A Very Disney Christmas

The more you do, Sulley replied. 'It's just going to see if there's anything I can do to help.'

Sulley followed Mike into the basement of Monsters, Inc., where the laugh-wringers were hard at work. Everyone wanted to get the laugh tank filled as soon as possible and there was nothing out. The few lighting ornaments were only a few hours away!

But the wringers couldn't agree on how to fix the problem.

Anything? I can do! Sulley cried.

One of the pipes that leads into the laugh tank has burst, explained Sulley. We need to tie it off for some of our tanks are strong enough to turn the pipe.

Then... said Sulley, scratching his head. Then Mike had a great idea. Why not attach you to it? Since Sulley was so strong, he could hold that pipe right into a pipe that burst!

Sulley was willing to give it a try. Mike stood by his side and watched him. It worked! The pipe stopped leaking!

Mike and Sulley looked up to the Laugh Floor. All the monsters congratulated Sulley!

Mike wondered why no one was thanking him. It had been his idea, after all. But there was no time to think about that now. 'We've back up and running!' Mike announced. 'Let's make some laughs!'

All the monsters got to work. They knew they had to work extra hard to make up for all of the lost laughs.

Sulley decided to jump in and help. They were only going a couple of hours before the time to tie the tank back.

Still dressed as Santa, Sulley went through a child's wardrobe door. When he came back into the Laugh Floor, he looked up at the Laugh Meter on the wall. It was increasing, but slowly.

'We've got to make it,' Sulley whispered to Mike.

Finally, the Laugh Meter was back up to the level it had reached before the tank. Santa looked at the clock on the wall and frowned. It was only thirty minutes until the new lighting ceremony.

Suddenly, Sulley had an idea. 'The only way we're going to make our laugh quota to get some really over the top laughs.'

2 DECEMBER THE BEST PRESENT EVER

Yes! Lightning, both at the 'Woooooowwww!' Mater cheered and his best buddy, Lightning McQueen. It was winter in Radiator Springs. Christmas was just a few days away and fresh snow blanketed the ground. The two friends were taking turns sliding down a snow-covered hill using Mater's one of a kind jangly sledge.

'It's really you, this has the best sledge in Radiator Springs!' Mater exclaimed. 'I know, you have told me,' Lightning laughed. 'Several times. It has its own headlights, super fast gliders...'

And both in bumper tyres! The friends said together.

'Well, hold your horses!' said Mater. 'Because it's going to snow faster when we take it sliding off Kersploush Mountain!'

Kersploush Mountain was a water park near Radiator Springs. For just one day a year, on Christmas, the waterfalls were frozen over so that cars could go sliding down the slide.

Uh, Mater, there's something I need to tell you. Lightning looked worried. 'Remember that Russian Ice Racers Cup I told you I'm competing in?'

'Well, sure,' said Mater. 'The one in a few weeks.'

'That's just it, Lightning said. 'They moved it up to this week. I'm not going to be here for Christmas after all.'

Mater stopped dead in his tracks. 'You're what?'

Lightning shook his head. 'It's really sorry, buddy. I know I'll miss Christmas at Kersploush Mountain, but maybe we can do something else when I get back?'

'You... you... thing, Mater said.

Later that afternoon, Mater pulled into Flo's V8 Cafe.

'Hey there, Mater!' Flo called. 'Want to try a cup of my new eggnog? It's guaranteed to fit you up with Christmas cheer.'

'Something got you down, honey?' Flo asked.

Mater sighed. 'Lightning won't be home for Christmas. It's in some Russian Ice Cup.'

'That's too bad,' Flo said. 'I guess you'll have to celebrate the holiday early.'

'Well, celebrate early? That's a good idea!' said Mater. 'Then he thought for a moment. Oh, about... I forgot about presents. Two gifts for Lightning something! But what?'

His husband thoughtful. 'Hmm, you're going to miss him while he's away, right?'

'Yeah, Mater nodded eagerly.

'So how about getting him something for the race, so he knows you'll be thinking of him? Like the one you're making?'

Mater smiled. 'Oh, sure! You're! That's a great idea. Flo, I know just where to get them. Mater dashed off.

Light! Mater yelled as he skidded up to Casa Della Tires. 'I need your help!'

'Long time! For you, Mater, anything!'

'These ones, yes,' said Mater. 'The ones that used to be in your best sledge. Where'd they go? I need to buy them for Lightning for his Russian Ice Cup!'

Light! Mater yelled. 'Oh... I can do anything but that. I'm afraid someone's already bought them. They just left a moment ago.'

'Sure enough, another big truck was driving away from the shop.

Mater read after the truck. 'Really catching up with him at the intersection. Mater explained the situation (how jangly with the truck. 'I need those tyres for my best buddy's Christmas gift. I'll give you anything.'

The truck sighed. 'Sure, but I've been dreaming of speeding through the snow with those superfast tyres.'

Mater raised an eyebrow. 'Fast, huh? What if I told you I had something that goes even faster than those tyres?'

Curious, the truck agreed to meet Mater at the edge of town. Meanwhile, Mater raced to his junkyard to grab his sledge.

'All right,' Mater said when the two trucks met again. 'I'll bet my sledge is faster going down that hill than you in those tyres. If I'm right, we'll trade. Deal?'

The truck agreed and soon they were zipping down the snowy slope. Mater zoomed past the truck - and won!

The truck happily traded the tyres for Mater's sledge. Meanwhile, Lightning was helping Sally decorate the Cozy Cone Motel.

'I feel awful,' he said. 'Mater looked so sad when I told him.'

'Well,' said Sally. 'Do you need to do the race?'

'Huh?' asked Lightning.

'It's not part of your normal circuit,' Sally pointed out. 'I'm sure they understand if you didn't go.'

Lightning's eyes lit up. 'You're right, Mater is my best friend. And a trophy is just another trophy. I'm going to withdraw from the race and stay here for Christmas!'

Lightning raced home to call Vitaly Petrov, who was hosting the Russian Ice Racers Cup. Vitaly told Lightning not to worry, he could reschedule the race for after the holiday.

'That works out great. Thanks, Vitaly!' said Lightning.

He couldn't wait to tell Mater the good news. On his way to see his best buddy, Lightning drove past a big sign for Kersploush Mountain. He suddenly had an idea for the perfect gift...

The next day, Lightning and Mater exchanged gifts.

'Open yours, open yours, open yours!' Mater cried.

'Okay,' said Lightning. 'But, Mater, I have some good news that...' Lightning trailed off as he unwrapped the tyres.

'You got these for me?' he asked, looking up at his friend.

'Yeah!' Mater grinned from mirror to mirror. 'If my best buddy can't be here for Christmas, then he'd sure as heck better win his Blushin' Mice Cup! Do you like 'em?'

Lightning was touched. 'Mater, I love them. But...'

Mater was already ripping open his gift. When he saw the two tickets to Kersploush Mountain, his eyes grew wide.

Lightning shrugged. 'My race was delayed, so now I can spend Christmas with you, buddy.'

'No way!' Mater exclaimed. 'This is awesome! I can't believe we're going to Kersploush Mountain on Christmas Day! Now we can take my sledge and... uh oh.'

'Hey, where is your sledge?' Lightning asked, looking around. Mater shuffled nervously. 'Uh, I may have kind of, sort of, traded it to get you them three snow tyres.'

The two friends stared at each other. Then they started laughing. 'Can you believe this?' Lightning exclaimed. 'We thought we were getting each other the perfect Christmas presents but we ended up getting stuff we can't use!'

Mater nodded. 'Yeah, but I'll tell you one thing, buddy, spending Christmas together is still the best present ever.'

Lightning smiled. 'Same here, pal. I wouldn't change a thing.'

Mater looked at the gifts. 'Well, shoot. What are we going to do with four tyres and no race and two tickets with no sledge?'

A twinkle came to Lightning's eye. 'Well, we may not have a junkyard sledge but we do have a junkyard. Mater, didn't your old sledge have bumper tyres?'

Mater bounced up and down. 'Oh, oh! I see where you're going.' He started racing around his junkyard, collecting scraps. 'Dad gum, this is gonna be so cool!'

On Christmas Day, Mater and Lightning sat at the top of Kersploush Mountain. Beneath them was a new junkyard sledge. Except this one was extra special - it had two seats, flashing Christmas lights, double gliders and extra-large bumper tyres.

'It's Mater's Junkyard Sledge 2.0, with double the sledding fun!' cried Mater. 'You ready for this?' Lightning asked as they teetered on the top of the slide.

'You bet,' said Mater. 'As long as I've got my good buddy with me, I'm as ready as I'll ever beeeeeeeeeee!'

ETERNITY ISLE BIOMES

Disney Isle is a truly fascinating place, full of ancient wonders. It's home to three additional biomes, with their distinct regions, but these require Mist to unlock, rather than Dreamlight. Here's what you can expect to find in each region.

GLITTERING DUNES
The ancient Glittering Dunes are a vast area of desert with little in the way of plants and little of what you'd expect to find in a desert. The Biome is a wide expanse of flat ground with the remains of some ancient sandstone archways and steps. The Barbarians sit at the foot of a tall rocky outcrop in the Palace, and an evil coven has built. The Witches show signs of previous habitation - there's a fireplace partially buried in the sand, and it's home to the Coven of Observers. You'll find a small hut here, but the Dunes is a vast, flat area with the desert landscape of a desert covered in grass and flowers.

WILD TANGLE
The Wild Tangle is the most remote of the Glittering Dunes. Within the Dunes are barren and wild, the Wild Tangle is lush, vibrant and teeming with all sorts of life. The Queen is in the area of the Wild Tangle, with a small hut nearby. The Queen is a small hut nearby. The Queen is a small hut nearby. The Queen is a small hut nearby.

ANCIENTS' LANDING
Upon arrival at Disney Isle, you'll find yourself in Ancient's Landing - a mysterious set of ruins that appear to be very old indeed. The Docks show evidence of market activity, and are a great spot for fishing. The Clockwork is a small, enclosed area with a narrow passage. A tiny beach complete with Treadwell's Table. The Queen's house is located near the end of the beach, with more ancient ruins at its entrance - perhaps this area was once used as a beach post. The Ruins are all that remains of an ancient castle. Largely covered by nature, there's a small courtyard and a staircase leading to a balcony with a magnificent view of the surrounding landscape.

Working on Mulan's wardrobe was a labour of love for our wardrobe team. We spent a lot of time getting our hands on traditional Chinese clothing to get the look right.

THE ARTS: LITERATURE

The first book that combined words and pictures, and was read to children, was Picture Book, from as far back as the 15th century.

Samuel Pepys was an inhabitant of London in the 17th century who has a famous diary that dates the French air force when our king was again in 1703. However, he went missing in 1704 while out on a mission.

Beats Peter Pan writes an illustrated story about four little rabbits to cheer up a friend's child while he was recovering from a head of scarlet fever. She went from the story to help him feel better and continued to write letters to him for many years until she published The Tale of Peter Rabbit.

The fastest-selling book in history is Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows, which was the best book in the series. It sold over 8.1 million copies on its first day and went on to sell more than 30 million copies around the world in over 60 languages.

Queen Blake, best known for being the illustrator on the books of Charlie and the Chocolate Factory, has been the artist on over 100 books. More recently has illustrated books for Disney characters, such as George and the Magic Beans.

THE ARTS: LITERATURE

The album of J.M. Barrie's Peter Pan isn't meant to be Peter Pan himself! It was meant to be Peter Pan himself! It started as a play before it was turned into a novel. But the stage crew needed more to change sets, so a prize scene was added in between scenes and that became the hit song.

Aladdin's One Thousand and One Nights wasn't actually from the Middle East. The story begins with the words 'Middle was a little Chinese boy, although the collection of stories does have lots of influences from the Middle East.

My Very Hungry Caterpillar came from a piece of office equipment! Creator Eric Carle was playing around with a hole-punch and a stack of paper when he had the idea for the story about the insect with a big appetite.

A.A. Milne, the author of Winnie the Pooh, was taught by another famous author named E.B. White, who wrote The Tale of the White Rabbit. However, at that time White wasn't a published author and was teaching a middle class.

The only book printed in Latin to make the New York Times Best Seller list is Winnie the Pooh. The book was completely translated into the local language and released as Winnie de Po.

HISTORY: THE PREHISTORIC AGE

Phonemes, the phonetically, aren't technically dinosaurs - instead they're being together from the Mesozoic Era. Creatures that had in the Mesozoic, were, but the stage crew needed more to change sets, so a prize scene was added in between scenes and that became the hit song.

The Parasaurolophus was a herbivorous dinosaur that had a big, bony crest on top of its head filled with tubes. Scientists think that it used these tubes to make really loud sounds to communicate with other members of its group.

The ugly plates on the back of a Stegosaurus are still a mystery to scientists today. They could measure up to 50 centimetres, but nobody is sure what they did - some think they were used to cool the Stegosaurus down, while others think they were used to scare away predators.

The biggest difference between the size of a dinosaur and the size of its brain is found in the Stegosaurus. These herbivores were the size of a cow, but their brain was comparatively tiny - about the size of a loaf!

If you thought swimming in the sea was scary now, give thanks to the shark called the Megalodon! The biggest fish on the sea was a relative of a shark called the Megalodon which measured more than three times the size of today's sharks.

Paleontologists - the scientist who study dinosaurs - often make mistakes when putting dinosaur fossils together. In the 19th century, one of them put the skull of an iguanodon on the end of a tibia, while another connected the head of an Elasmobranch to the end of its tail.

We're now really sceptical that dinosaurs weren't just the giant bulky lizards that we commonly think of - they were more likely covered in feathers!

Some said there just for show, but others used them for warmth, or even to fly!

We're finding more dinosaur fossils now than ever before, at an average of one new species per week. Sometimes the fossils found by paleontologists change what we think we already knew about dinosaurs like the T-Rex.

By the time 'pre-dinosaur' was named the planet, the Stegosaurus was already a fossil. Though we often see the most famous dinosaurs together in fact, the Stegosaurus had been extinct for millions of years!

The tallest dinosaur discovered is the Argentinosaurus, which was thought to reach a height of around 12 metres! It's also thought the dinosaur was the heaviest, estimated at around 80,000 kilograms - it would need to eat a lot to power that huge body over all.

SCIENCE: SPACE

The lower gravity on the Moon has a surprising effect on astronauts. When they're on the satellite, the dots of their space suits under the mission pressure, which can make them up to 5 centimetres taller.

The temperature of the first man on the Moon are still there today. There's no atmosphere on the Moon, so there's no wind to blow these away, which means they're still there today and will be for millions of years, unless someone sweeps over them!

A mechanical phenomenon known as 'tidal locking' occurs in space when two metals touch. Because there's no air or atmosphere around the pieces of metal, the molecules don't know that they're separate pieces and join together, without realising to be melted they're small on Earth.

From Earth, we can spot 34 different galaxies, as well as our own Milky Way. The closest one is Andromeda, but we can also see the Triangulum, Omega Centauri and the Sagittarius Dwarf Spheroidal Galaxy, as well as both Magellanic Clouds.

The fastest speed of the Milky Way galaxy is 1,300,000 light years, meaning it could take something travelling at the speed of light over 100,000 years to reach one end from another. With our current technology, it would take us 27,000 million years to travel across that distance.

You might be able to see a giant red spot on images of Jupiter - it's a giant storm that's been raging for years, but it's shrinking! When it was first observed in the 17th century, it was the size of three Earths, but now it's only the size of one.

Scientists have observed that our galaxy, the Milky Way, is spiral-shaped, but it isn't the first one we observed. That honour belongs to the Whirlpool Galaxy, sometimes called M51. The M stands for Messier, so the first person to spot it was Charles Messier, way back in 1773.

The rain on Venus isn't made of water like on Earth - it's sulfuric acid. The temperature on Venus is so hot that it can melt metals, turning them into gases, which then cool as they get higher up in the atmosphere and fall as scorching hot liquids.

The first person in space was a Russian called Yuri Gagarin. He reached space on 27 April 1961, heading the American Alan Shepard, who arrived on 5 May in the same year, by two weeks!

The same side of the Moon is always facing Earth! We've never seen the 'back' side of the Moon because the moon spins at precisely the same speed as it orbits the planet, which is a phenomenon called tidal locking, or synchronous rotation.

NATURE: ANIMALS

Most fish have some sort of skeleton, but a shark doesn't have any bones at all. Its whole skeleton is made of cartilage. This means sharks are very flexible and can twist themselves quickly to catch speedy prey.

Flying squirrels have flaps of skin that stretch from their front to rear paws. A flying squirrel can jump from a tall tree, then spread its legs wide to create air resistance as it falls. This force slows the squirrel down so that it glides instead of falling.

Earth's fastest land animal is the cheetah. It can run at bursts of 114 km/h, while the speediest creature in the sea is the sailfish. This super swimmer can reach speeds of 110 km/h.

Some animals can walk on water! Lizards called basilisks can run for about 4.6 metres before sinking under water. Birds called western grebes also run on water during take-off. A combination of speed, webbed feet, and surface tension makes this feat possible.

An animal called the pistol shrimp has a built-in blaster. This little critter has one huge claw that it can snap with incredible force. The snap makes a blast of sound and heat strong enough to stun other animals. Syndrome from The Incredibles would be proud!

There are very few native land mammals in the Pacific Islands. In Fiji, the only native land mammals are bats. But what about Pue and Heihei from Moana? Pigs and chickens were brought to the Pacific Islands thousands of years ago.

NATURE: ANIMALS

Some types of flea can jump up to 200 times the length of their body! They have a powerful springy protein that they squeeze when their legs fold, ready to jump. When they stop squeezing it, the protein creates explosive energy that makes the legs spring forward powerfully.

As well as reaching speeds of up to 96 km/h, the hummingbird is known for another fast feat. The tiniest species can flap their wings at a rate of 80 beats a second, or 4,800 times in one minute. And that's not all - their hearts can beat 1,200 times per minute too.

You might think that flamingos are pink, but those feathers are actually dyed. They eat a diet of blue-green algae and brine shrimp that contains a dye called carotenanthin, which gives their feathers their pink colour.

Many animals have natural armour. The pangolin, for instance, is covered with hard, overlapping scales, while crocodiles are covered with bony knobs. Crabs and many other creatures have exoskeletons - where they wear their skeletons on the outside to protect the soft organs inside.

Lots of animals live in the harsh tundras of Earth. These include owls, foxes, wolves and reindeer. Foxes and reindeer have thick fur that protects them from the cold. Arctic wolves have fur on their paws that give them a better grip on the icy ground. Some animals, like huskies, even help people get around! These dogs are very strong and can pull sleds for a long time.

What do you think the world's deadliest animal is? The surprising answer is the mosquito. This annoying insect kills over 700,000 people a year by spreading diseases, such as malaria and yellow fever, when they bite.
