Along Came a... Rainbow!

A laugh-out-loud science story all about the weather!

- With warm, funny text by rising-star Saskia Gwinn (author of Scientists are Saving the World and I am Not the Easter Bunny).

Along Came a... Rainbow!

My dear Rainbow don't lose color. They are actually mixed with each other. The colors themselves don't have color. They don't have separate colors, but they do!

You don't look like a circle normally!

Oh well, usually you can only see half of me. That's because people like the sun don't let me shine. But when you look and I'll form from the lights.

You can see the complete me when you are VERY high up in the sky and when it is sunset or sunrise.

Oh yes, I see you ARE a rainbow? I said that why are you all those colors?!

Sunglasses! I mean, when your eyes normally see as white light!

But when the white light through the window, they separate! The other color separates! The other color separates!

PING!
If BEHOLD them.

GREEN
ORANGE
YELLOW
RED

And that separates them into all the colors outside of the rainbow to make... ME!

And I was about to say, "Err, how will I get down?" when ALL of a sudden along came the...

...cloud!

Why did you rain on my house?!

"Excuse me!" said the cloud. "Well, you know I don't rain on your house!"

I made the rain that MADE the rainbow.

When the Sun heated the ocean, an invisible gas called water vapour rose from the surface.

But as it went up, it began cooling down.

WATER VAPOUR

Oh!...

Water!

And then...

The gas formed into thousands of tiny drops of water.

Water! The clouds!

But the drops of water kept bumping into each other.

And when they did, they stuck together.

And now they're big that I just can't keep it in any longer!

Oh, sticking with you!

Yes, you mean... me too!

I was about to say, "Err, how will I get down?" when ALL of a sudden along came the...

...raindrop!

Why are you SO round?!, asked the sun. "Well, I'm round because I'm shaped like a ball!"

Oh yes, we don't really look like that unless we're ending down a window. We're actually super cool shape changers, look!

When I fell out of that cloud, it took a moment like a circle.

From the raindrops!

Then like a pair of teardrops!

Then I broke in two and landed on your head!

And guess what? Because a drop of water is recycled over hundreds of millions of years, it contains a pretty good bit of the same stuff that makes you!

And I was about to say, "Err, how will I get down?" when ALL of a sudden the air went up, the sky turned grey and along came the...

...fog?

A fog so thick I could barely see!

"Cloud! Where did you go?!" I called.

"I'm all around you," boomed the cloud.

"I AM the fog. Now if we fast forward to nighttime and head out to sea..."

Excuse me! That's a lot of effort.

Well, there's no way around it, as the BEST way to make fog is overnight.

First LOTS of water vapour rises into the air.

The salt in the air from the ocean mixes with the water vapour. Then...

They whisk up over a cool surface and become fog. Perfecto!

Oh, and you better watch out if that water vapour hits something icy cold like a mountain top, because you get...

FREEZING FOG!

You don't need the salty ocean to make fog either. If the ground is cold and wet and the air has dust in it, the water in the air will stick to it to make... you guessed it... fog!

And I was about to say, "Err, how will I get down?" when ALL of a sudden along came the...

Cinderella

Cinderella ran along the long palace corridors, the prince close behind. "Please wait!" he called, "I don't know your name!"

Her heart hammered with fear that he should see her in her ugly dress and clumsy shoes, so she didn't look back, but raced as fast as she could past startled servants and graying guards.

She had nearly reached the palace gates when the final stroke of midnight sounded.

DING! DONG! DING!
Startled by the noise, Cinderella stumbled and one of her glass slippers slid off her foot. There was no time to pick it up - she could feel her sick dread growing rough and thin.

She ran even faster, past the guards, through the gardens, and away from the palace and the prince.

When she reached the place where she had left her coach, it had already turned back into a pumpkin, and the horses and coachman had become mice once more and scurried away. Cinderella had to walk the long miles home.

By the palace gates, the prince picked up the tiny glass slipper and held it carefully. "The woman this shoe fits shall be my bride," he said.
