CHAPTER II Stars and Planets

From the our Sun, we have millions of billions of stars and planets in the galaxy and beyond. This book explores the science of the stars and planets, and how they are formed. It also includes a section on the solar system, and how it is different from other planetary systems.

THE SOLAR SYSTEM The solar system consists of the Sun, eight planets, and many smaller objects. The planets are Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, and Neptune. The Sun is a yellow dwarf star, and is the center of the solar system.

THE LIFE OF A STAR Stars are born in clouds of gas and dust. They spend most of their lives as main sequence stars, and then die. Some stars become red giants, and some become black holes.

LOGIC TEST #1

CHAPTER III Alien Biology and Physiology

There are many different types of alien life forms, and each has its own unique biology and physiology. This chapter explores the science of alien life, and how it is different from Earth life.

ALIEN ANATOMY Alien anatomy is often very different from Earth anatomy. Some aliens have multiple heads, or multiple arms. Some have gills, or other respiratory organs.

REPRODUCTION OF ALIENS Alien reproduction is often very different from Earth reproduction. Some aliens lay eggs, and some give birth to live young.

LOGIC TEST #2

CHAPTER IV Humanoid Aliens

Humanoid aliens are the most common type of alien life form. They have a similar body structure to humans, but with some differences. This chapter explores the science of humanoid aliens, and how they are different from humans.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION Humanoid aliens are often taller than humans, and have a similar body structure. They have a similar brain structure, and are often very intelligent.

EARTH HABITATS Humanoid aliens often live on planets that are similar to Earth. They often have a similar atmosphere, and a similar climate.

LOGIC TEST #3

CHAPTER V Technological Aliens

Many species use technology to improve their physical or mental abilities. The Cyberbrains long to extend their lifespans. To this end, they have replaced their body parts with durable mechanical components. They substituted their skulls for protective helmets made from a super-strong material called siliconium, which they believed would never break. However, a freak change in the atmosphere on their volcanic planet increased the temperature. Unfortunately, the Cyberbrains discovered that this caused some helmets to shatter - leaving many vulnerable brains exposed.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION: Repton clones in appearance, with forked tongues, body on ball, and 3rd eye pupil.

EARTH HABITATS: Wandering human body parts, Reptons have been known to infiltrate positions of power in various large corporations on Earth. They need warmth to survive, so they are most likely to be seen in the summer in large cities. They occasionally conceal themselves in swamps in subtropical zones.

MISSION: Long term, to conquer the Galaxy. Short-term, to infect the next planet.

NOTES: Five Repton clones are attached to each attack ship. A mother ship is home to two hundred Repton clones. The technology of the Reptons is advanced but no longer working, since becoming clones, they've lost the capacity for original ideas.

DENEBIAN CYBORGS

Although they look like machines, Denebian Cyborgs are living organisms encased in mechanical shells that give them super-strength. They are not very intelligent and have never mastered the art of remodeling. When their ancestors destroyed the wildlife on their home planet, Denebian, through over-exploitation, they were forced to offer their services to other species in exchange for a new home on foreign planets.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION: There are many different varieties of Denebian Cyborg, but they all have mechanical exo-skeletons.

EARTH HABITATS: Look for these aliens in areas where machinery abounds - on crops, factories or power plants. They digress themselves as machines to grow weapons.

MISSION: To feed homes on other planets.

NOTES: They often work for the Group, but they will save any race that will leave them, including the Tardians, Traders and Proboscians.

The surface of a Cyberbrain's brain helmet with a rainbow of colors, making its thoughts visible to those who know how to read them. With a transparent helmet in place of a skull, a Cyberbrain finds it difficult to keep its alien neural functions in times of war.

TAU WARRIORS

Enemies of the Cyberbrains for many years, the Tau live in caves ruled over by the Red Queens. They are perfectly adapted to life in an unforgiving volcanic environment.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION: The Tau Warriors have long, bumpy, like megaliths.

EARTH HABITATS: Although rarely found on Earth, they occasionally appear near active volcanoes. If you look down into a crater, you may be able to spot their crafts, Tau Drones. They are 3rd-ranked in magnitude.

MISSION: To destroy all Cyberbrains.

NOTES: The Tau are technologically advanced. Their lives, created in volcanic magma tunnels, are packed with geodesics, and their heart-generating units for use in cold habitats are terrific feats of engineering.

CYBERBRAINS

Though the Cyberbrains' volcanic home is no longer suitable for habitation, they wage war against the Tau Warriors in the hope of ultimately conquering the Tau's planet, Volcanox, which has a similar volcanic environment.

EARTH HABITATS: Cyberbrains hang out in laboratories or research stations on Earth, looking for technology to extend their lives and help them in their war against the Tau Warriors. They try to ensure they are not seen by humans.

MISSION: Long-term, to spread their empire and ultimately cause death. Short term, to conquer Volcanox.

NOTES: They communicate by reading the color patterns on one another's bodies, as well as by setting and receiving microwaves.

THE TERRIBLE RED QUEENS

NATIONAL GUARD HERO KILLED BY ALIENS!
On 7 January of this year, our hero and Kentucky Air National Guard pilot Thomas Mannell was added to the P-51 Mustang to check out a UFO reported near Fort Le. He set off, but soon afterwards his plane crashed. Project Sign, the government's UFO study group, has just terminated its investigations of that crash, but individual investigations have not been reached.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION: The alien is a small, brown, insect-like creature. It has a long, thin body, and a large head. It is very intelligent, and is capable of using tools.

EARTH HABITATS: The alien is found in the mountains of the Rocky Mountains. It is very common in the area, and is often seen in the mountains.

MISSION: To spread its empire and ultimately cause death. Short term, to conquer Volcanox.

NOTES: They communicate by reading the color patterns on one another's bodies, as well as by setting and receiving microwaves.

LOGIC TEST #7:
At the international reception, a receipt with a picture of the alien was given to the staff of the reception.

Blue alien: The brown alien spread off brown alien. It was the gray alien.

Gray alien: I added to it, he had.

Gray alien: The brown alien is lying.

Of course, only one alien possible is telling the truth. Which one did the speaker?
