The invitations were delivered that very day. As their mother read the invitation aloud, Anastasia and Drizella jumped with excitement. Cinderella asked if she could go, too. "You may go," said her stepmother sternly, "if you finish all your chores and find something suitable to wear."

But when Cinderella joined her stepsisters, they ripped the gown to shreds. Sobbing, Cinderella ran into the garden. Now she had no hope of going to the ball! Suddenly the garden filled with light. Cinderella's Fairy Godmother had arrived to make her dreams come true!

Aladdin (Disney Animated Classics)

In a shimmering city at the edge of a desert, a young man ran across the rooftops. His name was Aladdin.

Behind him came the royal guards, chasing after him.

"Stop, thief!" shouted the captain.

"All this for a loaf of bread?" wondered Aladdin, looking at the loaf in his hands. Then he leaped from the rooftop, swinging from a swishing hair and coiled himself on the swankiest ground below.

"Then he le!" shouted out of the guards. "You won't get away so easy!"

"I'm think that was easy!" said Aladdin.

The women standing nearby clucked with laughter.

"Getting into trouble a little early today, aren't you, Aladdin?"

"Trouble?" said Aladdin. "No way. You're only in trouble if you get caught."

But before Aladdin could take another step, the captain of the guards grabbed him. "Catch!" he said.

A moment later, a monkey leaped onto the captain's head and pulled his headpiece over his eyes.

"Perfect timing. Also, an omelet," said Aladdin, grinning. "Come on, let's get out of here."

Together, Aladdin and Abu cowed through the narrow streets until they lost sight of the guards.

It was time to enjoy their bread. Aladdin split the loaf, but before he could take a bite, he spied two hungry chaklows watching him with long, red eyes. "Here," he said, looking out his hand to them. "Go on, take it."

When Aladdin finally arrived home that night, he pulled back his ragged curtain and gazed out across the city. In the distance, he could see the royal palace.

"Some day, Abu, things are going to change," he promised. "We'll be rich, live in a palace and never have any problems at all."

Inside the palace, however, things were not going smoothly. Princess Jasmine's latest suitor was storming out of the door.

"Good luck marrying her off!" the suitor told the sultan as he stalked away.

The sultan ran to the palace gardens in search of his daughter. He found her sitting by a fountain with her pet tiger, Rajah.

"Dearest," he began, "you've got to stop rejecting every suitor who comes to call."

"If I do marry, I want it to be for love," protested the princess.

"Please, try to understand. I've never done a thing on my own. I've never had any real friends."

Rajah growled.

"Except you, Rajah," added Jasmine. "I've never even been outside the palace walls."

"But, Jasmine, you're a princess," said her father.

"Then maybe I don't want to be a princess any more," she replied.

One Hundred and One Dalmatians (Disney Animated Classics)

Disney One Hundred and One Dalmatians

This story begins in London, not so very long ago.

At that time, Pongo the dog lived with his pet human, Roger, in a flat just off Regent's Park.

It was clear to Pongo that Roger needed someone. All Roger did, Pongo thought, was waste money. And those were some about money – something Roger knew absolutely nothing about it.

Pongo knew Roger was intelligent enough, in his human way, and rather handsome. He could see no reason why his pet human didn't do more to find someone, and he was determined to do his best to help him. He had a rough idea of what to look for...

So, one beautiful spring day, Pongo went out of his sitting room window, surveying the parkland and watching for a match. No one seemed quite right for Roger – until, suddenly, Pongo spotted a beautiful Dalmatian and her human.

In a flash, Pongo purred over to the clock, crossed around the minute hand until it pointed to after five, picked up his hat and purred at the door, barking loudly.

"After five already," said Roger, glancing up from his piano. "Fancy that!"

He looked over at his dog. "All right, Pongo," said Roger, standing up. "All right, boy."

Roger got on Pongo's lead and Pongo shot down the stairs, across the street and into the park, leaving Roger behind him.

Pongo knew he'd never find another pair like the Dalmatian and her pet, not even if he looked for a hundred years.

They're looking for the park, he realized. A perfect meeting place, if I could only arrange it.

But Roger never stopped work 'till after five o'clock, and by then, it would be too late...

"Come on, you old crumbly," said Roger. "We're going home."

But Pongo refused to give up.

He shot after the lady and wound his lead around her and Roger's legs.

"I beg your pardon," Roger said to the lady. "I'm so sorry."

"Oh, only Good heavens," the lady replied. "Oh all the..."

And then they both slipped over... into the pond.

"Pongo, boy, take it easy," said Roger as Pongo pulled him down the path. "What's all the hurry?"

Pongo crossed over a little bridge between the two. Then, suddenly, he spotted the Dalmatian and her person on a bench overlooking the pond.

Pongo knew it was all up to him now. To attract attention, he grabbed hold of Roger's hat and placed it on the bench, right next to the lady.

Pongo thought things were going great. Roger and the lady seemed to have noticed one another. But then, for some strange reason, the lady and the pretty Dalmatian left!

"Oh, my new spring suit and my new hat," said the lady, drenched.

"I'm terribly sorry," said Roger. "Please, let me help you."

"Please, just go away," the lady replied. "You've done enough."

She reached into her handbag for her handkerchief, only to find it was sodden.

.. 14 ..

"Oh! I say, here, take mine," said Roger, reaching into his pocket, only to find his handkerchief was equally sodden.

And then they both started to laugh. Pongo looked on delightedly.

Lady and the Tramp (Disney Animated Classics)

Disney Lady and the Tramp

It was Christmas time. Snow fell in gentle flurries covering the lamplit streets.

Inside our parlour house, beside a tree shining with decorations, a husband passed his wife a beautifully wrapped box.

"It's for you, Darling," he said. "Merry Christmas."

"Oh, Jim, dear," said his wife, beginning to unwrap the box. "It's the one I was admiring, isn't it? Tinted with ribbons?"

"Well, it has a ribbon," laughed Jim.

From inside the box came little squeaking noises. The lid moved, and there, beneath it, was a little puppy, wearing a red bow.

"You like her, Darling?" asked Jim.

"Oh, I love her," Darling replied, lifting up the puppy and hugging her. "What a positively beautiful little lady!"

And Lady became her name.

That night, Jim fetched a basket and Lady came scurrying after.

"Come on, Lady. Over here," said Jim, coaxing her towards the basket.

"But Jim, dear," said his wife, "are you sure she'll be warm enough?"

"Now, now, don't worry, Darling," said Jim. "She'll go right to sleep."

Then they shut the door and went upstairs to bed.

.. 10 ..

Disney Lady and the Tramp

But Lady was lonely. She howled. She pined at the door. And when at last she managed to push it open, she checked the steep stairs, slipping and sliding as she went. Then she sat beside her owner's bed, and howled some more.

Jim covered his ears with a pillow.

Lady howled louder.

"Oh all right," said Jim, placing Lady at the end of the bed. "But remember, just for tonight."

.. 11 ..

Animated Classics

A few months later, and Lady still slept in the exact same spot every night. In the morning, she sprung off the bed, then rushed waking Jim. She licked his hand, pulled his leg from the bed, and nudged his slippers towards his feet...

"All right, Lady," Jim yawned. "All right. I'm up. I'm up. Lady I..."

Then he snuck back into the bed. "Oh me!"

"What's wrong, Jim? What is it?" asked Darling.

"Can't you explain to Lady about breakfast?" he asked.

Disney Lady and the Tramp

Lady, however, was already rising down the stairs. She finished the paper, chuckling the first page as she pulled it in through the dog door.

But in her owner's eyes, Lady could do no wrong.

"Have you noticed, Darling," said Jim over breakfast, "since we've had Lady, we see less and less of those detestable headlines?"

"Yes, I just don't know how we ever got along without her," Darling replied, giving Lady a biscuit.

Lady's life was very good.

.. 13 ..

Animated Classics

A few days later, Darling placed a beautiful blue collar with a shiny gold license around Lady's neck. Lady proudly showed it off to her friend, Jock, the terrier from next door.

"Notice anything different?" Lady asked.

"You've had a bath?" asked Jock.

"No, not that," said Lady.

"You've had your nails clipped?" asked Jock.

.. 14 ..

Disney Lady and the Tramp

"Guess again," said Lady, shimmying her collar.

"Why, lassie. A bonnie new collar. Have you shown it to 'Trusty yet?'"

"No," replied Lady.

"We'd best go at once," said Jock. "You know how sensitive he is about these things."

They walked down the street to Trusty's house. There lay the old bloodhound, fast asleep on the porch.

Cinderella (Disney Animated Classics)

Disney Cinderella

Once upon a time, in a faraway land, there was a tiny peaceful kingdom where a widowed father and his young daughter, Cinderella, lived.

Cinderella's father eventually remarried a woman with two daughters of her own, Anastasia and Drizella.

At first, the stepmother was kind to Cinderella. But then, Cinderella's father passed away, and the stepmother's true nature was revealed. Cold, cruel and bitterly jealous of her stepdaughter, she was determined to forward the interests of her own two daughters over Cinderella.

As time went by, Cinderella's beloved home fell into disrepair. All of the family money was spent on the selfish stepmother, while Cinderella was forced to become a servant in her own house.

.. 9 ..

And yet, through it all, Cinderella remained gentle and kind. With each dawn she found new hope that someday her dreams of happiness would come true.

On a summer's morning, Cinderella lay dreaming in her attic room. Two bluebirds swooped in through her open window. One lifted her golden plait, while the other revealed hers to her eye.

.. 10 ..

Cinderella rose up, laughing, while the birds fluttered to the windowsill, peering to the dawn sky.

"Yes, I know it's a lovely morning," said Cinderella, "but it was a lovely dream, too."

.. 11 ..

As she began her morning routine, Cinderella sang of wishes and dreams. Her bird and mice friends gathered in her room to hear her beautiful song.

Clang Clang Clang!

"Oh, that clock," said Cinderella, climbing out of bed.

Clang Clang Clang!

"I hear you," she said. "Come on, get up, you say. Time to start another day. Even he orders me around. Well, there's one thing," she went on, addressing the mice, "they can't order me to stop dreaming."

.. 12 ..

Animated Classics

Cinderella danced around her room, while the birds helped make her bed and plumped up her pillow, and the mice poured water into her washbasin.

While Cinderella washed, the bluebirds laid out her old, worn clothes. The mice dusted them with feathers and polished her shoes with little strips of cloth.

Then Cinderella slipped behind a screen and dressed. When she stepped out again, the bluebirds tied her apron in a bow around her back, and gave her a blue ribbon for her hair.

.. 14 ..

Disney Cinderella

Then the mice scurried up her dressing table, squeaking and chattering.

"Wait a minute!" said Cinderella. "One at a time, please. Now, Jaq, what's all the fuss about?"

"New mouse in the house," said Jaq. "Brand new. Never saw it before."

"Oh, a visitor," said Cinderella, pulling out a tiny little yellow top from her drawer. "He'll need a jacket and shoes..."

.. 15 ..

But Jaq began jumping up and down. "Gotta get him out!" he squeaked. "It's in a rat trap!"

IN THE BEGINNING

Star Animation Studio's origins date as far back as the 1970s, when computer animation was in its infancy. In 1979, Star's first director, George Lucas, hired Ed Catmull to create a Computer Division at Lucasfilm. Catmull had graduated from the University of Utah in Computer Science and, after graduation, he worked as the director of the Computer Graphics Laboratory at the New York Institute of Technology. At Lucasfilm, Catmull ran the entire Computer Division, which created computer-animated elements for some live-action films, such as Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan and Star Wars Episode III - Return of the Jedi.

COCO

After directing Boyz n the City, Lee Uchikoshi picked the idea of Coco, which centres around the Day of the Dead – the vibrant holiday celebrated in Mexico to honour those who have passed away. It would be Pixar's first film to feature a Latino character in the lead role, and would inspire in 2017. For Uchikoshi, the film was rooted in a universal theme: the importance of family. He and co-director and writer Adrian Molina produced Coco. Anderson, production designer Harvey Jones, and other members of the team made several trips to Mexico. They followed how local families taught cultural practices to the next generation. They also collected the personal stories of Latino base members.

and through a Latin cultural compass to suggest ideas.

Since the history of 12-year-old Miguel has been one of losing a loved one, the story is told through the eyes of a boy who has lost his mother, his father, and his brother. SPARKSHORTS

SparkShorts is an experimental storytelling initiative at Pixar that encourages new creative voices at the studio to share their stories. A small team is given just six months and a limited budget to develop a short animated film. "The programme was created to provide opportunities to a wide array of artists – each with something unique to say," said Lindsey Collins, Vice President of Development for Pixar.²⁸ Jim Morris, President of Pixar Animation Studios, adds, "The SparkShorts programme is designed to discover new storytellers, explore new storytelling techniques and experiment with new production workflows. These films are unlike anything we've ever done at Pixar."

One SparkShort film, Purl, directed by Kristen Lester, features a brightly coloured ball of yarn named Purl who gets a job in an office dominated by men. Lester was inspired by her own early experiences in animation. She says, "I was often the only woman on the team. I was working with, I just wanted to be one of the guys, so I could have friends and colleagues." At Pixar, however, she learnt "acceptance of myself, and the fact that I was a woman and I work in this business." This epiphany becomes the theme of Purl, it was released at SIGGRAPH in 2019, where it was named Best in Show, and then shown at El Capitan Theatre and on YouTube and Disney+.

Smash and Grab is a mini-action adventure about two robots making a daring escape from the engine room of a futuristic locomotive. Under director Brian Larsen, the team experimented with a new production process. For example, animators would wear motion-capture suits to translate real body movements directly into the computer; a new way to conceive of storyboarding and location scouting.

Moving in the opposite direction, Kitbull, written and directed by Rosana Sullivan, is all about drawing; unusually for Pixar, it is animated in a 2D style. Set in the Mission district of San Francisco, it follows an unlikely friendship between a stray kitten and an abused pit bull. In common with other SparkShorts, it shows a willingness to look at slightly more mature themes than typical Pixar films, and it was nominated for an Academy Award.

Float is a short film directed and written by Bobby Rubio, who said that his autistic son inspired the story in the film, the son has the ability to float. "Floating, to me, just visually looks beautiful," Rubio said. Producer Krissy Cabala observed, "It's the story of any child's difference, it doesn't necessarily have to be autism." For Rubio, the film becomes about accepting who his son is, not who he wants him to be.

Another highly personal story is told by director Edwin Chang in Wind. It was inspired by his grandmother, who fled the Korean War and brought up four boys, making every sacrifice to help them to settle in the US. In the film, the boy and his grandmother are trapped on a floating rock, symbolising "a broken place, a place of lost opportunity," according to Chang, they must build a rocket to escape.

Loop, directed by Erika Milson, features a non-verbal, autistic girl and a talkative boy who must loop a lake on a canoe together. For Milson, the film explores "that place between two people who don't share a common language. It's a language you have to feel out and find a means of communicating with each other that's very personal." These inspirational and diverse shorts are just the beginning – additional films in the SpariShorts programme are in production.

LONG LIVE
THE KING

The last King (1996) is a coming-of-age story about a boy who, after the death of his father, goes on a journey of discovery. According to Jeffrey Karpman, then chairman of The Walt Disney Studios, the film is about "the special moment when [a] boy goes from being a child to an adult and must take on the responsibility that goes with it."¹²

The therapist's goal is to capture interactive animal, walking on her legs, without human props like the umbrellas that Jerry Croston had carried in Phoenix. Instead, they concentrated on the overall body attitude to get the animals personally. For her, they created a distinct walk that expressed his needs personally, while Lennie meets in an exquisite, confident way at the beginning of the film, and becomes more graceful as he matures and learns to take responsibility. The artist watched wildlife documentaries and studied real-life lions and other animals that were brought into the studio. An anatomy consultant gave lectures on animal movement and behavior, and a group of the filmmakers traveled to Kenya to view the savannah for themselves. The trip provided plenty of inspiration, from the warmest colors and hot dust life of the film to its very curves and lush green jungle. The song "Mikina Mikina" is based

This film is a blend of traditional and computer animation. For the wilderness sequences, a 3D computer programme was able to imitate the efficiency of the work of creating hundreds of animals moving together on the screen at once. As well as a full range of animals, there are also some very large ones to deal with.

With its Academy Award-winning music, written by Eliahu Katz and Yo-Yo Ma and more, written by composer Hans Zimmer as well as an outstanding voice cast (the The Ring book series' audio records are so realistic, becoming the highest-grossing animated feature ever produced up until that time). It has inspired a series of sequels – a television series, a stage musical, which became the top-grossing production in box office history; and in 2018 a reimagining directed by Jon Favreau and scored by Hans Zimmer. A prequel to Favreau's hit, exploring the origins of Mulan and her development. The circle of life keeps turning!

THE FROZEN PHENOMENON

In 2013, Disney Animation introduced the world to Anna and Elsa - the sisters of Arendelle. In Frozen, Anna is the misanthropic younger sister who must free the kingdom of Arendelle from the icy spell cast by her elder sibling, Elsa.

inspired the Swiss Queen — even Matt Damon himself had wanted to produce a version of it in the 1990s and 1990s. But the original story was episodic, focused on two small children, and a somewhat by-the-numbers affair, the Swiss Queen, who was difficult to relate to. Despite several other attempts over the decades, it was not until much later that director Chris Buck and writer-director Jennifer Lee found a way. They

SWASHBUCKLING PIRATES

In 1967, a theme-park attraction opened at Disneyland in Anaheim, California, that would inspire one of the most successful series of films in the history of The Walt Disney Studios. Phantom of the Caribbean, with Audio-Animatronics figures of pirates and a supernatural theme, was one of the last attractions whose design was personally inspired by Mike Marshall. Despite the lack of a successful primate film since the 1970s, producer Jerry Bruckheimer and director Gore Verbinski were drawn to the idea of resurrecting the genre using modern technology. Prime of the Cowboy the Curse of the Black Pearl (2003) introduced the world to the wild primate Captain Jack Sparrow (Johnny Depp), who team up with Blacksmith Will Turner (Orlando Bloom), and Altogether, two persons (English) led by John Anderson, former fire mate, Hector Barrow (Geoffrey Rux), the former park attraction's subject of carved plumes and carved beacons inspired the first operational plot elements, while the Wrenthams also researched historical grates and historically accurate weapons, including pistols and replica swords from the period. Peeples of the Caribbean (Dead Man's Chest (2002) and Peeples of the Caribbean: At World's End (2007)) were shot back-to-back. These films introduced Dany Jones, the Flying Dutchman, and the legendary sea monster, the Kraken. Dead Man's Chest won the Academy Award® for Best Visual Effects, with the first three films were nominated for 10 other Academy Awards® between them.

A fourth film (in Image Nation 2013) features the infamous pirate Edward "Blackbeard" Teach, the mythical Fountain of Youth and deadly mermaids. The fifth film, Princess of the Caribbean: Dead Men Tell No Tales, a notable phrase found in the original theme-park attraction, was released in 2017.

BELOVED CHARACTERS

Literary classics provided strong source material for a number of Disney films. Also in Wonderland (1955) is Disney's version of classic Lewis Carroll children's novels: Alice's Adventures in Wonderland and Through the Looking Glass, and What Alice Found There. The books had fascinated Walt Disney since childhood. In the 1920s, they had loosely inspired his first animated, part-liv-action Alice Comedies and since then he had crafted the film rights to the novel Disney concept artist and colour stylist Mary Blair created exuberant, fantastical production artwork that inspired the look of the film. Music and songs hold the film's sequences together and propel the story along – in the film features more songs than any other Disney film at the time. One of the film's most extravagant scenes, the Mad Hatter's tea party was initially filmed in live-action to provide an aid to animators. Vaudeville artist Ed Wynn played the Mad Hatter and Wynn's extemporized voice track was so inspired it was used for the final film.

In 1913, Walt had been touring a production of J.M. Barrie's stage play Peter Pan and, inspired by its combination of fantasy and sea-bathing adventure, acquired the film rights in 1939. As with Alice in Wonderland, Mary Blair created the signature production art for the film. Live-action footage was shot for the animators' reference, with the voice actors performing their roles. Memorable, the magic of Disney animation made the characters fly – Peter Pan even engages dastardly Captain Hook in mid-air sword fights. Tinker Bell, often represented merely as a spotlight in stage versions, became a fully realized character using actor Margaret Kerry and others, as her live-action model. Released in 1953, after nearly two decades of work and thousands of drawings, Peter Pan was an immediate success and has remained a beloved Disney classic.

Literary works have remained a source of inspiration. The Search in the Stone (1963), a whimsical adaptation of TH White's novel about the Arthurian legends, was the first Disney animated feature film to include songs by the Sherman Brothers, who would later work on Mary Poppins (1964), The Jungle Book (1967) and many others. The Rescuers (1977), a tale of an international rescue organisation run by mice, was based on a book series by English author Margery Sharp. Cruella De Vil nearly became the main villain in the film, but in the end the animation team created the fiery tempered, diamond-obsessed penguin shop owner Madame Medusa. Some classic tales are updated in inventive new ways. Treasure Planet (2002) is a version of Robert Louis Stevenson's 1893 novel Treasure Island set in outer space!

1: Tea Party production art
As a concept artist and art director, Mary Blair's delightfully exaggerated imagining of the Mad Hatter's tea party directly influenced the final look of the film.

♂: Peter Pan and friends
Traditionally, a female stage or film actor played the character of Peter Pan. Disney's film broke with that tradition with Peter Pan depicted unequivocally as a boy voiced by a male actor (the young Bobby Driscoll). Production art in gouache and graphite by Mary Blair.

3. Character design

Early character designs by Ken Anderson for Miss Bianca and Bernard in The Rescuers. The film was a box office hit and became the first Disney animated feature film to earn a sequel, The Rescuers Down Under, released in 1990.

Disney Fascinating Facts

NATURE: ANIMALS

Most fish have some sort of skeleton, but a shark doesn't have any bones at all. Its whole skeleton is made of cartilage. This means sharks are very flexible and can twist themselves quickly to catch speedy prey.

Flying squirrels have flaps of skin that stretch from their front to rear paws. A flying squirrel can jump from a tall tree, then spread its legs wide to create air resistance as it falls. This force slows the squirrel down so that it glides instead of falling.

Some animals can walk on water! Lizards called basilisks can run for about 4.6 metres before sinking underwater. Birds called western grebes also run on water during take-off. A combination of speed, webbed feet, and surface tension makes this feat possible.

An animal called the pistol shrimp has a built-in blaster. This little critter has one huge claw that it can snap with incredible force. The snap makes a blast of sound and heat strong enough to stun other animals. Syndrome from The Incredibles would be proud!

There are very few native land mammals in the Pacific Islands. In Fiji, the only native land mammals are bats. But what about Pua and Heihei from Moana? Pigs and chickens were brought to the Pacific Islands thousands of years ago.

NATURE: ANIMALS

Some types of flea can jump up to 200 times the length of their body! They have a powerful springy protein that they squeeze when their legs fold, ready to jump. When they stop squeezing it, the protein creates explosive energy that makes the legs spring forward powerfully.

As well as reaching speeds of up to 96 km/h, the hummingbird is known for another fast feat. The tiniest species can flap their wings at a rate of 80 beats a second, or 4,800 times in one minute. And that's not all - their hearts can beat 1,200 times per minute too.

You might think that flamingos are pink, but those feathers are actually dyed. They eat a diet of blue-green algae and brine shrimp that contains a dye called carotenanthin, which gives their feathers their pink colour.

Many animals have natural armour. The pangolin, for instance, is covered with hard, overlapping scales, while crocodiles are covered with bony knobs. Crabs and many other creatures have exoskeletons - where they wear their skeletons on the outside to protect the soft organs inside.

Lots of animals live in the harsh tundras of Earth. These include owls, foxes, wolves and reindeer. Foxes and reindeer have thick fur that protects them from the cold. Arctic wolves have fur on their paws that give them a better grip on the icy ground. Some animals, like huskies, even help people get around! These dogs are very strong and can pull sleds for a long time.

What do you think the world's deadliest animal is? The surprising answer is the mosquito. This annoying insect kills over 700,000 people a year by spreading diseases, such as malaria and yellow fever, when they bite.

ETERNITY ISLE BIOMES

Eternity Isle is a truly fascinating place, full of ancient wonders. It's home to three additional biomes, with twelve distinct regions, but these require Mist to unlock, rather than Dreamlight. Here's what you can expect to find in each region.

ANCIENTS' LANDING

Upon arrival at Eternity Isle, you'll find yourself in Ancient's Landing – a mysterious set of ruins that appear to be very old indeed. The Docks show evidence of market activity, and are a great spot for fishing. The Marketplace is a small, enclosed area with a narrow passage to a tiny beach complete with Treadwater Table. The Overlook boasts fantastic views of the ocean, with some ancient ruins of its former glory. The area was once used as a landing point. The Ruins are all that remains of an ancient castle. Largely unused by nature, there's a small courtyard and a staircase leading to a balcony with a magnificent view of the surrounding landscape.

36

GLITTERING DUNES

The vast Glittering Dunes are a vast area of desert with little in the way of plant life and evidence of ancient civilisation. The Ruins is a wide expanse of flat ground with the remains of some ancient sandstone archways and steps. The Bunkers are at the foot of a hill leading up to the Palace, and are left across two levels. The Villages show signs of previous habitation – there's a dispensary partially buried in the sand, and it's home to the Chief of Villagers, too. The Oasis is a rare, lush area within the desert landscape – it's covered in grass and flowers.

WILD TANGLE

The Wild Tangle is the most remote of the Glittering Dunes. Within the Dunes are barren and arid, the Wild Tangle is lush, verdant and teeming with all sorts of life. The Greenhouse is the area of the island, with a clear view through the center. The Promenade is a well-lit path that leads through the desert, dotted by lanterns. The Green is densely packed with trees and other plants. The Lagoon boasts an impressive waterfall and stunning views.

DEVELOPER NOTE

Working on Mulan's wardrobe was a labor of love for our team. We wanted to create a look that was both traditional and modern, reflecting her character and the game's aesthetic. We hope you love the result as much as we do!

MERMAID BEACH

True to its name, Mermaid Beach is a beautiful tropical beach with a variety of colorful flowers and plants.

A princess like Ariel deserves a stretch of beach that helps her to feel as if she's at home on land as she does in the ocean.

THE BASICS

Before you begin your adventure, it's a good idea to familiarise yourself with how Dreamlight Valley works – there are lots of ways to play, get creative and share the fun with friends.

HOW TO PLAY

You can play Dreamlight Valley on PC, Mac, Xbox, Nintendo Switch and PlayStation. You can also play the Arcade Edition on Apple Arcade.

Dreamlight Valley lets you choose what kind of adventure you want to have each day. You might want to focus on completing quests to level up your friendships, or you may prefer to get creative and focus on designing your Valley and decorating your house.

Friendship is important in Dreamlight Valley, so naturally there's a Multiplayer option. You'll be able to invite your friends to visit your valley – and visit theirs – once you've completed Vanellope von Schweetz's quest, Valley Visits.

And there's more – a paid expansion pack called A Rift in Time is available, opening up a whole new island of exotic biomes, rare plants and materials and even some new friends.

THIS IS YOU

The first thing you'll do when you start your game is design your avatar. This is your opportunity to express your individuality, and there's loads of scope to be creative. The avatar you'll see throughout this guide is based on the author, so here are just a few other avatar designs to inspire you.
