his torpedoes. As he struggled to lock on to the target, Ben Kenobi's ghostly voice spoke to him once more. "Use the Force, Luke," the old Jedi told him. "Let go. Luke, trust me."

Luke deactivated his computer. He was determined to trust his instincts.
