YOUR SAFE PLACE

Draw or stick a picture of somewhere you feel completely safe and happy.

Your safe place could be somewhere you've seen or been to, heard about, read about or dreamt about. A special, safe place where everything feels peaceful, relaxed and wonderful.

TAKE A BREATH!

Try this breathing exercise to help you relax:

STEP 1

Make sure you are sitting comfortably in a quiet and safe place. When you feel ready, close your eyes. Notice your breathing. Think about how it feels breathing in and breathing out. Try to breathe in through your nose and out through your mouth.

STEP 2

Place your hand on your tummy and focus on the feeling of your stomach rising and falling with each breath. When you breathe in, quietly say 'in' to yourself, and when you breathe out, quietly say 'out' to yourself.

STEP 3

Concentrate on nothing but your breathing and try to let go of any other thoughts you may have.

When you've had lots of practice at the breathing exercise, see if you can think about a happy memory at the same time. This way, your happy memory will take up all the space in your brain, and there won't be any room for the worries.

How To Draw Christmas

Drawing materials

Try using different types of drawing paper and materials. Experiment with charcoal, wax crayons and pastels. All pens, from felt-tips to ballpoints, will make interesting marks – or try drawing with pen and ink on wet paper.

Pencil drawings can include a vast amount of detail and tone. Try experimenting with different grades of pencil to get a range of light and shade effects in your drawing.

Lines down in ink cannot be erased, so keep your ink drawings clearly and legibly. Don't worry about mistakes as these lines can be lost in the drawing as it develops.

Adding light and dark to a drawing with an ink pen can be tricky. Use solid ink for the very darkest areas and cross-hatching for ordinary dark tones. Use hatching for midtones, and leave the white of the paper for the lightest areas.

Converging: is the use of straight lines that draw eyes each other.

Flanking: is when short parallel lines are used to create form.

Throatlatch

line widths. The wider parts are good for filling in large areas of flat terrain.

Christmas alphabet

It is fun to create your own hand-drawn lettering. Here is an example of how to design a jolly Christmas-themed alphabet. Use it for cards, invitations and posters, or use it to spell out someone's name to personalise special gifts.

NP

Use construction lines to accurately proportion our letters in your alphabet.

You can create a wide variety of different Christmas themes, such as a gift-wrapped letter or a snow-capped brick letter, as shown in these two examples of the letter T:

Santa Claus' sleigh

The modern idea of Santa's sleigh and the names of his reindeer, comes from the poem The Night Before Christmas. It was originally published anonymously in 1823 in the New York Sentinel. Rudolph was not invented until 1939, when he featured in a booklet that was sold at Montgomery Ward department stores.

Draw in the windowed wing tips.

Now add wheel and axle, and engine bell and chimney.

Add the back of second.

Now draw in back of third with an eye for the front.

Add the passenger and engine driver.

The drawing is made of locomotives and train. Add a locomotive to the back of an engine car.

Draw connected locomotives.

Perspective

If you look at anything from different viewpoints, you will see that the part that is closest to you looks larger, and the part furthest away from you looks smaller. Drawing in perspective is a way of creating a feeling of space - of showing three dimensions on a flat surface.

The vanishing point (VP) is the place in a perspective drawing where parallel lines appear to meet. The position of the vanishing point depends on the viewer's eye level.

Two-point perspective uses two vanishing points: one for lines running along the length of the subject, and one on the opposite side for lines running across the width of the subject.

The head

The head is a difficult shape to draw. It includes some of the most expressive features of the body. Using construction lines helps to place the eyes, nose, ears and mouth accurately on the head.

Upside up the paper can help you to decide the position of the facial features.

When drawing the head for different angles, construction lines help to find the features in the correct positions.

The feet

Feet come in all shapes and sizes and can be drawn in many different poses. The construction lines for a simple shoe usually start with a triangle shape, then the toes are added and the ankle is positioned.

A simple triangular shaped outline of the foot.

Using three construction lines as a guide, draw in the correct width.

The curved construction lines help you to define the features.

Add detail and eye color features such as hair.

Complete any details and remove unwanted construction lines.

The base of the foot is a simple, horizontal shape. Indicate the toe and the ball of the foot.

Balance and motion

Motion and balance are important aspects to consider in your drawing. Use basic construction lines to create a variety of poses. Then build up the drawing from there.

A baller's dance is a perfect example to show balance in the human body.

Draw the basic structure of the figure in simple lines, then building up the shape of the figure.

When the basic structure of the figure is complete, then building up the shape of the figure.

Keep the drawing simple. Light lines can be used to show the proportions of the figure.

Use light lines to add tone and find the shape of the drawing. Use dark lines to create the final shape and motion.

Use light lines to add tone and find the shape of the drawing. Use dark lines to create the final shape and motion.

A simple walking movement is a good starting point for drawing a figure in motion. In this case, the figure is viewed from the side, so remember to consider which parts of the body will be seen.
