Ancient Love Stories

THE SACRED BAND OF THEBES

This was the final meeting place of the Sacred Band of Thebes, one of the most remarkable and most loyal armies that had ever lived. A bold experiment in an age torn apart by warring wars and between alliances, who had been fighting by the freedom of the Greeks. As every man part of soldiers, but of a hundred and fifty such boys.

Bound together by love loyalty to each other, the crack team of warriors was founded in Thebes in 378 BC by an extraordinary visionary by the name of Pausanias. It began as a resistance corps against the looming military power of Sparta (renowned the world over for its famously trained soldiers) across the mountain to the south. These were chaste, Spartan-style, gladiators, playing blood across the pages of history, and well suited to the birth of a new kind of army.

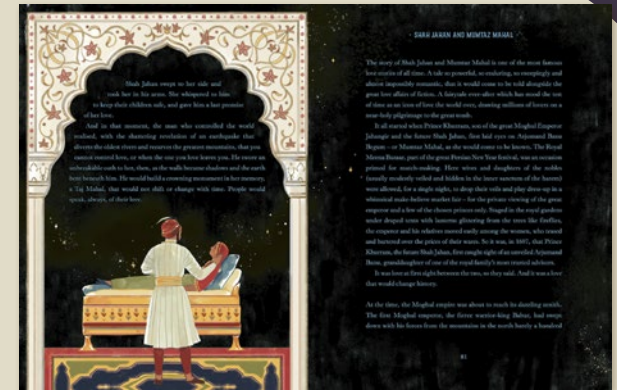

HADES AND ANTINOUS

They parted first around seven years earlier, when Hades - ruler of the Roman world and self-proclaimed prince of peace - took a summer jaunt across the Roman province of Bithynia, in northern Turkey, where Antinous had his home. The emperor, busy with the day job, probably did not spot Antinous among the crowds of adoring subjects and eager petitioners. But one of his women did - and, no doubt, with an eye to the emperor's taste, spent a night in the meeting in the beautiful, beach-looked young man. Antinous was duly offered a dream career: admission to the exclusive imperial retinue along with a tuition package to the emperor's personal academy in Rome. To be his boy from a distant village on the fringes of the Roman empire, this must have seemed an offer too good to be true - a one-way ticket to live among the stars. But, it was a good mistake if anything would have known. By invitation to the sun and you might get burned.

Antinous' due to the top was meteoric even by Roman standards, where there were plenty of high achievers who made it to the big time. But among the other staff of the imperial household, Antinous - famously good-looking, smart, with a magnetic personality and a sensitive nature for Hades' beloved boy - quickly caught the emperor's eye. Hades was instantly besotted, and Antinous became his paragon. In the summer of 130 AD, at the age of seventeen, Antinous was personally selected to accompany Hades on a tour of Greece (Hades was a notorious Greek enthusiast, then said: Antinous said, finally, Egypt).

It was clear to everyone that Hades was something to be Antinous out of his sight - and together, they took part in many extraordinary experiences on their round-the-world trip. A night-long dip into mystical waters at the Thracian Mountains of Ganga. A brief boat race in the highlands of Asia Minor. A quest - about the searching out of Hades' much-loved Greek mythology books - to take down a mountain lion that had been terrorizing the people of Licia. On all these adventures, the new obsession with each other grew steadily.

MARK ANTONY AND CLEOPATRA

Mark Antony was to his side and Cleopatra was to his side, and together, they took part in many extraordinary experiences on their round-the-world trip. A night-long dip into mystical waters at the Thracian Mountains of Ganga. A brief boat race in the highlands of Asia Minor. A quest - about the searching out of Hades' much-loved Greek mythology books - to take down a mountain lion that had been terrorizing the people of Licia. On all these adventures, the new obsession with each other grew steadily.

wafted by attendants dressed as cupids and sea-nymphs: Cleopatra. Ruler of Egypt. Goddess of the Nile. Queen of one of the wealthiest countries in the world. Beautiful, certainly, at just twenty eight, but more than anything, utterly, alluringly certain of her star-quality charisma. As one writer put it, "her sex appeal, together with her powers of persuasion and her ability to charm all around her, made her simply, irresistibly desirable." This was who had come to call on Mark Antony, one of the most powerful men in Rome (and so, at that time, the world). Antony was a soldier, a devotee of the wine-god Dionysus, a playboy extraordinaire - a man, in other words, who lived life in vivid technicolour.

If anyone was going to make Rome's fun-loving general pay attention, it was going to be the young queen sailing towards him dressed in gold.

But there was more to this than just sex appeal. For Antony, vying to hold onto his position of power amidst the remains of the crumbling Roman Republic, Cleopatra meant Egypt, and Egypt meant two things: grain and gold. Both were essential to fund (and feed) his battle for world domination. For Cleopatra, Antony meant Rome's backing for her precarious hold on power back home, following a decade of civil war, during which the young queen had gone into exile and returned with an army to take the throne from her brother. No meeting could be more important for either of them. It was a moment well worth a bit of theatre, not to mention a spot of role play.

INTRODUCTION

Plumbers have dreamed about Purgatory for thousands of years. It's not hard to imagine our positive emotions, who possessed the ability solely to create beautiful, calm paintings of the world around them - the landscapes, animals and each other - staring into the skies to watch birds wheel and swoop overhead and thriving by themselves. Were they all too? In Purgatory, what about the world built the burn-up there? You're probably had a similar feeling yourself, standing your house from above, then turning towards the sun, feeling the wind flow over your head, and staring towards the horizon and the unknown world beyond.

The first true atomic capsule of lifting people is relative safety and carrying them for descent. diffusion was not just an illusion. The first was launched to great fortune in France in 1783. Suddenly it was possible for people to take to the skies, and it indicated a theory of public interest in the notion of flight. Many more dangers followed. Tethered balloons were immediately put to use by armies to spy on enemy movements from afar. But balloons are actually at the mercy of the wind, and pilots have to control over their direction of travel.

They changed one fatal fly in WWII, when the first powered flight in an airplane called the Flyer was made. It only lasted for 12 seconds, but it was enough to change our world. From that moment on, the development of the airplane has never stopped. The constant advancement in aviation technology funded with so much money, energy, materials and technical expertise, is carried out because airplanes are so useful. They transport people and cargo faster than any other vehicle. They are a vital part of military campaigns. They help us map, explore and learn about our world. They entertain us with aerobatic displays of speed and maneuverability. They make it all possible. Aviation is the heart of our world.

Don your scuba goggles and prepare for a breath-taking journey through the steel!

- AMAZING AIRCRAFT
WRIGHT FLYER

On December 17th, 1903, Wilbur and Orville Wright changed the world forever. For years, they mathematically studied American brothers had shared a vision of creating a machine that could fly further and more reliably than a glider, and, unlike air hot air balloons, wasn't forced to fly in a particular direction by the wind. In short: the first flying vehicle that the pilot had complete control over. After years of planning and countless experiments, their vision became a history-making reality in the sandy dunes of Outer Banks, North Carolina, USA.

Orville Wright lay on his stomach, gripping the Flyer's control stick. Two propellers whirled on either side of him. These were connected by bicycle chains to a lightweight petrol engine designed specially by the Wright brothers' mechanic, Frank Charles Taylor: the engine had no throttle control, it was either 'on' or ¹⁰W. Wilbur ran alongside as the Pigeon tumbled down a wooden launch rail, took off and flew close to the ground for 12 seconds. Three more flights occurred that day, the last being the longest at 39 seconds and 260m. Unfortunately, the Pigeon was damaged on landing and never flew again.

But this was only the beginning. News of the Wright brothers' incredible achievement spread, and soon other inventors were building on their ideas to create new ideas eventually patented airplanes. The first circumnavigation around the world was completed in four Douglas World Cruiser airplanes only 21 years later. By the 1930s, jet aircraft were roaring through the air. Today, we see aircraft in defined services: ferry cargo, carry out the saving-remotest operations, and explore and travel the world – miracles of flight all attributed to the Wright brothers.

WOOD, CANVAS AND STRING

The aircraft was only 10 years old and had hardly ever been used in combat when the First World War broke out in 1914. But over the course of the next five years, both sides realized just how useful these flying machines could be. Aeroplane technology advanced rapidly as each side strove to gain air superiority.

Range-finders were first used for reconnaissance missions. Flying high over the battlefield, "spies" (or stonemans) could look down and take photographs of enemy positions and trench systems, and help artillery hit their targets more accurately. This French Voisin 22 biplane had a pilot and stoneman, and a rear-facing machine gun to fend off attackers.

Most aircraft were unarmed at the start of the war. Pilots had to shoot at enemy planes with pistols, rifles or hand-held machine guns. By 1915, most aircraft had rear-firing machine guns for defence, but a fighter plane needs guns that fire forwards. Introduced in 1915, German pilotler J.E. Rumphord had forward-firing guns designed around bullets between the propeller blades as they rotated.

As the war progressed, both sides developed aircraft that were more manoeuvrable, could fly and gun at altitude faster, and take more damage. As technology improved, combat aircraft could be put to more uses. As well as a fighter, the British Sigbee Camel was also used as a 'low-land' 'branch' similar to attacking targets on the ground with bombs and machine guns.

The best targets occur when the Mustangs fly in a loose echelon, says page 27, but lumber away than fighters. Explains drop its fuselage and machine guns.

The pilots who drafted over war-torn Europe needed calm nerves and skill. Moreover, many had very little training, and the experience was short. Pilots who shot down more than five aircraft were called 'aces'. This Fokker D.VII fighter was flown by German ace Manfred von Richthofen – also known as the Red Baron.

Human 2.0

INTRODUCTION

[illegible]

For as long as humans have been around, we have been living limbs or arms less without them. Whether that is an injury or congenital impairment (a condition that is present from birth), people have been trying to replace missing arms, legs, fingers and toes for thousands of years. Early prostheses were revolutionary for their time, yet their inventors did not have the technology needed to provide better functionality and comfort. Even so, some of these early prostheses closely resemble those that exist today.

The earliest known example of a prosthesis (an artificial body part) belonged to an Egyptian mummyman over 2,600 years ago. This wooden prosthesis replaced the big toe on her right foot, and even had a ridge in the shape of a nail carved into it to make it appear more realistic. It would have been strapped onto her foot with string, and scientists believe that it would have greatly aided her balance.

The earliest written mention of a prosthesis dates to around 777 and describes the iron hand belonging to the Roman general, Marcus Sergius. Sergius was said to be one of the finest generals of his time, especially because of his bravery in battle. Across the campaigns he was wounded 28 times, resulting in the loss of his right hand. Sergius's replacement hand was strapped to his arm, perhaps allowing him to hold a shield for future battles.

Count Götz von Berlichingen
Perhaps the most famous example of an early prosthesis is that belonging to the German knight, Count Götz von Berlichingen, who lost his hand during battle in the early 1500s. Undeterred, Count Götz asked local craftsmen to create an iron hand with digits (fingers and thumb) that could lock into place, so he could hold a horse's reins or a weapon. His love for warfare has him so famous that some people believe it inspired the phrase, "To rule with an iron fist."

WHAT IS BIONIC?

Blaise first explored the transfer of technology between artificial objects and living organisms. The word blend came from a combination of the Greek words for "mix, alloy, and the word "electronic". It was coined by American doctor and ex-US Air Force nuclear lab K. Stewart in the 1950s.

Paula de Stedeh, the American-Argentine Dutch Scientist developed the concept of "biotechnology" – the transfer of ideas from biology to technology by using the concepts of genetic engineering and the application of a gathering of expertise on the topics of how new technologies could be developed by blending of expertise in nature. This field of research is known as biotechnology. A lot of the best inventions to come from this field include streamlined swimsuits inspired by the structure of shark's skin, Velcro® fasteners developed from how burrs (small seed-like things) attach to fur, and the shape of aeroplanes, which were designed by looking at how birds fly when they flap their wings.

Stewart's lecture was titled How Do We Blend Things?, and the famous Blaise® was later taken up by the writer Martin Amis in his 1972 novel, Leviathan. From this point onwards, the word "biotech" became part of today's culture and has been used to describe a whole range of genetic, genetic, disease even

BIONIC LIMBS AND IMPLANTABLE DEVICES

A prosthesis can be internal or external to the body. The ways in which people can replace parts of their body can largely be broken down into two groups: bionic limbs and implantable devices.

'Implantable devices' is a broad term describing anything that is surgically implanted inside the body. Because surgery is required to gain access, these devices cannot easily be removed, and are typically designed to stay inside the body forever. Examples of these include pacemakers and cochlear implants.

Bionic limbs are artificial body parts, which are intended to replace the function of a human body part, such as an arm or a leg. These are attached to the body, usually via a belt, strap or socket, and can be easily taken on and off by their wearer.

If either a bionic limb or an implant has batteries that need to be charged, they are called 'active'. Those that do not are called 'passive'. Some implants, such as cochlear implants, need batteries. These sit outside the body and attach to the implant via a wire, so the user does not need surgery every time the battery runs out (see pages 28–29).

101 Dogs

Japanese Chin

In Japan, the Chin was regarded not as a dog (inu) but as a separate being (shishi), bred to have a higher status among dogs and ideal for noble companionship. Modern Chinese make charming pets as they are loving and playful, and are one of the most out-like breeds. They like to climb, and often climb their face with their paws. Looking at their lovely, long fluffy coat, you might think this pretty little creature needs lots of brushing. Not so – the Chin is a 'wash and go' kind of dog, only needing a weekly tidy up.

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 20-25cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Akita

A strong and sturdy dog, the Akita was awarded Japanese royalty. It is a fiercely loyal, not for much an imposing breed, very loving. One Akita famously waited for his owner at the train station every day for nine years after he had died. One thing that can be startling is its habit of holding things in its mouth, including your wrist! It isn't going to bite you, it simply wants to take you to where it wants you to go – often to its bed to go for a walk or to its bed because it wants feeding. The Akita doesn't often bark but it does make a lot of noise when those owners say their dog matters under its breath!

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 50-60cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Shiba Inu

The smallest of six dog breeds native to Japan, the Shiba Inu greets the world with quiet dignity. It's like a little stoic warrior, moving quickly and nimbly. The Japanese have three words to describe this breed, none it required boldness, elegant (good nature) and noble (adornment). It also tends to be passionate – like a sturdy toddler, the Shiba Inu doesn't like to share and if it could speak, its first word would be 'mine'. It's also a natural hunter, so if you let it off the lead while out on a walk, it will probably disappear in the direction of the nearest squirrel.

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 35-40cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Pharaoh Hound

This elegant breed was developed to hunt gazelle with pharaohs in ancient Egypt, more than 4,000 years ago. Despite its noble past, the Pharaoh loves people and simply loves life. It's a natural clown – you can even teach a Pharaoh to smile! And it's possibly the only breed that can blink – when it's happy or excited, its nose and ears will turn a deeper shade of pink. But as a hunting breed, it has a strong prey drive and is likely to chase anything it sees, so keep it on the lead at all times.

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 50-60cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Shar-Pei

This strange-looking breed looks like it needs ironing! These deep wrinkles serve a purpose, though. The Shar-Pei (whose name translates as 'sand skin') was sometimes called the 'Chinese fighting dog' and any attacker would have a tough job biting through those loose, thick folds and tough skin. They were once known as 'lion dogs' – an obvious nod to their lion-like appearance. They were used as 'lion dogs' – an obvious nod to their lion-like appearance. They were used as 'lion dogs' – an obvious nod to their lion-like appearance.

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 50-60cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Greyhound

This sleek and elegant creature is known as the Ferrari of the dog world. And this is no idle boast: the Greyhound can run at speeds of more than 70 kilometres per hour. Greyhounds were bred for Chaperos as well as Britain's great monarch, Elizabeth I. Their love of this breed led to greyhound racing being dubbed the 'Sport of Queens'. From that title, you might think the breed needs masses of exercise, but the Greyhound is surprisingly laid-back. It is a sprinter, not a long-distance runner, so a daily walk is enough. It is, however, most plenty of belly rubs!

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 50-60cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Saluki

Alaskan Malamute

Prized by the travelling people of the Middle East, this exotic breed is thought to take its name from the Arabian city of Saluk. To the sheikhs, it was a noble dog indeed and they kept precise records of breeding and hunting prowess. They hunted hare, fox and gazelle from horseback, so their hounds had to be fleet of foot. There were once two different types of Saluki – desert and mountain – but the two have merged into the modern breed. It has, however, retained its beauty and some of its speed, so be prepared to do a lot of jogging...

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 58-71cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

This impressive breed is one of the oldest in the world and has changed very little, still resembling its wolf ancestors. It was used by the Mahlemut people to pull sleds and hunt seals. It is a strong and imposing animal, but it isn't much use as a watchdog – Malamutes regard everyone they meet as friends. They rarely bark, but make a charming 'woo-woo' noise. They're intelligent too, which means they can easily get bored... and a bored Malamute is trouble in waiting. They love to dig holes in the garden, or sniff across the kitchen counters for something tasty, so keep them busy!

Life Expectancy 12-15 Years | Height 53-64cm | Trainability Easy, but can get bored | Grooming Needed every day | Exercise None! This is an energetic breed | Most likely to say This looks like a good spot to dig! | Least likely to say (to anyone) You shall not pass

Around the World in 80 Inventions

Ice Cream

"Dreaming from dessert"

14

On the hot day of August 18th, 1791, a Frenchman named Nicolas-Louis Clément was in the kitchen of a Parisian hotel. He was making a special dessert for a guest. He had a recipe for a dessert called 'glace' which was a mixture of cream, sugar and fruit. He was using a hand-cranked machine to mix the ingredients. The machine was made of wood and had a large wheel on the side. He was turning the wheel and the mixture was being mixed. The machine was called a 'glace machine' and it was used to make ice cream. The first ice cream was made in Italy and it was called 'gelato'. It was made with milk and sugar. The first ice cream was made in 1686 and it was called 'gelato'. It was made with milk and sugar. Bicycle

"Freedom on two wheels"

Did you know that the first bicycle was called a 'velocipede'? It was a wooden machine with two wheels of different sizes. The front wheel was larger than the back wheel. It was called a 'velocipede' because it was fast. The first bicycle was made in 1817 and it was called a 'velocipede'. It was made with wood and had two wheels of different sizes. Petition Penny-Farthing

It was a bit of a design, much up on the coast. Penny-Farthing was a bicycle with a large front wheel and a small back wheel. It was called a 'penny-farthing' because the front wheel was as big as a penny and the back wheel was as small as a farthing. The first penny-farthing was made in 1860 and it was called a 'penny-farthing'. It was made with wood and had two wheels of different sizes. The front wheel was larger than the back wheel. Wheel

"The revolutionary design that makes the world go round"

Can you imagine a world without wheels? Apart from sledges and ships, there would be no vehicles - no carts, cabs, bikes, buses, trucks, trains, cars or aeroplanes. The first wheeled vehicles were animal-drawn carts with solid wooden wheels. They were invented in Mesopotamia (modern-day Iraq) around 3500 BCE. 3500 years after the horizontal potter's wheel. These carts carried cargo to market and heavy loads, such as stone and timber for building projects. The horse-drawn chariot came next. In about 2500 BCE, chariot wheels were spoked rather than solid like a cartwheel, so they were faster and lighter. The wheel may be one of the simplest inventions, but without it our world would be completely different.

Potter's Wheel

The very first wheels were used to make pottery. The art of pottery began around 30,000 years ago. Originally, potters would shape clay into pots with their hands, but this took a long time. The Mesopotamians invented a better method in around 3500 BCE. The potter's wheel was a large stone disc balanced on a stick called an 'axle', which could be spun. By putting clay on the wheel and spinning it, the potter could shape the clay quickly into pots. We don't know for sure, but it seems likely that the potter's wheel led to the invention of the vehicle wheel.

Internet

18

The invention of the Internet - a network of computers that 'speak' to each other - was a concentrated effort in the United States. The first computers were connected to each other in 1969, but scientists first began developing the Internet in the early 1950s during the Cold War (1947-1991), a time of heightened hostility between the USSR and the United States and when computers were the size of an entire room. The United States government wanted a communication system that couldn't be destroyed in a single attack, so they created ARPANET (Advanced Research Projects Agency Network): a series of linked computers across different locations, which allowed information to be relayed along telephone lines. The first message was sent in 1969. It was a single word: LOGIN, but only the 'L' and the 'O' got through before the network crashed. By the end of the same year four computers were connected on the ARPANET. It took years to create the 'network protocol' that allows computers to transfer data and 'speak' to each other. From the 1970s this network grew into the global Internet, which now links billions of devices. Today, whatever you want - books, food, holidays, cars - with the Internet you simply click a button and wait for it to arrive. Social media sites allow people all over the world to communicate instantly. We can consume films, television shows, music and video games, and even do our banking online.

World Wide Web

The World Wide Web (WWW) is a gateway to the Internet. It's made up of search engines like Google and Safari, the Internet addresses (also called URLs) we type in, and the websites that appear on our screens. It was invented by a British computer scientist called Tim Berners-Lee in 1989 while working at CERN, a science research laboratory in Switzerland. The WWW made the Internet accessible to everyone, not just scientists and academics.

THE EARTH SHAKERS ARE RISING

One planet is under pressure, but it's not too late to make things right. We have changed the world before, and we can change it again. We have the power to make a difference. We can make the world a better place. We can make the world a better place. We can make the world a better place.

From young people meeting in the streets, and activists and environmentalists holding up signs of our planet, to groups of students planting trees, and farmers growing their own food, there are many ways to make a difference. We can make the world a better place. We can make the world a better place. We can make the world a better place.

SKOLSTREJK KLIMATET

And it's not just the people helping Earth to rise up! It's everyone.

[illegible]

ON THE ROOF OF THE WORLD MOUNTAINS

Mountains are mighty barriers of rock covering around 25 per cent of Earth's land surface. Born when continental plates collide, carved by giant glaciers and sculpted by wind and rain, mountains are breathtaking monuments to powerful forces at work on our planet.

At high altitude, the weather can change in minutes, from clear skies to blizzards and sunshine to sub-zero temperatures. Fast-moving masses of snow with the weight of three Empire State Buildings can roar down the slopes as avalanches. Although mountains are one of the most dangerous and unforgiving environments on our planet, around one in 10 people and a variety of species live in these regions.

We Are Palestinian

Geography

There are so many beautiful places in Palestine that it would be impossible to cover them all. So in this section, we're going to explore some of the most famous cities and find out what makes them so special. Some of these cities are new in Israel, but they still have big Palestinian populations, and our culture and rich history flourish in the landmarks and traditions.

Jerusalem

Jerusalem is one of the oldest cities on Earth, traces of civilization there go back 4,000 years. In that time, it has been destroyed, captured and renamed – but it has survived, and remains a very special place. One reason is that it is the holy city for the three major Abrahamic religions: Judaism, Christianity and Islam. The major landmarks for these religions – the Western Wall, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the Garden Tomb and the Dome of the Rock and Al-Aqsa – are all in Jerusalem.

Did you know?
Jerusalem is the most visited city in the world. Over three million people go there each year!

Although Jerusalem is a big city today, it is one of the oldest cities in the world. It is the holy city for the three major Abrahamic religions: Judaism, Christianity and Islam. The major landmarks for these religions – the Western Wall, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the Garden Tomb and the Dome of the Rock and Al-Aqsa – are all in Jerusalem.

Fun Fact
The wall surrounding the Old City is about 1,900 years long. It's about 12 miles long in total!

The walls are made of stone and some are made of beautiful Jerusalem stone – strong, cream-colored limestone or basaltic rock. Inside the city has been divided in different ways over the years, but today it has four quarters: Muslim, Christian, Armenian and Jewish.

The streets are made of massive stone slabs and cars cannot drive inside the city walls. When you walk the streets, you see beautiful art and antique stores. During the night, many of the same families for generations. You can smell fragrant spices and hear delicious food. From a lot of quiet to a lot of life and laughter. Outside the city walls, Jerusalem is now divided into East and West Jerusalem. The Western side is where most of the Jewish Israelis live, and the Eastern side is where the Palestinians live.

Gaza

Gaza is a Palestinian territory that borders Egypt on one side and Israel on the other. It is made up of four main areas, the largest of which is Gaza City. It is also one of the most densely populated places on Earth. This means that there are many people living in a very small space.

Did you know?
There are about five million people living in Gaza. It's about the same size as the UK city of Belfast, which has a population of 335,000.

Most of the people in Gaza are refugees – people who fled their homes because of war. They came from other places in Palestine, like Haifa and Ramla, and even far north like the Galilee. They hoped they would be able to go back after the 1948 Arab-Israeli War, but have never been allowed to return to their homes.

Gaza was once famous for its beautiful beaches on the Mediterranean Sea and its fishing industry. However, Israel's control of the waters restricts Gaza fishermen from going far out to sea to fish, which means it's increasingly difficult to make a living as a fisherman. Unfortunately, Gaza is also geographically located off from the rest of the country, making it almost impossible for anyone to visit or leave it.

While these things are sad, the people of Gaza are strong and hopeful, and we can learn many lessons from them about how to live life in the face of hardship. Famous artists like Mahatma (p. 50) who paints beautiful pictures, and musicians like Mohammed Assaf (p. 51) are from Gaza. On a day-to-day basis, the people of Gaza do the same activities people across the world do, like going to school, working, meeting, even singing and dancing.

Supported and empowered by their families, their faith and by each other, the people of Gaza continue to live their lives.

Jericho

People believe that Jericho is the oldest city in the world. It is also the lowest city on earth, sitting 258 meters below sea level. To understand what that means, picture yourself walking away from the beach and hiking down a valley – you would have to go down about 80 flights of stairs to reach Jericho.

Did you know?

When archaeologists explored Jericho, they found remains of early settlements going back 11,000 years!

The name of the valley it sits in is Wadi Qelt, which itself sits in the larger Jordan Valley in the West Bank.

People have always lived in Jericho, from the age of hunter-gatherers to the present day. It's also one of the first places in the world to have agriculture and probably where irrigation, the process of supplying water to plants, was invented. It is the kind of city you call an oasis, or a fertile land in a desert environment. Ein es-Sultan (or The Sultan's Spring), which produces about 1,000 gallons of water per minute, is what waters the whole area.

Jericho can get hot in the summer, but its winters are quite mild, rarely dipping below 10°C. This pleasant weather makes it a very popular place to visit for both Palestinians and tourists. People from all over the world visit Jericho to see its rich history, and visit landmarks like Hisham's Palace, an ancient castle built over 1,200 years ago during the Umayyad Dynasty.

Fun Fact

More than 40,000 people visit Hisham's Palace each year.

The Wild Verses

Safely In Numbers

Why meet trouble halfway when you can run
to greet it, offer it
the best part of the day?
Watch them surge towards their problems:
this band of rebels tackling life head-on moving, always moving as one.

The Bull

Today, you want to stomp outside and face
the day bull-strong.
Stand firm and uncertainties cannot make you stop.
Stay proud. Zip up your audaciousness right to the top.

The Painter

If I could paint the world
I'd choose endearment, which is yellow:
honey for the tawny nose,
bee-colours for getting things done, lemons for sharpness, pure gold for every star that shines in darkness.

Unfurl

Sometimes you want to hide your crimson, teal and green.
Sometimes you fold.

It's time to catch the light. Be bold.
You open the fan of yourself and you brim with gold.

The Baker by the Sea

A seaside storybook about community and family

- Atmospheric pen-and-ink artwork from debut author and illustrator Paula White. Paula was winner of the 2019 Templar Design and Illustration Awards.
- Reminiscent of the Greenaway winning Town is by the Sea (Walker, 2018).
- The story offers a window onto the past, guiding us around the Beach Village that once stood where Paula grew up, in Lowestoft, Suffolk. This busy, bustling place once made its living from the sea - but was eventually swept away by those very same waves.
- A moving exploration of the importance of community, with a strong father-son relationship at its heart.
- An artistic fishing village story which should be popular with retailers in seaside locations.

Jane Foster's Baby's First Stories: 0-3 months

A series that grows with your baby

- Written in consultation with Early Years Expert, Lizzie Noble, each book perfectly suits your baby's needs at every stage of their first year
- Fills a gap in the market: parents are told to read to their baby every day, but black and white books usually have little text. Reading aloud soothes babies from birth, promotes baby-carer bonding, builds children's language skills, and increases the chances that parents will continue to read to babies as they grow older
- Perfect for parents who use the Wonder Weeks App, read Your Baby Week by Week, or use milestone cards to mark big moments
- 4 books in the series, all featuring the same animal characters: 0-3 months; 3-6 months; 6-9 months; 9-12 months

Animal Homes: Ocean

Dive in and explore the ocean in this introduction to habitats for the very young.

- Using Natasha Durley's striking and recognisable animals from Creature Features and newly illustrated plants and environments, her colourful and engaging artwork will be enjoyed by a whole new age of reader.
- The first spread starts on the lowest layer of the ocean (the ocean trench) and each subsequent shaped spread introduces the next layer of the ocean (the abyss, the midnight zone, the twilight zone and the sunlight zone). Add a new layer with each page turn until the final spread reveals the full habitat. This tactile, die-cut board book format is a new way to explore and introduce animal habitats, making this series an essential addition to parents' and educators' STEM library.

YOGA POSE

Try these poses before bedtime or when you want to feel calm.

CHILD'S POSE

Bend your legs, fold your body on to your thighs and either rest your arms by your sides or extend them in front of you, whichever feels more comfortable.

SAY "I AM AT REST"

TREE POSE

Fast your feet on your ankles or above your knees and balance. Then change to your other leg.

SAY "I AM BALANCED"

BUTTERFLY POSE

Sit on the ground, press your feet together, and rub your shoulders back.

SAY "I AM SAFE"

CAT POSE

Breathe in and look up, lifting your back drop down. Breathe out and tuck in your chin, lifting your back in a high arch.

SAY "I AM AT EASE"

LADYBIRD POSE

Bend your knees, roll your shoulders back, and press your hands together.

SAY "I AM HAPPY"

SLEEP POSE

Lie on your back and take slow breaths. Close your eyes if you want. Try to empty yourself of thoughts. If your mind wanders away, notice where it goes, then bring your attention back to your breathing.

SAY "I AM AT HOME"

TAKE A BREATH!

Try this breathing exercise to help you relax:

STEP 1

Make sure you are sitting comfortably in a quiet and safe place. When you feel ready, close your eyes. Notice your breathing. Think about how it feels breathing in and breathing out. Try to breathe in through your nose and out through your mouth.

STEP 2

Place your hand on your tummy and focus on the feeling of your stomach rising and falling with each breath. When you breathe in, quietly say 'in' to yourself, and when you breathe out, quietly say 'out' to yourself.

STEP 3

Concentrate on nothing but your breathing and try to let go of any other thoughts you may have.

When you've had lots of practice at the breathing exercise, see if you can think about a happy memory at the same time. This way, your happy memory will take up all the space in your brain, and there won't be any room for the worries.

LONG LIVE THE KING

The last King (1994) is a coming-of-age story about a lion cub, Simba, who goes on a journey of discovery after the death of his father, King Mufasa. According to Jeffrey Katzenberg, then chairman of The Walt Disney Studios, the film is about "the universal concept of going from being a child to an adult and how you can be responsible for your own life."

The film's success led to a sequel, The Lion King II: Simba's Pride, which was released in 1997. The sequel was a commercial success, but it was not as well-received as the first film. The film's success also led to a third film, The Lion King 3: The Lion Guard, which was released in 2016.

There is an insidious, confident way at the beginning of the film, and because it's so grand in its vision and scale, it's so responsible. The artist walked with a sense of purpose and a sense of responsibility. The artist walked with a sense of purpose and a sense of responsibility. THE FROZEN PHENOMENON

In 2013, Disney Animation introduced the world to Anna and Elsa, the sisters of Arendelle. In the film, Elsa is the crown princess who, after a series of events, becomes the queen of Arendelle. Anna is the younger sister who, after a series of events, becomes the queen of Arendelle.

The film's success led to a sequel, Frozen II, which was released in 2019. The sequel was a commercial success, but it was not as well-received as the first film. The film's success also led to a third film, Frozen III, which was released in 2021.

BELOVED CHARACTERS

Literary classics provided strong source material for a number of Disney films. Alice in Wonderland (1951) is Disney's version of Lewis Carroll children's novel; Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and Through the Looking Glass, and What Alice Found There. The books had fascinated Walt Disney since childhood. In the 1920s, they had loosely inspired his part animated, part live-action Alice Comedies and since then he had bought the film rights to the novel. Disney concept artist and colourist Mary Blair created exuberant, fantastical production artwork that inspired the look of the film. Music and songs hold the film's sequences together and propel the story along – the film features more songs than any other Disney film at the time. One of the film's most extravagant scenes, the Mad Hatter's tea party, was initially filmed in live-action to provide an aid to animators. Vaudeville actor Ed Wynn played the Mad Hatter and Wynn's extemporized voice track was so inspired it was used for the final film.

In 1913, Walt had seen a touring production of J.M. Barrie's stage play Peter Pan and, inspired by its combination of fantasy and swashbuckling adventure, acquired the film rights in 1939. As with Alice in Wonderland, Mary Blair created the signature production art for the film. Live-action footage was shot for the animators' reference, with the voice actors performing their roles. Meanwhile, the magic of Disney animation made the characters fly – Peter Pan even engages dastardly Captain Hook in mid-air sword fights. Tinker Bell, often represented merely as a spotlight in stage versions, became a fully realized character using actor Margaret Kerry and others, as her live-action model. Released in 1953, after nearly two decades of work and thousands of drawings, Peter Pan was an immediate success and has remained a beloved Disney classic.

Literary works have remained a source of inspiration. The Sword in the Stone (1963), a whimsical adaptation of T.H. White's novel about the Arthurian legends, was the first Disney animated feature film to include songs by the Sherman Brothers, who would later work on Mary Poppins (1964), The Jungle Book (1967) and many others. The Rescuers (1977), a tale of an international rescue organization run by mice, was based on a book series by English author Margery Sharp. Cruella De Vil nearly became the main villain in the film, but in the end the animation team created the fiery tempered, diamond-obsessed pawn shop owner Madame Medusa. Some classic tales are updated in inventive new ways: Treasure Planet (2002) is a version of Robert Louis Stevenson's 1883 novel Treasure Island set in outer space!

KEY TO PLATE

1: Tea Party production art
As a concept artist and art director, Mary Blair's imaginatively reimagined version of the Mad Hatter's tea party directly influenced the final look of the film.

2: Peter Pan and friends
Traditionally a female stage or film, Peter Pan's character of Peter Pan, Disney's film broke with that tradition with Peter Pan depicted unequivocally as a boy voiced by a male actor (the young Billy Barty). Production art in gouache and graphite by Mary Blair.

3: Character designs
Early character designs by Ken Anderson for Peter Pan and The Rescuers. The film was a box office hit and became the first Disney animated feature film to earn a sequel, The Rescuers Down Under (released in 1990).
