The Incident at Camp UFO

"I CAN'T BELIEVE YOU TOOK ONE PUPPY!!!"

"IT SAYS HERE ONE OF THE CAMP'S NEW MEMBERS IS EXPERIENCED ENOUGH TO TAKE ALL ITS PUPPIES!!!"

Pawan glanced around at the dark forest, the glowering lake and the far-off mountains. "Right, sure that. What now?"

"Um..." said Dad, scratching his hat. "How about ghost stories? Anybody know any?" Nobody did.

"Come on!" Val whined. "Something scary HAD to have happened here. A masked looter with a murderous vendetta against camp? A mad mutant blood-sucking leech? A tragic dog-eat-dog accident?"

Dad thought for a moment. "Well, there is ONE. But we're not allowed to read and I'd love to be in the woods. So, well, longer than anyone can remember. He's just always there, lurking. Sometimes you see him on the lake in a boat, cackling like this. "Dad pulled a face like a cat that has about to be sick and produced a deep hacking cough."

Frankie, Val and Xinyi frowned. Even Pawan looked momentarily less sulky. "So...," pronounced Frankie after a bit of silence.

"Well, that's weird!" Dad admitted. "So that's your ghost story, is it?" said Val. "So all those bats in the wood, the cough and looks around a bit?"

"Well, yeah," Dad mumbled, defensively. "I mean, he's quite weird."

The gang froze as a sheep, hacking cough, whined across the valley. On the lake, a raft of four people (chopped into two with a headless man hunched over the wheel).

"That boat" whispered Val. "Oh," replied Frankie.

The Early Birds settled in silence as the boat disappeared out of view. "I mean, he's not that scary," said Frankie. "Well," she agreed, rather unconvincingly. "He can't help being old and coughing!"

"Forget it!" ruffled Dad, going on all pretence of 'warning young people for the day. "You going to bed. Put the fire out before you leave and be careful of the... uh... water!" He seemed eagerly towards the lake before settling off in the direction of the tent.

"Can he do that?" asked Xinyi. The others turned to her, surprised. This was the first thing they remembered Xinyi saying since they arrived. "It's a TERRIBLE camp coincidence!" she added.

Then suddenly, she screamed.

Getting to know U(FO)!

Name: Poppy Age: Unknown
 Breed: Unknown
 Personality: Friendly
 Favorite Food: Fish
 Favorite Place: The Water
 What's in your pocket: A small amount of fish
 If you were a character who would you be? A fish!

"It's a DOG!" exclaimed Xinyi, scrambling over to the furry creature before the others could even register the transformation of their quiet companion to a doggy friend. "Well, a good boy when it's a good boy. Not that a girl the last time I saw Poppy!"

"Hellooo Poppy!" Poppy's tail thumped in reply. She LOVED when people knew her name.

"Where did she come from?" frowned Frankie. "I don't know," Pawan shrugged. "Maybe she's the camp dog?"

"Well, she's probably the best puppy I've ever had," said Pawan. "So you saw your ball, Poppy? Oh, go fetch!" She launched the ball as far as she could, to which Poppy sprang up in response, skillfully turning herself over and over to catch it.

"THE CAMP PUPPY! HE HEAT!"

"HEAT! HE'S AWESOME! BY THE WAY, HE'S A BOY!"

"GOOD GUY! WHO'S A GOOD GUY! POPPY YOU ARE SO GOOD!"

"POP DOY IT AGAIN!"

"BUT BORED..."

"REALLY BORED..."

"IS THIS IT? IS THIS AS INTERESTING AS IT WAS GOING TO BE?"

SPOILER ALERT! THIS WAS NOT AS INTERESTING AS IT WAS GOING TO BE.

INCIDENT INCOMING

The Early Birds looked at each other in utter astonishment, then sprinted towards the lake. Poppy followed, barking madly. She didn't have a clue what was going on, but she loved running.

"You realise what's happening now right?!" puffed Pawan, struggling to keep up with the others. "A SUPERHERO ORIGIN STORY! Space rock falls from the sky, local kids find space rock, space rock makes them FLY or TURN STRETCHY or give them the power to make people EXPLODE or something!"

"Was it definitely a space rock?" asked Val. "What's it called? An asteroid. Maybe it was a satellite. Or a part of a PLANE! I heard once that an aeroplane's toilet chute opened and the stuff inside fell out of the sky, and because it's SO cold up there, it FROZE and hit a man and everyone knew that he'd been squashed by a massive frozen ball of POO!"

"Definitely not poo," said Frankie, who had made it to the shore first. The others arrived and stared out at the emanating water. "Poo doesn't glow."

"Woah" said Val, astutely. "I guess we should report this to, uh, whoever you report asteroids to?" Frankie posited. "Um, sorry, I think you mean meteorite," said Xinyi, apologetically. "Asteroids are when they are in space. When they fall they are a meteor, and when it lands it's a meteorite..." Xinyi frowned. WHY did I have to say that for? Now they'll think I'm a COMPLETE dweeb...

Frankie turned to her and smiled. "Thanks, Xinyi. It's probably best we know exactly what it is when we tell..."

"Or," interrupted Val, "we DON'T tell anyone and fish it out ourselves!" The gang looked down at the glow once more. Pawan nodded slowly. "Yeah, I mean, do you KNOW how much meteorites go for online?" He said, biting his lip. "Like, mucho gold coins. Plus, still hoping for superpowers here..."

"Yeah! Come on Frank-le-plank!" beamed Val. "I wanna make people explode!"

Frankie sighed. She saw what this was. Just because she was older – just because she wasn't suggesting stupid things like FISHING FOR (potentially) MAGIC SPACE ROCKS – they were making her be the mum. The sensible one. The leader. Frankie took a deep breath. Not today. Not this entire summer, actually. She had decided in the car that this summer, she wasn't going to be in charge of ANYTHING. Especially not Val.

"Yeah, okay. Let's get the meteorite out of the lake," the new, relaxed go-with-the-flow Frankie replied. "So... how are we going to do that?"

How COULD the gang fish the meteorite out the lake? When you think you've got it, turn to the next page - or check the answer at the back!

Hint: Try skipping back a few pages and see if there's any helpful lake-related gear!

DR. JEKYLL'S VISIT TO MR. UTTERSON WAS A STRANGE ONE. HE HAD COME TO ASK FOR A FAVOR, BUT HIS BEHAVIOR WAS SO UNUSUAL THAT MR. UTTERSON WAS COMPELLED TO INVESTIGATE.

Smiling Snicker

Robert Louis Stevenson wrote The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde for an eight-page, 16-line magazine. He had been working as a professional editor since he was 23 years old, and his books had never passed. In 1885, aged 38, he set out on a quest for a new career as a writer, and he was delighted when, in 1885, his editor at Longman, the powerful London publisher, asked him to write a 'fictitious' book for Christmas.

CHRISTMAS HORROR
The Christmas holiday was a time when many Victorian families tried to relax by their own fireside with an evening's reading. Publishers knew that there would be a lot of money to be made from a new kind of book: a Christmas story. It was a time when the British tradition was to read a Christmas story. Stevenson's first story, The Christmas Carol, which first appeared in 1843, had been a success. The British reading public had embraced full-length horror novels such as The Castle of Otranto by Marie Perle (1783) and The Hunchback of Notre-Dame by Victor Hugo (1831).

THE TRANSFORMATION

THE REPULSIVE MAN ASKED DR. LANTON FOR A MEASURING GLASS, THEN TOOK SOME WHITE POWDER AND RED LIQUID FROM THE DRAWER AND MIXED THEM TOGETHER.

SMILING BROADLY, HYDE TURNED TO DR. LANTON.

And now new knowledge and power shall be laid open to you!

Behold!

Hyde gasped, staggered and clung on to the table, staring with wild eyes and panting, open-mouthed.

1. enigma: riddles, mysteries.

THE TRANSFORMATION

THEN HIS FACE SEEMED TO SWELL...

THE FEATURES SEEMED TO MELT AND CHANGE...

AND THERE BEFORE DR. LANTON STOOD HENRY JEKYLL!

O God! O God!

LANTON SAT SHAKING, SICKENED AND APPALLED, AS DR. JEKYLL BEGAN TO EXPLAIN. EVERY WORD SEEMED LIKE A DEADLY BLOW, DESTROYING HIS MIND, HIS SOUL, HIS REASON! HIS WHOLE WORLD COLLAPSED AROUND HIM, LEAVING ONLY HORROR, HORROR, HORROR.

My life is shaken to its roots. I must die!

I saw what I saw, I heard what I heard, and my soul sickened at it.

DR. LANTON COULD NOT BRING HIMSELF TO WRITE DOWN ALL THE FOUL SECRETS DR. JEKYLL TOLD HIM. BUT HE DID RECORD, IN HIS LETTER TO MR. UTTERSON, THAT DR. JEKYLL CONFESSED TO BEING EDWARD HYDE - THE MURDERER OF SIR DANVERS CAREW.

World's Worst Samurai

Yasutaro laughed, and I had to stop myself from throwing my bowl at him. I don't know much about the code of the samurai, but I'm guessing that attacking your own brother during a meal probably isn't part of it.

Mother told me to stop talking nonsense and get on with my chores.

I was expecting Father to say something similar, but he didn't. He froze with his rice bowl in his hand and peered at me in silence. Then he asked why I wanted to be a samurai.

I told him I was from a great samurai family, and it wasn't fair that Yasutaro got to be one and I didn't.

Father nodded and asked if I had any other reason.

I said I was better at fighting than Yasutaro, and if I could be sent to Yoshihiro I would emerge as the true warrior of our family.

Father nodded and asked if I had any other reason.

I said I was better at tactics than Yasutaro, and one day I could become a great commander and lead troops to glorious victories.

Father finished his rice in silence. When his bowl was empty, he said he refused to send me to samurai school.

I tried to keep my anger in, but it was no use. I said it was ridiculous that he wouldn't let me train just because I was a girl.

Father laughed. He said that wasn't the reason, and there were many stories about female samurai who'd commanded armies of thousands. He said the reason he wouldn't send me was because I wasn't thinking like a true samurai should.

Mother repeated her demand for me to get back to my duties, but Father said I could be excused for one day. He told me to take the time to think and then answer the question again tomorrow morning.

GET REAL

Female samurai were rare, but some became legendary figures whose stories were repeated long after they died. An epic account of 12th century battles called The Tale of the Heike describes a female warrior called Tameo Goto. It says she was 'fit to confront a demon or a god' and 'worth a thousand warriors'.

I would never have believed anyone could move that fast, never mind someone so thin and old.

Yoshihiro said we'd try it the other way around. He handed me the pebble and told me to stop him from grabbing it. I placed it in my palm and took a deep breath. This didn't sound too hard. All I'd have to do was clasp my hand as soon as I saw him move.

I told him to go ahead. His hand moved in a rapid blur, and my fingers slapped into an empty palm.

We tried again. I snapped my fingers shut sooner this time, but they still closed on thin air.

I asked Yoshihiro to give me one more chance. He agreed, and this time I smacked my hand shut even faster.

I gasped. There was something inside my hand. On just the first day of training I'd beaten his test. Here was proof that I was destined to be a great warrior.

I opened my hand. In the centre was a small pebble that had been painted red. For a moment, I wondered how it could have changed colour. Then Yoshihiro opened his own hand to

World's Worst Viking Raider

I raced up to him and announced that I was a fearless raider who wanted to join his crew. Unfortunately, he didn't hear, and kept shouting at his men.

I tapped him on the shoulder so I could say it again. It turned out not to be a great idea to surprise a grizzled old raider. He shoved me to the muddy floor, drew his sword and pressed it to my throat. It was so sharp that a single burp could have killed me. I was glad I hadn't eaten too much porridge that morning.

I begged him not to kill me, and told him that he could have anything he wanted if he let me live, including my collection of carved Thor and Loki figures.

He nodded, tucked his sword back into its sheath and asked me what I wanted from him.

I told him I was a fearsome warrior and wanted to join his crew.

Looking back, I can see that might not have been the best time to make the announcement.

GET REAL

One of the reasons the Vikings were so successful as traders and raiders was their longships. They were narrow enough to travel down rivers, and light enough to be rolled over the ground on logs. Some believe they had dragon heads carved at the front to frighten people as they approached.

Eighth Day

The raiders moored their ship in the harbour yesterday morning and spent the rest of the day putting up their tents and trading their plundered goods for weapons, clothes, wheat and dried fish. Our village leader, Birger, has said he's happy for them to stay and share our

Ninth Day

I've found out what the raiders are planning. A trader has told them about a small village on the east coast of England, which has lots of valuable treasure and hardly anyone capable of defending it. They're going to sail across the sea, take all the valuable stuff from it and come back here.

That sounds perfect. I could go with them, join in with the raid and come right back. The English village is an easy target, and I'll be with some very experienced fighters, so I'll be in no danger. I'll get some excellent raiding experience and I won't be away long. There's no way Mum and Dad can object to that.

Later

Dad and Mum have objected. They think it will be too dangerous, even though I've explained that it won't be. I've warned them that I'm going to keep asking until they agree, but they don't think I actually mean it. They'll find out.

and hacking through wood, flesh, bone and whatever stands in the way of my plunder.

At least I would if I had an axe. Dad won't let me have one in case I cut myself.

Third Day

Forget what I said. I do have an axe now. Sort of.

I met my best friend Astrid to play at raiding, and she brought one from her dad's workshop. He's the best blacksmith in our village, and he makes amazing shields and weapons.

We went to the forest north of our village and took turns playing with the axe. I pretended I was in a raid and all the trees were terrified locals. I ran towards them, roaring and swinging my axe, then I planted it right into off his hiking boots. He fell onto the grass with a groan. "I never want to go on a hike again. Never. They said the Bronze Award expedition would be a piece of cake. I'm dying for a piece of cake right now. My feet are killing me. I give up - where are we?"

Sacha gulped from her water bottle. She sank to her knees, sitting on her mud-caked boots. "I haven't got a clue. Right now, I don't care."

Liam hit into a mini Mars Bar then handed her the rest. "Make the most of this last bite. No more left after this."

Sacha passed him the bottle. "Just a few sips. There's hardly any left."

Clouds cast deepening shadows over the hills. A large bird of prey rose in the sky and soared above the moor.

"This map doesn't make sense. I'm sure we turned left at the church in the village." Liam traced his finger over the map. "It doesn't agree with my phone, either. The GPS is useless. The signal's no good out here in the middle of nowhere. It keeps cutting out."

"My battery's virtually given up the ghost. Just like me," Sacha sighed before adding wearily, "I think we should go back. We know there's a pub a few miles back. I'd kill for a plate of hot chips." She looked up. "There's a huge bird up there. It must be a vulture waiting for us to die of thirst."

Liam turned the map round. "Unless that clump of trees in this bit of green on the map and on my phone." He swore when he lost the signal again.

Sacha laughed. "Let's face it, you haven't got a clue."

He kept looking at the map. "There's a red triangle thing marked here. It's a youth hostel. We can't be far off. Let's go there. Hostels are cheap. It's only a couple of miles."

Sacha got to her feet. "If you say so. It'll be dark soon." She stared up at the circling bird with a growing sense of doom, as Liam put on his rucksack with a renewed burst of enthusiasm. "We'll be in the dry before the rain starts."

They linked arms and began walking towards the setting sun - towards the bird of prey and the dead of night.

The first drops of rain began to fall as Sacha pulled on the hood of her raincoat.

"How much further, Liam? My blisters say it's bed time."

"Not far. I'll be able to tell when we get to the top of this hill. We'll see down into the next valley. I should get a better phone signal up there."

Sacha snorted. "It'll be dark by the time we get to the top."

Thunder clouds blotted out the rising moon and rolled across the moor as a shriek filled the darkening sky. Liam and Sacha stopped to look up. A black shape swooped over their heads. "Scary!" Sacha frowned. "That bird is like an omen. An omen of doom!"

Their boots squelched through mud. "Not long," Liam called. "We'll soon be at the top." A flash of lightning snaked across the sky and a loud crack rumbled over the moor. "It's like something from a horror movie," Sacha panted. The rain swept across in silvery squalls. At the top of the hill Liam pointed into the next valley. "That must be the hostel. Down there. With the tall chimney and smoke."

"I don't like the look of it," Sacha murmured.

"It won't take us long," Liam said, ignoring her. The air was now very still. As they walked down towards the hostel, a strange silence fell. There was no rain here and everything was deathly still - apart from a bird hovering above the smoke that rose towards the pale moon peeping through parting clouds.

A sign by a set of black iron gates said 'Youth Hostel, Members Only'. Just beyond stood a stark Gothic mansion surrounded by bent and twisted tree trunks.

Apart from a faint glow from one of the large upstairs windows, the house was in eerie darkness.

"I told you we'd find it," Liam said, smiling.

Sacha wasn't so sure. "It doesn't look very nice," she said.

Liam ignored her and added, "I've got cash. They'll let us stay the night."

Clanging through the gate, they walked along the path, up some crumbling steps and to the porch. A pair of boots caked in dried mud lay on the top step. Liam slammed his fist on the heavy door and a hollow thud echoed before the door swung open. A dimly lit hallway with dark oak panels stretched in front of them. The smell of soot drifted out over the porch. A thin, bent man in black stood in front of them. He had a hooked nose and small beady eyes. "Yes? What is it?" he croaked. His eyes stared like a bird's.

"Can we stay the night?" Liam said. "I can pay with a card or cash."

The man blinked. The light from a single bulb cast his shadow over the front steps. He had a shadow like a vulture's.

"Members only," he said. "You'll have to join."

"How much?"

"We've got rules," the man continued, not listening. "No matches. No paraffin. No time."

Sacha squeezed Liam's hand. She could smell drink on the man's breath.

"Are you the warden?" Liam asked.

The man ignored him. "It's late. It's only because of the clocks I can bend the rules tonight. We're full. One of you will have to sleep in the attic. The other in the boiler room."

Sacha pulled a face. "I don't like the sound of

WHEN THE CLOCK STOPS

When they wander from the expedition party, fifteen-year-olds Liam and Sacha are alone on the moors. Lost. At first, it's no big deal, as the map shows a hostel isn't too far away. But they haven't bargained on what is waiting in the darkness, and on what will happen on the night the clocks go back...

close to her, Valeria, who was made of sterner stuff, had wriggled free and stared at the soldiers in round-eyed wonder.

Lucius's older brother had found plenty to say. Quintus, named after his father, was never lost for words. He had followed the soldiers through the villa as they searched for his father, warning them of the dire punishments that would fall on their heads when his father returned, threatening them with curses and finally invoking the household gods to protect the family against the intruders.

But, throughout it all, Lucius had stayed in the atrium, his back pressed against the cool marble walls. The statues were still wearing their crowns of flowers and leaves. Less than a day had passed since they had celebrated their mother's birthday. And now his world was crumbling around his ears.

'Where is he, boy?'

A soldier was standing in front of him, demanding an answer.

'The Senate?' snarled Quintus from the doorway to the atrium. 'The Forum?' Where else would you expect one of Rome's most respected senators to be at this time of day?

'He's not there,' Lucius said.

His voice sounded creaky and unfamiliar. 'What are you talking about?' asked Quintus.

 From the marketplace of ancient Rome, which was also the place for business meetings and political transactions.*

BLOOD OATH

He sounded irritable and indignant. How funny, thought Lucius, Quint always knows everything. How come he doesn't know this?

'Explain yourself,' snapped out the soldier, who was evidently losing patience fast.

'Look,' said Lucius.

Finally Quint followed the direction of his brother's gaze and his eyes fell on the altar. Lucius saw Quint's posture change. His shoulders sagged, his face registered confusion and disbelief.

'The dog's gone,' he said.

Of the three statues that represented their household gods, the wooden dog had always been their father's favourite. It had stood on the hearth altar for as long as Lucius could remember. Aquila had said that it represented the faithfulness of true friends. He would never take the statue on a normal working day. But it would always travel with him when he made a journey.

'He's taken the statue?' demanded the soldier.

Lucius nodded.

The soldier's mouth set into a grim line. 'Right,' he said.

He called his men and ordered them to his side.

'You're going?' Quint asked.

'Yes,' said the soldier. 'We'll leave you to your shame.'

'What are you supposed to mean?' Quint had recovered from his initial shock and was treading again.

be many weeks – perhaps months – of this ahead of him.

Quin had always seemed strong and powerful. But now, standing barefoot in the middle of the arena, wearing nothing but a haircloth, he looked like a child. Blood and sweat were smeared across his back and shoulders.

Other novice gladiators were watching from the side steps, and Lucius had ventured out of the back rooms of the school to see how Quin was getting on. Now he wished that he hadn't looked.

'No sword, no shield, no armour,' he muttered. 'It's not fair.'

'They have to learn to fight with no kit at first,' said a voice behind him. 'The weapons come later.'

Lucius spun around and saw a slave girl standing there. Her thick, black hair hung in two heavy plaits around her oval face. Lucius didn't know what to say. A month ago he would have smiled and thanked her. He would have known his own status. Now, working in the gladiator school, he didn't even feel like himself any more. He certainly didn't feel like talking. He turned back to the arena, where Quin was on his back again.

One of the watching gladiators turned to Lucius. His lips parted in a black-toothed grin.

'Your brother's not even out of his swaddling clothes,' he said, spitting onto the sand. 'We eat his sort for breakfast.'

 A novice (school work) or trainee gladiator.*

BLOOD OATH

Clearly this gladiator was badly trained and fighting for money. Lucius didn't answer but, as he heard another cry of pain from Quin, his throat burred. He would be sick if he kept on watching. He had to get out. Luckily, he had an excuse to leave: his uncle had asked him to deliver a message to someone in the Forum.

The swarming streets of Rome seemed less busy than usual. Lucius weaved his way towards the Forum, the cries of street sellers ringing in his ears as he dashed through the throng of carts and chariots. The acid smell of urine and excrement stung his throat. He stumbled over a litter of piglets trotting across his path and the owner yelled at him. 'Out of the way, boy!'

'Sorry,' Lucius murmured, nodding to the side of the street, where a meat vendor who was selling piles of fresh red hams was splattering everyone in the vicinity with blood.

He hadn't been paying much attention to his route until now. He knew the streets so well that his feet would carry him to the marketplace while his mind was still in the arena with his brother. But now he realised that he was standing on the street where their old home was. The shops set into the villa walls were selling the same cloth and clay pots of olive oil as always. Everything looked just as it had been in the old days.

CHAPTER I

POMPEII, 19 AUGUST AD 79
120 hours before the eruption of Vesuvius

The midday sun beat down on Lucius as he pursued Quint through the streets of Pompeii. He glimpsed his brother's tall, athletic figure up ahead, snarling along through the crowds heading west towards the Forum. Lucius would have preferred to walk side by side with Quint through this unfamiliar city, but seemed he would not be welcomed.

Squalls of cooking steam from the fast-food shops mingled with the stench wafting over from the fish-sauce factories near the harbour. Lucius's ears echoed with the voices of fruit sellers and wine merchants and the pipes and drums of bankers. The noise and squalor reminded him of Subura, the area where he now lived in Rome. Yet Pompeii seemed to carry an entire air of horror. The shadow-filled alleys, the hard faces of the young men, the cold-eyed stare of a beggar woman – they all spelled danger to Lucius. Maybe it was his imagination, but Pompeii seemed like a city brimming with desperate and unscrupulous people who'd murder you for the price of a loaf of bread. He was glad he'd decided to follow Quint. Somehow, he felt his brother needed watching in a place like this. Of course, Quint was a gladiator and very capable of looking after himself – yet Lucius knew he could be hot-headed at times, and in these strange and scary streets he might very easily get himself into trouble.

From a nearby side street, Lucius heard a cry of pain. His natural caution made him want to hurry on past, but then he saw Quint turn and enter the alley. Heistily, Lucius followed, rubbing the ring on his forefinger for luck. It was his only memento of his father, and had become his talisman. Concealing himself behind a pile of amphorae*, Lucius saw Quint approach a group of rough-looking young men. They were jeering and pushing around a lad of about their own age. From his smart, formal toga, now bespattered with mud, Lucius could tell the victim was a young man of status, though this did not seem to count for much among his tormentors.

* Amphorae (singular amphora): earthenware storage jars.

His sense of fairness clearly offended, Quint impulsively stride into the middle and pushed aside one of the bullies, who had been holding the victim in a neck lock. The bully sprang in surprise and fell to the ground. His friends immediately closed in around Quint, their jeers turning to shouts of anger.

There were six of them – three armed with sticks against the unarmed Quint. Lucius growled. He stole himself, knowing he would have to go and help his brother. With his slender build, Lucius wasn't made for physical violence. He cursed their fate for bringing them here to Pompeii.

It was ten days since Crassus, the lanista of the gladiator school, had made the announcement. The school had received a great honour, he said: it had been chosen to represent Rome at the forthcoming games in Pompeii. A total of thirty gladiators would be going, including Quint. And Lucius had been dismayed to learn that he too was among those selected to go. It was a seven-day march to Pompeii, and there would be a further week spent in the city. Taking the return march into account, that meant that Lucius would be gone from Rome for three whole weeks – time he had been hoping to spend searching for his father. What if Aquila tried to contact him during that time? It seemed that fate had once again intervened to prevent them from meeting.

CHAPTER 1

SWIFTIE TO BESTIE

Sabrina had just received one of the most important calls of her career.

"Taylor wants me to open for her!" Her eyes were wide with disbelief. When she was a little girl she put posters of Miley Cyrus, Ariana Grande, Selena Gomez and Taylor Swift on her bedroom walls. Now Taylor wanted Sabrina to join her on the Eras Tour. "Just wait until I tell the fans!" But for now, it was top secret.

Sabrina was so excited. It felt like yesterday that she was sat in her bedroom with only her guitar, painstakingly learning the chords to Taylor's 'Picture to Burn'. One time her dad peeked in and asked her what she was doing.

SABRINA CARPENTER

"I'm practicing for when I'm famous," she said with a grin. She was only ten, but she knew what she wanted even then.

Fourteen years later, that dream was a reality – although it did feel surreal. Sabrina was no longer a girl with posters; she was living alongside her idols, one of whom had become a friend and another who she had performed alongside: Ariana. By May 2023, rumours about Sabrina and Taylor's friendship were swirling, fuelled by photos and social media interactions. Then came Sabrina's trip to Philadelphia for Taylor's concert.

What a night that was. The show was everything Sabrina had imagined and more. Sitting with her sister Sarah in the packed stadium, she found herself singing along to every word and laughing when Taylor joked about her cats. The choreography and emotional storytelling made her jaw drop.

"She makes it look effortless," Sabrina whispered. Sarah nudged her. "You're not, you know." Sabrina rolled her eyes. "Yeah, right." "Just wait," Sarah replied, with a knowing smile.

LIZ GÖGERLY

On 2 June 2023, Sabrina posted an announcement on Instagram that sent her fans into a frenzy. It read:

trying to process this but also i share CANT WAIT TO JOIN THE ERAS TOUR IN LATIN AMERICA thank u @taylorswift i the 1 :)) this is a dream come true

Within hours, the internet was exploding with excitement. Fans reposted the announcement and the comments section lit up with messages like:

This is your spot... Show girl!

Sabrina had every intention of shining. She went straight into rehearsal; there was no time to chill after the spill!

"This is huge," Sabrina flew Sarah. "I've got to get it right."

"You will," Sarah assured her. She always had Sabrina's back.

"This is my big break. I have got this!" The first show where Sabrina opened for Taylor was in Mexico City on 24 August 2023. Standing backstage, she had that familiar feeling – sick to the pit of her stomach with nerves! The arena was packed with Swifties, but hopefully there are a few Carpenters out there too. Sabrina thought to herself and crossed her fingers behind her back. She adjusted her microphone pack and glanced in the mirror. She felt sexy in her platform boots and black sequin outfit.

"You have got this, Sabrina Carpenter," she repeated to herself. Flicking her hair back with all the self-assurance of a seasoned star!

As the lights dimmed, Sabrina heard her name being announced. The crowd erupted – Sabrina had a big following in Mexico City. She beamed, she needed to hear the cheers. It drove her on. She stepped onto the stage, launching into 'Feather', the song which had hit number one on the US Billboard Pop Songs chart earlier that year. When Sabrina saw the audience joining in and dancing, she knew she had them – that's when she went into overdrive.

"Don't forget Selena," Sabrina told the crowd as she began singing 'Dreaming of You' by American Tejano singer Selena Quintanilla-Pérez. The Tex-Mex singer had passed away in 1995, and the Mexican crowd appreciated Sabrina's nod to the star. There were tears and huge cheers as Sabrina hit the final note. She looked across the auditorium and felt the love, the connection and the magic.

By the time Sabrina got to 'Nonsense', the audience was completely in sync with her energy, laughing at her funny ad-libs and singing along to the chorus.

"I love you guys," she told them warmly, her eyes sparkling with mischievous excitement, as she said her farewells after singing an encore.

"Wow, that was the performance of my life!" Sabrina told Taylor later that night.

"The best is yet to come, huh?" Sabrina thought, curling up in the super king size bed. Every muscle in her body ached after the performance. And man her feet were on fire after dancing in those boots! But, she didn't care, she was doing the thing she loved best in
