INTRODUCTION

Plumbers have dreamed about flying for thousands of years. It's not hard to imagine our primitive ancestors, who possessed the artistic skills to create beautiful cave paintings of the world around them – the landscapes, animals and each other – staring into the skies with both heads and wings outstretched and thinking to themselves: "There does it beat to fly? And what does the world look like from up there?" You're probably had a similar daydream yourself: visualizing your house from above, then looking towards the sun, feeling the wind flow over your wings, and soaring towards the horizon and the unknown world beyond.

The first true miracle capable of lifting people to relative safety and carrying them far beyond dangers more hot or hellish. The first was launched to great fortune in France in 1783. Randomly it was possible for people to take to the skies, and it indicated a Priority of public interest in the notion of flight. Many more designs followed. Tailored balloons were immediately put to use by artists to spy on enemy movements from afar. But balloons are entirely at the mercy of the wind, and pilots have to control over their direction of travel.

They changed one fairly big jet in W01, when the first powered flight of the new engine called the Flyer was made. It only lasted for 10 seconds, but it was enough to change the world. From that moment on, the development of the engine has never stopped. This constant advancement is aviation technology, funded with as much money, energy, materials and technical expertise, is carried out because airplanes are so useful. They transport people and cargo faster than any other vehicle. They are a vital part of military campaigns. They help us map, explore and learn about our world. They entertain us with amazing displays of speed and maneuverability. They connect us to all corners of the globe in a matter of a few hours.

Don your aviation goggles and prepare for a breath-taking journey through the clouds.

- AMAZING AIRCRAFT -
WRIGHT FLYER

On December 17th, 1903, Wilbur and Orville Wright changed the world forever. For years, these mechanically-minded American brothers had shared a vision of creating a machine that could fly further and more reliably than a glider, and, unlike a hot air balloon, wasn't forced to fly in a particular direction by the wind. In short: the first flying vehicle that the pilot had complete control over. After years of planning and countless experiments, their vision became a history-making reality in the sandy dunes of Outer Banks, North Carolina, USA.

Charlie Wright lay on his stomach, gripping the Flyn's control stick. Two propellers whirled on either side of him. These were connected by bicycle chains to a lightweight petrol engine designed specially by the Wright brothers' mechanic friend Charlie Taylor: the engine had no throttle control, it was either 'on' or ¹⁰W. Wilbur ran alongside as the Pterodactyls down a wooden launch rail, took off and flew close to the ground for 12 seconds. Three more flights occurred that day, the last being the longest at 39 seconds and 250m. Unfortunately, the Pter was damaged on landing and never flew again.

But this was only the beginning. News of the Wright brothers' incredible achievement spread, and soon other inventors were building on their ideas to create new ideas eventually patented airplanes. The first circumnavigation around the world was completed in four Douglas World Cruiser airplanes only 21 years later. By the 1930s, jet aircraft were roaring through the air. Today, we see aircraft in defined services: ferry cargo, carry out the saving-remotest operations, and explore and travel the world – miracles of flight all attributed to the Wright brothers.

WOOD, CANVAS AND STRING

The airplane was only a year or two away from being used in combat when the First World War broke out in 1914. But over the course of the next five years, both sides realized just how useful these flying machines could be. Airplane technology advanced rapidly as each side strove to gain air superiority.

Reconnaissance was the most important mission. Flying high over the battlefield, "spies" (or stencils) could look down and take photographs of enemy positions and trench systems, and help artillery hit their targets more accurately. The French Voisin of 1913 had a pilot and observer, and a rear-facing machine gun to fend off attackers.

Most aircraft were unarmed at the start of the war. Pilots had to sit at empty planes with pistols, rifles or hand-held machine guns. By later aircraft had rear-facing machine guns for defence but a fighter plane needs guns that fire forwards. Introduced in 1915, German fighter J.E. Albatross had forward-facing guns, designed shoot bullets between the propeller blades as they rotated.

As the war progressed, both sides developed aircraft that were more manoeuvrable, could fly and gun at altitude faster, and take more damage. As technology improved, combat aircraft could be put to more uses. As well as a fighter, the British Sigbee Camel was also used as a 'low-land' 'branch' similar to attacking targets on the ground with bombs and machine guns.

The best targets occur when the Mustangs fly in a loose echelon, says page 27, but lumber away than fighters. Explains drop its fuselage and machine guns.

The pilots who drifted over war-torn Europe needed calm nerves and skill. Moreover, many had very little training, and life expectancy was short. Pilots who died down more than 100 miles were called 'scoops'. This Fokker D-7 triplane was flown by German ace Manfred von Richthofen - also known as the Red Baron.

A Shelter for Sadness

A poignant and heartwarming picture book exploring the nature of sadness.

- Over 22,000 copies sold worldwide (as of July 2022)
- A poignant and heartwarming text addressing the hugely important and topical issue of sadness and depression
- Dealing with abstract emotions in an approachable and child-friendly way
- Anne Booth is known for the exceptional warmth and authenticity of her writing. She was inspired to write this book by the words of Etty Hillesum, a Holocaust victim.
- With superb illustrations from multi-award winning David Litchfield, who has sensitively visualized the nature of Sadness

A Shelter for Sadness

The shelter I will build for my Sadness
will have light from the sun
or from the moon and stars.

But the windows will have curtains that Sadness can draw when it wants to.
And there will be candles or lamps
if Sadness needs them.

Jane Foster's Baby's First Stories: 0-3 months

A series that grows with your baby

- Written in consultation with Early Years Expert, Lizzie Noble, each book perfectly suits your baby's needs at every stage of their first year
- Fills a gap in the market: parents are told to read to their baby every day, but black and white books usually have little text. Reading aloud soothes babies from birth, promotes baby-carer bonding, builds children's language skills, and increases the chances that parents will continue to read to babies as they grow older
- Perfect for parents who use the Wonder Weeks App, read Your Baby Week by Week, or use milestone cards to mark big moments
- 4 books in the series, all featuring the same animal characters: 0-3 months; 3-6 months; 6-9 months; 9-12 months

A series that grows with your baby

- Written in consultation with Early Years Expert, Lizzie Noble
- Fills a gap in the market: parents are told to read to their baby every day, but black and white books often have little text. Reading aloud soothes babies, promotes bonding, builds language skills, and increases the chance that parents will read to babies as they grow older. 6-9 months has black, white, red and blue art, as from 6 months, babies can see most colours. The story relates to routines, to reflect little ones starting to wean, and settling into more regular patterns.
- Perfect for parents who use the Wonder Weeks App, read Your Baby Week by Week, or use milestone cards to mark big moments

Jane Foster's Baby's First Stories: 9-12 months

A beautifully illustrated series that grows with your baby.

- Written in consultation with Early Years Expert, Lizzie Noble
- Fills a gap in the market: parents are told to read to their baby every day, but black and white books often have little text. Reading aloud soothes babies, promotes bonding, builds language skills, and increases the chance that parents will read to babies as they grow older. 9-12 months has black, white, red, blue and yellow art, as babies' eyesight becomes more like our own. The stories introduce questions and spotting elements for older babies who can notice small details and respond to basic questions.
- Perfect for parents who use the Wonder Weeks App, read Your Baby Week by Week, or use milestone cards to mark big moments

Along Came a... Burp!

A laugh-out-loud science storybook all about the human body!

- A fun, fact, and fart-packed picture book approach to early science for readers 4+.
- Graphic-novel-style layouts present facts in memorable and hilarious fashion.
- Paula Bowles's artwork is an explosion of colour, bringing to life a zany cast of anatomical characters, from stinky poos, to friendly farts, to super-speedy sneezes. Paula was shortlisted for the Indie Book Awards 2023 and The Alligators Mouth Award 2023.
- With warm, funny text by rising-star Saskia Gwinn (author of Scientists are Saving the World and I am Not the Easter Bunny).

From Shore to Ocean Floor

From sandy beaches to mysterious, inky depths, this beautiful book is the story of ocean exploration.

- Sequel to Balloon to the Moon, winner of the 12-16 category in the British Book Design and Production Awards
- A wonderful combination of mythology, science and history that takes readers on a narrative journey through one of the world's most fascinating stories of exploration
- Gill Arbuthnott is a former secondary school science teacher.
- Made in consultation with the Maritime Museum.

From Shore to Ocean Floor

Imagine standing on a shore and looking out to sea. Even on the calmest day, the ocean is a huge and mysterious place. What you see and what you don't see, what's under the surface and what's on the surface, is a world of wonder and mystery. It's a world that's been explored for centuries, but there's still so much more to discover.

The ocean is a world of wonder and mystery. It's a world that's been explored for centuries, but there's still so much more to discover.

From the first voyage of Christopher Columbus to the modern era, the ocean has been a source of wonder and mystery. It's a world that's been explored for centuries, but there's still so much more to discover.

YOGA POSE

Try these poses before bedtime or when you want to feel calm.

CHILD'S POSE

Bend your legs, fold your body on to your thighs and either rest your arms by your sides or extend them in front of you, whichever feels more comfortable.

SAY "I AM AT REST"

TREE POSE

Fast your feet on your ankles or above your knees and balance. Then change to your other leg.

SAY "I AM BALANCED"

BUTTERFLY POSE

Sit on the ground, press your feet together and roll your shoulders back.

SAY "I AM SAFE"

CAT POSE

Breathe in and look up, lifting your back drop down. Breathe out and tuck in your chin, lifting your back in a high arch.

SAY "I AM AT EASE"

LADYBIRD POSE

Bend your knees, roll your shoulders back and press your hands together.

SAY "I AM HAPPY"

SLEEP POSE

Lie on your back and take slow breaths. Close your eyes if you want. Try to empty yourself of thoughts. If your mind wanders away notice where it goes, then bring your attention back to your breathing.

SAY "I AM AT HOME"

TAKE A BREATH!

Try this breathing exercise to help you relax:

STEP 1

Make sure you are sitting comfortably in a quiet and safe place. When you feel ready, close your eyes. Notice your breathing. Think about how it feels breathing in and breathing out. Try to breathe in through your nose and out through your mouth.

STEP 2

Place your hand on your tummy and focus on the feeling of your stomach rising and falling with each breath. When you breathe in, quietly say 'in' to yourself, and when you breathe out, quietly say 'out' to yourself.

STEP 3

Concentrate on nothing but your breathing and try to let go of any other thoughts you may have.

When you've had lots of practice at the breathing exercise, see if you can think about a happy memory at the same time. This way, your happy memory will take up all the space in your brain, and there won't be any room for the worries.
