or from the moon and stars.

But the windows will have curtains that Sadness can draw when it wants to.
And there will be candles or lamps
if Sadness needs them.

Old Bear

LET'S try making matches into a tower,' said Duck. 'Good idea!' said Bramwell. Little Bear climbed on top of Rabbit's head and Rabbit hopped onto Duck's back. They stretched up as far as they could, but then Duck opened his book to say something. Rabbit wobbled, and they all collapsed on top of Bramwell.

'Sorry,' said Duck, 'perhaps that wasn't a very good idea.' 'Not one of your best,' replied Bramwell from somewhere underneath the heap.

IKNOW!' said Rabbit. 'Let's try bouncing on the bed.' 'First you've got to think of that,' said Bramwell. 'You never can make a lot of bouncing, especially when it's not allowed.' Rabbit climbed onto the bed and began to bounce. 'Up and down, up and down, up and down.' The others joined him. They bounced higher and higher but still they couldn't reach the trap door in the ceiling.

DUCK began to cry. 'Oh dear!' he sobbed. 'What are we going to do now? We'll never be able to rescue Old Bear and he'll be stuck up there getting hotter and hotter for ever and ever.' 'We mustn't give up,' said Bramwell firmly. 'Come on Little Bear, quite good as ideas.'

But Little Bear had already noticed the plant in the corner of the room.

IVE got it!' he cried. 'I could climb up this plant, swing from the leaves, kick the trap door open and jump in!' In case it wobbled, Bramwell Brown, Duck and Rabbit steadied the pot. Little Bear bravely climbed up the plant until he reached the very top leaf. He took hold of it and started to swing to and fro, but he swung so hard that the leaf broke . . . SNAP!

He came crashing down. Luckily, Bramwell Brown was right underneath to catch him in his paws.

'That was a rotten idea,' said Little Bear.

'What I was thinking,' said Duck, 'was that it is a pity I can't fly very well, as I could have been quite a help.'

'Ah ha!' said Bramwell. 'That, my dear Duck, has given me a very good idea. I really think this one might work.'

Art of Protest

INTRODUCTION

When I was a kid growing up in Mississippi and Tennessee in the United States, I learned early on about social injustices that exist in the world.

I remember defending myself against bullies who did not like me because of my dark skin. I recall watching my favourite TV shows and learning about South African apartheid, police brutality, the global AIDS crisis and historic movements for civil rights through episodes that dared to highlight these causes.

As I recognised the power of the media in expanding my knowledge I began to create art in my teens that reflected the issues happening around me - 9/11, Hurricane Katrina, the Jena Six trials. And by the time I found myself as an arts organiser on the ground in the 2011 Ferguson Uprising, I felt equipped with the experience to deploy art as a way of bringing people together to raise our collective voices.

Throughout this book, you will learn the art of protest through the many artworks, experiences and campaigns that have been created across the world to protest social injustices and advocate for the rights and liberties of diverse communities. You will learn a lot of my story as well as the stories of others – leaders, artists, youth and everyday people – who have used art as a tool for organizing communities and catalyzing change. However, I hope you will also see the art of protesting. Tips and strategies are shared throughout this book to help you exercise creative ways to modify, organize, create and protest with others. Suggested art activities range from simple protest signs to designing banners, building sculptures, organizing flash mobs and making cause-specific artworks.

With this, you might be more compelled to raise your voice about the issues. Causes and global concerns that matter to you. Our society constantly experiences waves of social movements, campaigning for justice and fights against climate issues and disease on a global scale. And no matter where you live, or what language you speak or what cause you choose, it is my hope that this book will encourage and equip you to use art as a language and instrument that can help you champion your chosen cause.

01 WHY ART MATTERS IN SOCIAL MOVEMENTS

MY STORY AS AN ARTIVIST IN FERGUSON

On August 7, 2014, my life - like those of many in my home city of St. Louis, Missouri - was forever changed when I learned that a teenager had been killed by a police officer while walking along the streets of his grandmother's neighborhood. His name was Michael Brown Jr. and his body lay in the street for four and a half hours as news media captured photos and people crowded around in dismay. Over the days that followed, hundreds of people began to march in protest across the small municipality of Ferguson, Missouri, where he lived. I was one of them, and after daily - and often nightly - protesting, I wanted to do something more.

At that time, I was an educator at our local community art museum. I'd just finished graduate school in social work, and I'd been active as a community-based artist and organizer in collaboration with the poor, unemployed and white all across the region. In response to the Ferguson Uprising, I created a digital platform called Black Lives Matter that helped allies develop and distribute messages to people on the ground. I also collaborated with a photographer to develop Faces of the Movement, a photographic project that signified and amplified the stories of involved in the uprising. And my best friend, Sophia, and I even went door-to-door in Ferguson recording United States, a vast series of stories featuring neighbors in families whose streets and homes bore witness to the growing protests. Other members of our "winning" collective created powerful amplified movement slogans like "Hands Up, Don't Shoot," and performed flash mobs, and placed guerrilla installations in public spaces to help spread the message of the protests.

WHY ART MATTERS IN SOCIAL MOVEMENTS

Most art that is created in protest will not be acquired by museums, nor is this usually the goal of activists and artists working together. Most often, we aim to reflect and respond to the immediate causes that are grounded in our social movements. And whether used in a march, a social media campaign or as guerrilla art in a public space, protest art helps social movements inform the public of issues, challenge the status quo, convey collective goals and messaging, imagine a vision of change and persuade others to take action.

Informing the Public

When used in public spaces, protest art serves as a mighty tool to help people learn about social issues. As an example, Chalked Unarmed was a guerrilla art series by public performance artist and Mirror Casket collaborator Mallory Nezam. The project invited citizen collaborators to create chalk outlines, like police outlines of murder victims, on pavements across their communities. Each outline was filled with the name, date and location of a person who had been murdered by a police officer.

Making Messages Visible

Making Messages Visible
In protests across the globe, people tend to write and illustrate their calls to action on cardboard, posters or banners.

At marches, where it can be hard for target audiences to hear each individual's voice, signage allows each person's message to be seen, and the results are often full of creativity and passion.

Imagining a Vision for Change

Protest art effectively helps people develop a language and create a vision for how outcomes in a community can be better. While projects like the Mirror Casket challenge viewers to look inward to see themselves differently and empathise with those whose lives have been lost, other works may propel people forward to imagine a new reality.

Influencing Action

Efforts like Decolonize This Place and Theatre of the Oppressed use performances, flash mobs and "spect-acting" (whereby a member of the audience also becomes part of the performance) to engage with people across the world and explore how justice and equality can be achieved. Each experience has the artists facilitate activities for the audience, for example, they may be asked to join organizations and government leaders to change a policy, boycott unjust spaces, disinvest from harmful companies or stop violent or inequitable public actions. For example, Theatre of the Oppressed ran a performance in 2016 entitled The Housing Circus, based on the real life experiences of different individuals trying to receive housing benefits. Told from the perspective of a British Black woman and war veterans living in New York City, Theatre of the Oppressed used this performance to suggest policy changes.

Challenging the Status Quo

One of the common impacts of protest art is to push against the norms and rules of society. Artists like Elizabeth Vega, Ai Weiwei, Banksy and others have mastered using art as dissent. Such works often take existing materials and cultural artefacts and re-purpose them, or they might remix messages from advertisements, buildings, monuments, news articles or political documents in ways that point to their hypocrisy, outdated messages or other flaws.

THE MIRROR CASKET

Of the projects that the artists and I created, we became most known for the Mirror/Casket. This project originated during a series of dreams I had after my first nights of grieving. Each dream involved me walking into the night carrying a casket that was made of mirrors. I couldn't see my image, so I had to feel my way through the dark. I knew it had to get help to bring it to life. Six artists responded, and in a matter of weeks, we worked together to gather materials, design the casket, build it and march it from the street where Michael Smith Jr. was murdered to the police department where they had the authority to protect it. On the first run, the Mirror/Casket was accompanied by drum marches across the region and was exhibited throughout Missouri, including in the capitol. During the year that followed, it gained the attention of the Smithsonian Institution, which acquired it for its latest museum, the National Museum of African American History and Culture. In 2015, the Smithsonian's Architectural Record magazine wrote an article about it for Smithsonian magazine. Miss "The Art of Protest."

Eventually, the public awareness gained from the Mirror Casket project and other grantee artworks allowed me to meet, connect and work with dozens of artists to conceive and develop more creative, performances, videos and even apparel that address women's rights, LGBTQ+ issues, racial inequity, climate justice and education. Together we have used art to help grassroots groups and organizations lobby for policy changes and influence the ways in which our communities can thrive more equitably.

On the hot day of August 18th, 1791, a Frenchman named Nicolas-Louis Clément was in the kitchen of a Parisian hotel. He was making a special dessert for a guest. He had a recipe for a dessert called 'glace' which was a mixture of cream, sugar and fruit. He was using a hand-cranked machine to mix the ingredients. The machine was made of wood and had a large wheel on the side. He was turning the wheel and the mixture was being mixed. The machine was called an 'ice cream maker' and it was the first one of its kind. It was invented by Clément and it was used for many years. It was a simple machine but it did the job. ## Wheel

"The revolutionary design that makes the world go round"

17

Can you imagine a world without wheels? Apart from sledges and ships, there would be no vehicles - no carts, cabs, bikes, buses, trucks, trains, cars or aeroplanes. The first wheeled vehicles were animal-drawn carts with solid wooden wheels. They were invented in Mesopotamia (modern-day Iraq) around 3500 BCE. 300 years after the horizontal potter's wheel. These carts carried cargo to market and heavy loads, such as stone and timber for building projects. The horse-drawn chariot came next. In about 2500 BCE, chariot wheels were spoked rather than solid like a cartwheel, so they were faster and lighter. The wheel may be one of the simplest inventions, but without it our world would be completely different.

Potter's Wheel

The very first wheels were used to make pottery. The art of pottery began around 30,000 years ago. Originally, potters would shape clay into pots with their hands, but this took a long time. The Mesopotamians invented a better method in around 3500 BCE. The potter's wheel was a large stone disc balanced on a stick called an 'axle', which could be spun. By putting clay on the wheel and spinning it, the potter could shape the clay quickly into pots. We don't know for sure, but it seems likely that the potter's wheel led to the invention of the vehicle wheel.

Internet

"The world at your fingertips"

18

The invention of the Internet - a network of computers that 'speak' to each other - was a concentrated effort in the United States. The first computers were connected to each other in 1969, but scientists first began developing the Internet in the early 1950s during the Cold War (1947-1991), a time of heightened hostility between the USSR and the United States and when computers were the size of an entire room. The United States government wanted a communication system that couldn't be destroyed in a single attack, so they created ARPANET (Advanced Research Projects Agency Network): a series of linked computers across different locations, which allowed information to be relayed along telephone lines. The first message was sent in 1969. It was a single word: 'LOAN', but only the 'L' and the 'O' got through before the network crashed. By the end of the same year four computers were connected on the ARPANET. It took years to create the 'network protocol' that allows computers to transfer data and 'speak' to each other. From the 1970s this network grew into the global Internet, which now links billions of devices. Today, whatever you want - books, food, holidays, cars - with the Internet you simply click a button and wait for it to arrive. Social media sites allow people all over the world to communicate instantly. We can consume films, television shows, music and video games, and even do our banking online.

World Wide Web

The World Wide Web (WWW) is a gateway to the Internet. It's made up of search engines like Google and Safari, the Internet addresses (also called URLs) we type in, and the websites that appear on our screens. It was invented by a British computer scientist called Tim Berners-Lee in 1989 while working at CERN, a science research laboratory in Switzerland. The WWW made the Internet accessible to everyone, not just scientists and academics.

WHAT IS CLASSICAL MUSIC?

In what sense is classical music so "history" oriented? Look around at the thousand pages that Classical music encompasses in its various historical periods, places, eras and generations. It's a vast, complex, and sometimes confusing world. But there are some things that are true of that universe—whether you're brand new to it or a seasoned listener. Here are a few things to get you going in the first time—best advice you can get.

Global Music

Classical music was first globalized in the 19th century, when composers began to incorporate "exotic" influences from other cultures. "The music of the East," wrote Richard Wagner, "is the music of the future." And he was right, because it was. The music of the East, from the 19th century to the present, has been a major influence on the music of the West. In the 19th century, composers like Chopin, Liszt, and Wagner were inspired by the music of the East. In the 20th century, composers like Debussy, Ravel, and Stravinsky were inspired by the music of the East. And in the 21st century, composers like John Williams and Hans Zimmer are inspired by the music of the East.

Listening

As you will find through the ages, the music of the East is a very different kind of music. It is not the same as the music of the West. It is not the same as the music of the Middle East. It is not the same as the music of the Far East. It is a music that is unique and beautiful. It is a music that is worth listening to. It is a music that is worth knowing. It is a music that is worth loving.

A MUSICAL HISTORY

The history of Western classical music can be divided into different time periods, each of which were marked by unique styles and influences. Here's a quick timeline:

Early Music c. 500-1500

Early music, also known as medieval music, was the first style of Western classical music. It was characterized by simple, monophonic melodies and was often used in religious settings. The most famous example of early music is Gregorian chant, which was a single melodic line used in the Catholic Mass. During this time, the church was the primary patron of music, and many of the most important musical works were composed for liturgical purposes.

The Renaissance Era 1500-1600

The Renaissance was a period of great cultural and intellectual revival in Europe. In music, this led to a renewed interest in the music of ancient Greece and Rome. Composers began to experiment with new forms and styles, and the church was no longer the only patron of music. The secular world, including the aristocracy and the emerging middle class, became important patrons of music. This led to the development of new musical forms, such as the madrigal and the opera.

The Baroque Era 1600-1750

The Baroque era was a period of great artistic and intellectual achievement in Europe. In music, this led to the development of new forms and styles, including the opera, the concerto, and the symphony. Composers began to experiment with new forms and styles, and the church was no longer the only patron of music. The secular world, including the aristocracy and the emerging middle class, became important patrons of music. This led to the development of new musical forms, such as the madrigal and the opera.

The Classical Era 1750-1825

The Classical era was a period of great artistic and intellectual achievement in Europe. In music, this led to the development of new forms and styles, including the opera, the concerto, and the symphony. Composers began to experiment with new forms and styles, and the church was no longer the only patron of music. The secular world, including the aristocracy and the emerging middle class, became important patrons of music. This led to the development of new musical forms, such as the madrigal and the opera.

The Romantic Era 1825-1900

The Romantic era was a period of great artistic and intellectual achievement in Europe. In music, this led to the development of new forms and styles, including the opera, the concerto, and the symphony. Composers began to experiment with new forms and styles, and the church was no longer the only patron of music. The secular world, including the aristocracy and the emerging middle class, became important patrons of music. This led to the development of new musical forms, such as the madrigal and the opera.

The Twentieth Century 1900-2000

The Twentieth century was a period of great artistic and intellectual achievement in Europe. In music, this led to the development of new forms and styles, including the opera, the concerto, and the symphony. Composers began to experiment with new forms and styles, and the church was no longer the only patron of music. The secular world, including the aristocracy and the emerging middle class, became important patrons of music. This led to the development of new musical forms, such as the madrigal and the opera.

Contemporary 2000-Present

The Contemporary era is a period of great artistic and intellectual achievement in Europe. In music, this led to the development of new forms and styles, including the opera, the concerto, and the symphony. Composers began to experiment with new forms and styles, and the church was no longer the only patron of music. The secular world, including the aristocracy and the emerging middle class, became important patrons of music. This led to the development of new musical forms, such as the madrigal and the opera.

THE INGREDIENTS OF SOUND

What is music made of? As a composer, I have lots of different ingredients. I can include to make my musical dish. Music can be broken down – so let's tuck in, into parts that work together to make a piece whole – so let's tuck in and see what music is made of...

NOTES

Every individual sound you hear with a specific pitch is a "note". On a page of sheet music, these are represented by dots of different shapes. Western classical music is a tradition that is written down – notated – in contrast to something like jazz, which is based on improvisation (making up your own notes as you play).

C D E F G A B C

RYTHM

The sequence of long and short notes, and the patterns these make together, is called rhythm. When we clap or we tap our feet, this is a rhythm.

TEMPO

The speed of a piece. Often indicated by a single Italian word like allegro (fast), andante (at a walking pace) or adagio (slow).

PITCH

How high or low a note is. Music can be broken down into scales (notes next to each other that climb up or down). Nearly every note is associated with a letter from the alphabet: A, B, C, D, E, F and G represent specific pitches, and they occur in cycles, from lower to higher. Perfect pitch is the ability to hear a note and name the letter, without needing to play an instrument to check.

TEXTURE

The layers of a piece of music. Some pieces might spotlight a single instrument for a few moments: an exposed feature. Others might include a whole orchestra playing at the same time in an explosion of sound: a dense texture.

TIMBRE

The character and quality of sound created by an instrument. A single instrument can have a wide variety of sounds. For example, a horn played at the bottom of its range sounds like an angry growl, but high up it can sound angelic.

14

MELODY

The melody is the tune. As a piece unfolds, the original melody might be stretched or shortened, heard backwards or in a different rhythm, or played by another instrument.

RANGE

Instruments are categorised by how high or low they can play - a flute plays much higher notes than a bassoon (a bass instrument that plays much lower notes). Some instruments like the piano or violin have a very broad range with both high and low notes.

PHRASE

A sentence in music - it's made up of just a few musical notes.

Movement

A piece of music might be broken down into different movements, like the chapters of a novel. There are often three or four movements.

Listen to this!

Consider all of these areas of music to listen out for in a piece and ways of describing what you hear, every work can be broken down into these key areas. Ask yourself: is this moment showing a lick or a full texture? Is this harmony dissonant (clashing)? All these ingredients work together to make a piece distinct and emotive.

LINE

Sheet music is like a map of a piece, telling us who plays what and when; on the page, each instrument has its own line.

HARMONY

The sound made when multiple notes are played at the same time. These combinations of notes are called chords. These can be consonant (pleasant sounding, with the notes fitting together nicely) or dissonant (harsh sounding, where the notes clash).

DYNAMICS

Composers can specify changes in volume: this is called dynamics. Pieces often contrast a loud burst of notes with a quiet one. This creates a sense of contrast and dialogue.

pp p mp mf f ff

REGISTER

How high or low the music 'sits' for an instrument. If lots of the notes are very high, we'd call it a high 'register'.

The Incident at Camp UFO

"Y-you realise what's happening now right?!" puffed Pawan, struggling to keep up with the others. "A SUPERHERO ORIGIN STORY! Space rock falls from the sky, local kids find space rock, space rock makes them FLY or TURN STRETCHY or give them the power to make people EXPLODE or something!"

"Was it definitely a space rock?" asked Val. "Whatsit called? An asteroid. Maybe it was a satellite. Or a part of a PLANE! I heard once that an aeroplane's toilet chute opened and the stuff inside fell out of the sky, and because it's SO cold up there, it FROZE and hit a man and everyone knew that he'd been squashed by a massive frozen ball of POO!"

"Definitely not poo," said Frankie, who had made it to the shore first. The others arrived and stared out at the emanating water. "Poo doesn't glow."

"Woah" said Val, astutely.

"I guess we should report this to, uh, whoever you report asteroids to?" Frankie posited.

"Um, sorry, I think you mean meteorite," said Xinyi, apologetically. "Asteroids are when they are in space. When they fall they are a meteor, and when it lands it's a... meteorite..." Xinyi frowned. WHY did I have to say that for? Now they'll think I'm a COMPLETE dweeb...

Frankie turned to her and smiled. "Thanks, Xinyi. It's probably best we know exactly what it is when we tell—"

"Or," interrupted Val, "we DON'T tell anyone and fish it out ourselves!" The gang looked down at the glow once more.

Pawan nodded slowly. "Yeah. I mean, do you KNOW how much meteorites go for online?" He said, biting his lip. "Like, mucho gold coins. Plus, still hoping for superpowers here..."

"Yeah! Come on Frank-le-plank," beamed Val. "I wanna make people explode!"

Frankie sighed. She saw what this was. Just because she was older – just because she wasn't suggesting stupid things like FISHING FOR (potentially) MAGIC SPACE ROCKS – they were making her be the mum. The sensible one. The leader. Frankie took a deep breath. Not today. Not this entire summer, actually. She had decided in the car that this summer, she wasn't going to be in charge of ANYTHING. Especially not Val.

"Yeah, okay. Let's get the meteorite out of the lake," the new, relaxed go-with-the-flow Frankie replied. "So... how are we going to do that?"

How COULD the gang fish the meteorite out the lake? When you think you've got it, turn to the next page - or check the answer at the back!

Hint: Try skipping back a few pages and see if there's any helpful lake-related gear!

INTRODUCTION

Plumbers have dreamed about flying for thousands of years. It's not hard to imagine our primitive ancestors, who possessed the artistic skills to create beautiful cave paintings of the world around them – the landscapes, animals and each other – staring into the skies with both heads and wings outstretched and thinking to themselves: "There does it beat to fly? And what does the world look like from up there?" You're probably had a similar daydream yourself: visualizing your house from above, then looking towards the sun, feeling the wind flow over your wings, and soaring towards the horizon and the unknown world beyond.

The first true science capable of lifting people to relative safety and carrying them for descent distances were hot air balloons. The first was launched to great fortune in France in 1783. Suddenly it was possible for people to take to the skies, and it indicated a Priority of public interest in the notion of flight. Many more designs followed. Tailored balloons were immediately put to use by armies to spy on enemy movements from afar. Hot balloons are actively at the mercy of the wind, and pilots have to control over their direction of travel.

They changed one fairly big jet in W01, when the first powered flight of the new engine called the Flyer was made. It only lasted for 10 seconds, but it was enough to change the world. From that moment on, the development of the engine has never stopped. This constant advancement is aviation technology, funded with as much money, energy, materials and technical expertise, is carried out because airplanes are so useful. They transport people and cargo faster than any other vehicle. They are a vital part of military campaigns. They help us map, explore and learn about our world. They entertain us with amazing displays of speed and maneuverability. They connect us to all corners of the globe in a matter of a few hours.

Don your aviation goggles and prepare for a breath-taking journey through the clouds.

- AMAZING AIRCRAFT -
WRIGHT FLYER

On December 17th, 1903, Wilbur and Orville Wright changed the world forever. For years, these mechanically-minded American brothers had shared a vision of creating a machine that could fly further and more reliably than a glider, and, unlike a hot air balloon, wasn't forced to fly in a particular direction by the wind. In short: the first flying vehicle that the pilot had complete control over. After years of planning and countless experiments, their vision became a history-making reality in the sandy dunes of Outer Banks, North Carolina, USA.

Charlie Wright lay on his stomach, gripping the Ryan's control stick. Two propellers whirled on either side of him. These were connected by bicycle chains to a lightweight patrol engine designed specially by the Wright brothers' mechanic friend Charlie Taylor: the engine had no throttle control; it was either 'on' or

With the air on alongside as the F4U trundled down a wooden launch rail, took off and flew close to the ground for 12 seconds. Three more flights occurred that day, the last being the longest at 59 seconds and 260m. Unfortunately, the F4U was damaged on landing and never flew again.

But this was only the beginning. News of the Wright brothers' incredible achievement spread, and soon other inventors were building on their ideas to create even more amazingly complex planes. The first circumnavigation around the world was completed in four Douglas World Cruiser airplanes only 21 years later. By the 1930s, jet aircraft were roaring through the air. Today, we see aircraft in defined categories: ferry cargo, ferry out the mining-machine operations, and explore and haul the world - minutes of flight all attributed by the Wright brothers.

WOOD, CANVAS AND STRING

The airplane was only a year or two away from being used more often in combat when the First World War broke out in 1914. But over the course of the next five years, both sides realized just how useful these flying machines could be. Airplane technology advanced rapidly as each side strove to gain an superiority.

Most aircraft were unarmed at the start of the war. Pilots had to rely on machine guns mounted in the wings or fuselage. The first aircraft to have a forward-firing machine gun was the Sopwith Pup, which was used by the Royal Naval Air Service in 1917. The Pup was a biplane with a single engine and a single propeller. It was armed with a Vickers machine gun mounted in the fuselage, which was operated by the pilot. The Pup was used in a variety of roles, including reconnaissance, training, and combat. It was one of the most successful aircraft of the war, and it played a key role in the development of the modern fighter aircraft.

As the war progressed, both sides developed aircraft that were more manoeuvrable, could fly and gun at altitude faster, and take more damage. As technology improved, combat aircraft could be put to more uses. As well as a fighter, the British Sigbee Camel was also used as a 'low-land' 'branch' similar to attacking targets on the ground with bombs and machine guns.

The best targets occur when the Mustangs fly in a loose echelon, says page 27, but lumber away than fighters. Explains drop its fuselage and machine guns.

The pilots who died over sea-born Europe needed calm racing and skill. However, many had very little training, and the expectancy was short. Pilots who died down more than five aircraft were called 'aces'. The Fokker D-7 fighter was flown by German ace Manfred von Richthofen - also known as the Red Baron.

INTRODUCTION

Imagine a world where all around us are people with bionic limbs, machines attached to their heads and cameras for eyes. This same world has cyborgs who can hear colours and communicate via their teeth, and even people who use robotic skeletons to walk elsewhere. In this world, children have no fear with external ears, and people have without legs can walk using ones made of metal and carbon fibre. Some people use chips inside their bodies to get into their offices, or to pay for their coffees on their way into work. This world is full of incredible people who are using technology to do amazing things. But the most amazing part of all is that this world is the one we already live in. Technology has changed all of our lives, and not just with the smartphones or tablets that we use. For many people, particularly those with disabilities, recent technological advances have created the means of the greatly imaginable, and reached places of possibility. We don't realise it all the time, but bionic technology exists, and it's right in front of our noses. Far from a scene from a science fiction film, the future is far away from here. This book explores the world we live in today that science, biology, brain science, bionics (see pages 32-33) and neural implants (pages 40-41), and includes some of the most remarkable that get us there. We will also look forward at the exciting frontiers that lie ahead: the current, as well as what they mean for us as a species. Our journey to the future has already begun, and it is time to get to know Human 2.0.

THE FIRST PROSTHESES

For as long as humans have been around, we have been losing limbs, or are born without them. Whether due to an injury or congenital impairment (a condition that is present from birth), people have been trying to replace missing arms, legs, fingers and toes for thousands of years. Early prostheses were rudimentary for their time, yet their inventors did not have the technology needed to provide better functionality and comfort. Even so, some of these early prostheses closely resemble those that exist today.

The earliest known example of a prosthesis (an artificial body part) belonged to an Egyptian mummyman over 2,000 years ago. This wooden prosthesis replaced the leg on his right foot, and even had a ridge in the shape of a nail carved into it to make it appear more realistic. It would have been strapped onto his leg with string, and scientists believe that it would have greatly altered his balance.

Count Götz von Berlichingen Perhaps the most famous example of an early prosthesis is that belonging to the German knight, Count Götz von Berlichingen, who lost his hand during battle in the early 1500s. Count Götz asked local craftsmen to make an iron hand with digits, fingers and thumb that could lock into place, so he could hold a horse's reins or a weapon. This basic but effective arm is so famous that some people believe it inspired the phrase, 'to ride with an iron fist'.

WHAT IS BIONIC?

Bionics refers to the transfer of technology between artificial objects and living organisms. The word 'bionics' comes from a combination of the Greek words for 'bio' (life) and 'nics' (technology). It was coined by American engineer and MIT professor Jack E. Steele in the 1960s. Bionics is the science of understanding how nature's designs can be used to create technology. The transfer of ideas from biology to technology is called 'biomimicry'. Bionics is a multidisciplinary field that involves a combination of biology, engineering, and technology. It is a field of research that is growing rapidly, and it is expected to have a major impact on the future of technology. ## BIONIC LIMBS AND IMPLANTABLE DEVICES

A prosthesis can be internal or external to the body. The ways in which people can replace parts of their body can largely be broken down into two groups: bionic limbs and implantable devices.

'Implantable devices' is a broad term describing anything that is surgically implanted inside the body. Because surgery is required to gain access, these devices cannot easily be removed, and are typically designed to stay inside the body forever. Examples of these include pacemakers and cochlear implants.

Bionic limbs are artificial body parts, which are intended to replace the function of a human body part, such as an arm or a leg. These are attached to the body, usually via a belt, strap or socket, and can be easily taken on and off by their wearer.

If either a bionic limb or an implant has batteries that need to be charged, they are called 'active'. Those that do not are called 'passive'. Some implants, such as cochlear implants, need batteries. These sit outside the body and attach to the implant via a wire, so the user does not need surgery every time the battery runs out (see pages 28-29).

RICH AND POOR

THE HISTORY OF WEALTH

Wealth is the difference in wealth between the richest and the poorest. It has been around since the first humans lived. In the early days, wealth was measured in terms of land and livestock. As time went on, it became more complex, including money, art, and technology. Today, wealth is often measured in terms of money and property.

WEALTH CONCENTRATION

One of the biggest reasons for inequality is the way that wealth tends to get concentrated in the hands of a few. This is often due to the fact that wealthy people have more resources and can invest their money more effectively than the poor. This leads to a cycle where the rich get richer and the poor get poorer.

CAUSES OF INEQUALITY

There are many reasons for wealth inequality. Some people have more resources than others, while others have more opportunities. Some people are born into wealth, while others have to work hard to earn it. Some people are lucky, while others are unlucky. All of these factors can contribute to wealth inequality.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH WEALTH INEQUALITY?

When a small number of people own most of the wealth in a country, it can lead to a number of problems. For example, the rich can use their money to influence politics and the economy, while the poor have less say. This can lead to a society where the interests of the poor are not protected.

GOLDEN YEARS

AN INTERNATIONAL SYSTEM

In the 1920s, the gold standard was formally adopted by many countries. This meant that the value of a country's currency was linked to the amount of gold it held. This system was supposed to ensure that currencies were stable and that trade between countries was easy.

THE COST OF WAR

After World War I, the international system was in a state of flux. Many countries were bankrupt, and the gold standard was under pressure. The war had caused a massive loss of wealth and had disrupted the global economy.

THE NEW ORDER

In the 1930s, the gold standard was abandoned by many countries. This was done to allow governments to print more money and to stimulate the economy. However, this led to a period of high inflation and economic instability.

FROM COUNTERFEIT COINS TO FALSE NOTES

ALVES dos REIS: MASTER COUNTERFEITER

Alves dos Reis was a Portuguese immigrant who became a master counterfeiter. He was known for his ability to create fake banknotes that were indistinguishable from the real ones. He was eventually caught and sentenced to prison.

FIRST COUNTERFEITS

The first counterfeit coins were made in ancient times. They were often made of a different metal than the real coins, but they looked the same. This was done to trick people into accepting them as real money.

THE FIRST BANKNOTES

The first banknotes were made in the 17th century. They were made of paper and were designed to look like gold or silver coins. They were used to make transactions easier and to avoid the need to carry large amounts of metal money.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

At regular markets people buy and sell things like food and clothing. At financial markets, people trade money-related assets. These include stocks and bonds. Stocks are shares in a company that the company sells to raise capital. Shareholders are paid dividends (regular sums paid out of the company's profits). Bonds are certificates issued by a government or corporation, promising to repay borrowed money at a fixed rate of interest. Financial markets can be physical places, like the New York Stock Exchange, or they can take place online.

THE FIRST BONDS

In the twelfth century, the government of Venice came up with a new way of raising money to fight a war. It offered its citizens certificates, known as prestiti, in exchange for a loan, promising to pay them back by a certain time, plus 5 per cent interest. These were the first government bonds. Before long they became a popular investment, and a market developed for the buying and selling of prestiti.

THE FIRST STOCKS

Founded in 1602, the Dutch East India Company was the first company to sell shares to the public. The money it raised from this funded its voyages to the East Indies, and it paid its shareholders out of the profits from its trade in enslaved people and spices. The shares were traded in the Amsterdam Stock Exchange, also established that year.

THE DAILY NEWS

OCTOBER 1929 NEW YORK CITY

THE WALL STREET CRASH

FINANCIAL MARKETS CAN BE VOLATILE. A RUMOUR OR A MINOR PIECE OF ECONOMIC NEWS CAN CAUSE BIG SWINGS IN PRICES. THE DESIRE TO MAKE MONEY OR AVOID LOSING IT IS A POWERFUL ONE, AND A HERD INSTINCT CAN SOMETIMES TAKE OVER WITH PEOPLE STAMPEDING TO BUY OR SELL. THE MOST SPECTACULAR EXAMPLE OF THIS WAS THE WALL STREET CRASH OF 1929.

THE ROARING TWENTIES

The 1920s was boom time in the United States. There was a spirit of optimism in the country and it became fashionable to play the stock market. Share prices soon rocketed to a point where they represented a value far greater than the total worth of their companies' assets. This was now a mania – a period when everyone, from wealthy financiers to common investors, lost touch with reality and seemed to believe that prices could keep rising forever.

AFTER EFFECTS

As a result of the crash, businesses were bankrupted, banks closed, millions lost their jobs and the world plunged into a deep and lasting economic depression. This had a big political impact. In Europe, extreme right-wing parties exploited the misery of mass unemployment, blaming 'foreigners' such as Jews. Germany's Nazi Party rose to power in 1933. The consequences for the world would be devastating.

DISASTER

The crash occurred at the end of October 1929, during three calamitous days of trading at the New York Stock Exchange on Wall Street, when huge numbers of people decided collectively it was time to sell. With so many sellers, there were few buyers, and share prices plummeted. In those three days, billions of dollars were wiped off the value of American companies. And over the following years the market kept on falling. By 1932, stocks had lost nearly 90 per cent of their pre-crash value.

Japanese Chin

In Japan, the Chin was regarded not as a dog (inu) but as a separate being (shishi), bred to have a higher status among dogs and ideal for noble companionship. Modern Chinese make charming pets as they are loving and playful, and are one of the most out-like breeds. They like to climb, and often climb their face with their paws. Looking at their lovely, long fluffy coat, you might think this pretty little creature needs lots of brushing. Not so – the Chin is a 'wash and go' kind of dog, only needing a weekly tidy up.

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 20-25cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Akita

A strong and sturdy dog, the Akita was awarded Japanese royalty. It is a fiercely loyal, not for much an imposing breed, very loving. One Akita famously waited for his owner at the train station every day for nine years after he had died. One thing that can be startling is its habit of holding things in its mouth, including your wrist! It isn't going to bite you, it simply wants to take you to where it wants you to go – often to its bed to go for a walk or to its bed because it wants feeding. The Akita doesn't often bark but it does make a lot of noise when those owners say their dog matters under its breath!

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 50-60cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Shiba Inu

The smallest of six dog breeds native to Japan, the Shiba Inu greets the world with quiet dignity. It's like a little stoic warrior, moving quickly and nimbly. The Japanese have three words to describe this breed, none it required boldness, elegant (good nature) and noble (adornment). It also tends to be passionate – like a sturdy toddler, the Shiba Inu doesn't like to share and if it could speak, its first word would be 'mine'. It's also a natural hunter, so if you let it off the lead while out on a walk, it will probably disappear in the direction of the nearest squirrel.

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 35-40cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Pharaoh Hound

This elegant breed was developed to hunt gazelle with pharaohs in ancient Egypt, more than 4,000 years ago. Despite its noble past, the Pharaoh loves people and simply loves life. It's a natural clown – you can even teach a Pharaoh to smile! And it's possibly the only breed that can blink – when it's happy or excited, its nose and ears will turn a deeper shade of pink. But as a hunting breed, it has a strong prey drive and is likely to chase anything it sees, so keep it on the lead at all times.

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 50-60cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Shar-Pei

This strange-looking breed looks like it needs ironing! These deep wrinkles serve a purpose, though. The Shar-Pei breed name translates as 'sand skin' – was sometimes called the 'Chinese lightning dog' and any attacker would have a tough job biting through those loose, thick folds and tough skin. They were once known as 'lion dogs' – an obvious nod to their lion-like appearance. They were used as 'lion dogs' – an obvious nod to their lion-like appearance. They were used as 'lion dogs' – an obvious nod to their lion-like appearance.

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 50-60cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Greyhound

This sleek and elegant creature is known as the Ferrari of the dog world. And this is no idle boast: the Greyhound can run at speeds of more than 70 kilometres per hour. Greyhounds were bred for Chaperos as well as Britain's great monarch, Elizabeth I. Their love of this breed led to greyhound racing being dubbed the 'Sport of Queens'. From that title, you might think the breed needs masses of exercise, but the Greyhound is surprisingly laid-back. It is a sprinter, not a long-distance runner, so a daily walk is enough. It is, however, most plenty of belly rubs!

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 50-60cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

Saluki

Alaskan Malamute

Prized by the travelling people of the Middle East, this exotic breed is thought to take its name from the Arabian city of Saluk. To the sheikhs, it was a noble dog indeed and they kept precise records of breeding and hunting prowess. They hunted hare, fox and gazelle from horseback, so their hounds had to be fleet of foot. There were once two different types of Saluki – desert and mountain – but the two have merged into the modern breed. It has, however, retained its beauty and some of its speed, so be prepared to do a lot of jogging...

Life Expectancy 12-14 Years | Height 58-71cm | Trainability Intelligent but opinionated | Grooming Weekly brushing | Exercise Daily run | Most likely to say Mike sure you get my best side | Least likely to say I'll sleep on the floor

This impressive breed is one of the oldest in the world and has changed very little, still resembling its wolf ancestors. It was used by the Mahlemut people to pull sleds and hunt seals. It is a strong and imposing animal, but it isn't much use as a watchdog – Malamutes regard everyone they meet as friends. They rarely bark, but make a charming 'woo-woo' noise. They're intelligent too, which means they can easily get bored... and a bored Malamute is trouble in waiting. They love to dig holes in the garden, or sniff across the kitchen counters for something tasty, so keep them busy!

Life Expectancy 12-15 Years | Height 53-64cm | Trainability Easy, but can get bored | Grooming Needed every day | Exercise None! This is an energetic breed | Most likely to say This looks like a good spot to dig! | Least likely to say (to anyone) You shall not pass

The Wild Verses

Safely In Numbers

Why meet trouble halfway when you can run
to greet it, offer it
the best part of the day?
Watch them surge towards their problems:
this band of rebels tackling life head-on moving, always moving as one.

The Bull

Today, you want to stomp outside and face
the day bull-strong.
Stand firm and uncertainties
cannot make you stop.
Stay proud. Zip up
your audaciousness right to the top.

The Painter

If I could paint the world
I'd choose endearment, which is yellow:
blossoms for the sun-drenched vine,
bee-colours for getting things done,
lemons for sharpness, pure gold for every star that shines in darkness.

Unfurl

Sometimes you want to hide your crimson, teal and green.
Sometimes you fold.

It's time to catch the light. Be bold.
You open the fan of yourself and you brim with gold.

Old Bear Five-Minute Stories

THE toys collected wooden blocks and piled them one on top of another.

The tower grew taller and taller.

Little Bear was right at the top when the tower began to wobble.

"Look out!" he cried. "I'm coming down!"

CRASH!

The tower collapsed, all over the floor.

"I don't think you meant to come down that fast!" said Bearewell Brown.

"LET'S make ourselves into a tower," suggested Duck.

"We won't be as wobbly as bricks," Little Bear held on to Rabbit's ears and Rabbit hopped onto Duck's head. Duck stood on tiptoes and stretched up as far as he could.

Then he wobbled . . .

And Rabbit toppled . . .

And they all tumbled . . .

Right on top of Bearewell Brown.

"Sorry," said Duck. "Perhaps that wasn't such a good idea."

"Not one of your best," replied Bearewell.
